WALL ST. CLOSE

WARRANTS OUT FOR 8 HOMESTEAD POLITICIANS AS BALLOT CHEATERS

Today

No Donations Wanted.
Lady With High Strikes.
Where Is the Leader?
Much About Wall St.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

RECENTLY in New York City, perhaps elsewhere, somebody has called up conspicuous citizens, saying: "This is Mr. Brisbane," adding appeals for contributions to alleged charities.

Those thus called include Mr. Taylor, chairman of United States Steel Company; Mr. Woolley, head of the American Radiator Company, and a number of others, including Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors.

THIS is to notify any citizens thus bothered that this writer does not solicit contributions to charity or anything else.

THERE is one fortunate thing in all the Wall Street moaning. Working men and women are not affected. They take in sixty billion dollars a year in pay, live on forty billions and have twenty billions to spend every year for automobiles, vacuum cleaners, radio sets, talking machines, etc.

SOME, unfortunately, have lost their all, many after working hard for it all their lives. But great earning power of the country is not affected, and consequently the really great SPENDING power is untouched.

THE bears were happy in Wall Street yesterday, and no wonder. Those that bought foolishly are selling even more foolishly, sacrificing valuable properties for much less than the present values in many instances.

The worst of it, from the point of view of common sense, is the fact that Wall street apparently is without leadership.

Vicious and entirely unfounded rumors are industriously circulated by those seeking to injure values, and repeated by fools to their own injury.

WHAT could be done by real leadership in Wall Street is difficult to say. The Federal Reserve might cut the discount rate again, which it easily could do to show that we have plenty of money. But everybody knows that.

GREAT industrialists could get together and use for buying their own stocks some of the money that they have been lending plentifully at 8 to 20 per cent on call loans.

The probability is, however, that the market today is like a lady having "high strikes," rattling her heels on the floor and saying "I want to die, I want to die."

The less you say to her the sooner she gets over it. Unfortunately, she never dies.

Wall street will get over this, and the fools that bought without knowing why, and sold without knowing why, will turn around, after the wise men have put prices up, and buy again, when the bargains are gone.

ONE rumor in Wall Street—which may be true or not, and it cannot do any harm, reports that Mr. Rockefeller yesterday put in an order to buy 1,000,000 shares of one of the Standard Oil stocks at $50 a share or better. It is said he got only 1,200 shares instead of 1,000,000.

THIS writer happened to see John D. Rockefeller, Jr., yesterday morning, coming on the train from Lakewood, N. J., where he had been to see his father. Mr. Rockefeller didn't say anything about buying 1,000,000 shares of Standard Oil stocks. In fact he didn't seem interested in the stock market at all. He said, "I took an article of yours out to read to my father."

THE head of one of the biggest American industries complained yesterday of bankers. Said he: "The greatest banker is he that can run the fastest, when trouble comes."

HOWEVER, it should be remembered that bankers have not escaped in the cracking of stock values.

The choicest bank stocks have dropped from $200 to $4,000 a share, since the dropping began.

They will come back and go higher undoubtedly, but it is painful even to lose paper profits.

NOT long ago Wall Street's trouble was foolish overconfidence.

Today the trouble is foolish fear.

Those that did not know why prices went up, don't know, now, why they go down.

They go down for a very simple reason, EVERYBODY TRYING TO SELL AT ONCE.

TWENTY-FIVE MILLION automobiles are running in America. If every owner tried to sell his automobile at the same time, you could buy fine cars for $10 apiece, and less.

Those that gambled and have got to sell MUST sell. That's all of that.

Those that have bought good securities and sell them now from foolish fear, will regret it.

Many stocks, selling far below their intrinsic values, will be anywhere from $10 to $100 a share higher when this fear passes.

SENATOR BORAH, who carries the farmer in his arms lovingly, like the father of the child in the "Erlking," will find that you can't separate farmers and stocks. Wheat, cotton, corn drop in spite of loving care and the $100,000,000 government fund. That reflects the drop in stocks.

SENATOR BORAH suggests that Congress should "investigate the exchanges and give the people the real facts."

If the Senator would do that and give Wall Street the real facts, the exchange would be much obliged

KILLED IN LEAP FROM BRIDGE

A man of 50 years or more jumped to his death from the Wilmot Street Bridge in Schenley Park late today.

Police said the man was John A. McElhinny, employed in the Fifth Aveneu Arcade. He left a farewell note.

Several pedestrians saw the man climb over the rail and plunge 150 feet to the brush below. He was dead in a few minutes.

He was the third person this year to die by leaping over the bridge. A fourth person, a 15-year-old girl, was found unconscious in the ravine last May, but she recovered from her injuries.

Reporter Immunity Bill Given Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Newspapermen in Washington would be exempted from disclosing the source of confidential information before any court or committee of Congress under a bill introduced today by Senator Capper (Rep.), Kansas.

The Senator, himself a newspaperman and publisher, presented the measure as chairman of the District of Columbia committee. Three reporters of the Washington Times now are serving 45-day jail sentences for contempt of court because they declined to give the names of those from whom they purchased liquor.

Willock, Viking Girl Married for Love

Quiet, unassuming, simply-clad and with the simplest of tastes, young William W. Willock, Jr., possessor of a fortune of $7,000,000 held in trust for him, justifies in his own words his marriage to his mother's second chambermaid.

The young man, who asserts that he is "merely a mechanic," gives a most poignant reason for his romance with the lovely blonde Viking girl, Adelaide Ingebretsen.

Willock's mother is the former Alice Jones, daughter of B. F. Jones, the Pittsburgh steel magnate. Willock, Sr., is a former vice president of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—I married my mother's chambermaid because I love her. She was only a chambermaid. But I'm only a mechanic, so what's the difference? It's purely accidental that my father is W. W. Willock, Sr., and my mother heiress of the Jones steel fortune.

I'm just a plain mechanic, and that's all I ever shall be. Therefore, this marriage should not strike anyone as sensational.

When you read this I shall be doing the thing I have always wanted most to do—gypsying South with my bride on a camping honeymoon, without fine clothes, servants or destination.

Just Two Happy Hoboes

If you've never had a surplus of money you think you need it and wonder at my attitude. But I who have always had it know better than all the philosophers in the world that you not only don't need it, but that you don't use it when you have it.

For me there are only two important interests in life—love and mechanics. And neither of these demands much capital.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Alexander Pantages, millionaire theater man, now in jail following his conviction of attacking Eunice Pringle, today was sued for $500,000 damages by Nicholas A. Dunaev, Russian playwright actor, and friend of Miss Pringle.

HILL POLITICIAN SENTENCED

Joseph Engelsberg, Republican political leader in the Hill district, today was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail for conspiracy to violate the liquor laws. He also was fined $2,500.

Federal Judge Nelson McVicar pronounced sentence after refusing Engelsberg, convicted last May, a new trial. Engelsberg's counsel, Mortimer B. Lesher, an assistant city solicitor, then asked and was granted an appeal to the Circuit Court. Engelsberg was released on $10,000 bail.

Engelsberg's attempts to gain a new trial are based on the confession of Charles Berger, once star witness against him. Berger now says he was coerced by government agents into testifying that he bought liquor from Engelsberg in 1926.

In the opinion denying a new trial Judge McVicar said:

"It seems peculiar that Berger's conscience did not affect him . . . until three or four days before the time fixed for (Engelsberg's) sentence . . . It also seems peculiar that Berger claims his testimony true as to that part to which the statute of limitations is a bar but false as to the acts not barred by the statute."

TAX CUT FAVORS AVERAGE MAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Income taxes for the "little fellow" will be brought almost to the vanishing point if Congress adopts the tax reduction proposal set forth by the Treasury as a stabilizing factor in the present business situation.

While everybody, from the man who makes only $1,000 a year net income to the corporation which makes millions, will profit by the proposed reduction, it is the "little fellow" who will receive the greatest relative benefit, although the reduction is to be 1 per cent horizontally.

CONGRESS TO SPEED CUT IN TAXES

Leaders Rally to Support Of Mellon Plan to Slash Individual, Firm Levies

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Congress rallied strongly today behind the treasury's proposal speedily to enact tax reduction totaling $160,000,000.

The treasury plan to cut both corporation and individual income taxes by resolution for the present year and 1930 was pronounced feasible and fair to all classes of taxpayers by the factional leaders.

ACTION BY CHRISTMAS

Representative Hawley (Rep.), of Oregon, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which must originate the legislation, predicted that the House would pass a resolution by Christmas, and Senate leaders assured prompt action when it is received by them.

Hawley said the suggested reduction would cost the government only about $85,000,000 in the current fiscal year. In the next fiscal year, he said, Congress could re-enact the resolution if revenues should warrant, or consider another plan of temporary reduction.

At the same time, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon made an extremely optimistic statement on the country's financial condition.

PROSPERITY CITED

"If the government had any apprehensions about the future of business or its sound condition, it would not be sponsoring tax reduction at this time," said Secretary Mellon.

Tax reduction has been in contemplation for some time, the secretary added, and "it is a coincidence that the announcement was made at a time when the securities market was in decline."

Mellon expressed, however, the opinion that the announcement would restore failing confidence in many lines of business.

Mellon, in discussing the situation, said losses in the stock market, which might tend to reduce income of those who had suffered in the market, had been given thorough consideration and that it was the decision of treasury experts that the continued prosperity

An Open Letter To the President

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—In an open letter to President Hoover, William Randolph Hearst today called upon the Chief Executive to take definite steps to alleviate the conditions caused by the continued depression on the New York Stock Exchange.

The letter follows:

To the President of the United States,

Honored Sir:

The present unwarranted depression in the value of sterling securities is due partly to the vicious manipulation of bear interests and partly to the alarm of the public at the sudden unjustifiable collapse of values.

Such panics, as President Wilson said, are largely a matter of psychology.

Lack of confidence is contagious; but on the other hand so is confidence contagious.

And in the opinion of many of your earnest friends some reassuring utterance by the President of the United States, accompanied by vigorous action in stimulating the legitimate activities of the Federal Reserve, would do much to restore the confidence of the public and make them realize that the present situation is not a disaster, but an opportunity for legitimate investment under the most favorable circumstances.

Your very able and greatly respected secretary of the treasury recently took occasion to say, and to say truthfully, that stocks were too high.

He could undoubtedly say with equal truth today that stocks are too low, and that sound dividend-paying stocks must eventually return to twice their present value.

A statement from this authoritative source would have a great psychological effect and would do much to make the investing public realize the unusual opportunity that is now offered them.

The people expect as much from you, Mr. President, an able, an active, and experienced business man, as they would have expected from your strenuous predecessor, Mr. Roosevelt, under similar circumstances.

Surely your administration could assemble the banking and financial leaders of the nation and insist that they cooperate with the government in reviving confidence and restoring normal prices.

Undoubtedly President Roosevelt would have taken some such vigorous action, and the Wall street leaders would have known that he was in earnest, and would not have hesitated to co-operate with his administration to the utmost.

Secretary Mellon, whose department would doubtless initiate any such action, has the full confidence of the financial interests, and all that the President of the United States under these circumstances need do is to compel respect for the sincerity and determination of the administration.

GOOD'S ILLNESS NEARS CRISIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Secretary of War James W. Good, dangerously ill at Walter Reed Hospital, was thought today by his physicians to have entered the critical period. The next 48 hours were expected to determine whether he would survive the acute attack of appendicitis for which he underwent an operation.

Army surgeons attending the war secretary noted with some apprehension that his temperature had risen slightly this morning.

This was not considered particularly alarming.

Good had a "fair" night and his condition was stated at 10 o'clock this morning to be as satisfactory as could be expected.

The critical nature of the secretary's condition was not minimized by his surgeons.

Mrs. Good spent last night at the hospital.

JAILED TRIO CONFESSES FRAUDS

Frank, Former Councilman Just Out of Prison, Heads List; $1.50 Bribe Cited

Informations charging violation of the election laws were made today against Joseph Frank, Homestead fire captain, and seven other residents of that borough.

They are accused of having bribed Joseph Boyd Bennett and Richard Durant, Negroes, to vote illegally in the primary election September 17.

Bennett and Durant, held in the county jail in default of $5,000 bail, are charged with "repeating," and it is on their alleged confessions that the informations against the eight men are based.

JUST OUT OF ATLANTA

Frank, a former councilman of Homestead, was released from the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta about a year ago.

Last June he was accused by three Homestead women, who had been convicted of election frauds, of causing many fraudulent votes to be cast in the Second District of the Second Ward, Homestead, in the election of November, 1926.

The seven men acused with Frink in the present case are Louis Markowitz, Pat Harrington, Marty Delaney, Lawrence Albies, Julius Izey, Mike Masley and Edward Hertz.

SEVEN "OPEN" CHARGES

Hertz is specifically charged in the information with bribing a voter. While the others are also accused of bribery the informations against them name the alleged offense as violating the election law.

The informations were made before Alderman Thomas A. Flanagan under the direction of Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park.

The alleged confessions of Bennett and Durant set forth that they voted in the Second, Third and Fourth Districts of the Second Ward, the Second of the First, and the Second of the Fourth, in some districts as many as four times, and in one district six times.

In the information against Frank it is charged he gave Bennett $1.50 to cast fraudulent ballots in the Second District of the Second Ward, and also gave Durant a bribe, the amount of which is not stated.

Markowitz is accused of having given $2 to Bennett and whisky to Durant to induce them to vote fraudulently in the Second District of the Second Ward and the Second of the First.

Harrington is charged with giving khisky to Bennett; Delaney, with giving $2 to Durant; Albies, with giving whisky to Durant; Izey, with giving whisky to Durant; Mazley, with giving whisky to Durant, and Hertz, with giving $5 to Durant.

Air Mail at Standstill Here Due to Fog

Air travel is at a standstill today because of the fog.

A thick blanket of mist shrouds all of the United States east of the Mississippi River, the Weather Bureau stated. No reports have been received from the western half of the country.

The air mail here has not moved for two days. Other parts of the country report the same condition.

The last airplane to leave Pittsburgh for a distant port was a ship of Pittsburgh Airways, Inc., which made a scheduled flight to New York Tuesday, leaving Bettis Field about noon and arriving at its destination about 4:30 p. m.

The schedule called for its return yesterday, but the trip had to be called off indefinitely on account of the weather.

In aviators' parlance, Bettis Field officials stated, there is no "ceiling," or, rather, the "ceiling" has fallen to the ground—by which they mean visibility is not to be obtained at any of the altitudes at which pilots ordinarily fly.

There is no prospect of flying today. The Weather Bureau sees no signs of the lifting of the fog.

Mellon Laughs Off Query On Million-Share Bid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Reports that the offer of $50 a share for a million shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey, which electrified the Stock Exchange in yesterday's closing hours, came "from Pittsburgh" were brought to the attention of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today, the intimation being that the Mellons sponsored the offer.

"Like the man who was asked if he had change for $100, 'I thank you for the compliment,' said the Secretary to newspaper men who asked him about it.

CUT IN FEDERAL TAXES BY CHRISTMAS VIEWED CERTAIN

TWO PARTIES SUPPORT MELLON

Congress Rallies Strongly To Proposed $160,000,000 Income Levy Reduction

of the country justified a tax reduction at this time.

Congressional leaders planned to carry out the proposed reduction by means of a resolution rather than by a bill looking to any widespread revisions of the revenue law. This, they added, was because the proposed cut would apply only on 1929 incomes on which taxes are to be paid next year, beginning March 15.

In the Senate, only the attitude of the progressive Republicans, who have heretofore favored application of surplus funds to reduction of the public debt, appeared doubtful. Many of them still adhere to this policy.

The Republican and Democratic leaders, however, predicted that there would be such strong support for the movement on both sides that tax reduction along the lines of the treasury's proposal was assured.

Spokesmen for both parties pointed out that Congress had heretofore welcomed the opportunity to slash taxes, although many bitter fights had originated over the method. The Hoover administration's new plan, Senator Simmons (Dem.), of North Carolina, said was exactly in line with the past Democratic policy.

RELIEF FOR ALL

"We can cut taxes and the plan to do it by resolution is entirely feasible," said Chairman Hawley, of the Ways and Means Committee.

"The plan does not contemplate changing of existing law, but provides that for two years the treasury shall collect one per cent less than the law provides, by reducing corporation income tax from 12 to 11 per cent and individual income tax from 5, 3 and 1½ per cent to 4, 2½ per cent. This means relief for all taxpayers.

"Tax reduction will be first business of the Ways and Means Committee and probably the first major business of the House. I think we can pass the resolution before Christmas."

Senator Smoot (Rep.), of Utah, who had given his assent to the plan in conference, said that the Senate will await action by the House.

DEMOCRATS IN ACCORD

"Senator Harris and I agreed to the recommendation tentatively," said Senator Simmons, Democratic fiscal leader. "I don't apprehend that there will be any trouble. I feel quite sure that the reduction proposed in normal taxes of corporations and individuals is in line with the policy pursued by the Democrats in consideration of the last revenue bill."

A discordant note was sounded by Senator Norbeck (Rep.), of South Dakota, a "farm bloc" member.

"I have never voted for tax reduction," he said. "I have taken the position that it is better to apply surpluses to reduction of the public debt."

"If we have $160,000,000 surplus it is good business to liquidate that amount of indebtedness," said Senator Allen (Rep.), of Kansas.

NORRIS FRIENDLY

Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, the insurgent leader, indicated he would be friendly to the Mellon plan.

"If we can get a tax reduction without causing a deficit, I would be rather glad to get it," said Norris. "I'm not really anxious to have one as long as we have a large public debt and I am never worried about surpluses because I like a surplus in our treasury. If Mr. Mellon's proposal can be carried out without causing a deficit, I am rather inclined now to favor it. We must wait though for all facts before making a final decision."

"It is fortunate that the country is able to obtain a tax reduction and I am glad that the treasury is in condition to stand it," said Senator Deneen (Rep.), of Illinois, a member of the Finance Committee.

GARNER VOICES ASSENT

The general attitude of the Democrats in the Senate was shown by Senator Trammel (Dem.), of Florida. He said:

"While not commenting on every detail of the plan Mr. Mellon suggests, in a general way I am favorably impressed with the policy he proposes and, of course, I will give tax reduction my most hearty support."

Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking Democrat on the Ways and Means Committee and House minority leader, had already advocated reduction along the lines suggested by the Treasury, and he assented to the plan.

There was a tendency in some Congressional circles to run the reduction up to $200,000,000 or more, feeling that final estimates on government receipts will be greater than were contemplated by Mellon in his announcement.

RESTORE CONFIDENCE

There seemed little doubt, coincidence or not, that Mellon's program would tend to restore confidence in business and financial circles so the plunge of stock prices might be checked. It was apparent the administration looked with apprehension on the stock market situation. The entire speculative picture was laid before President Hoover by Treasury and Federal Reserve officials and Mellon's announcement came out only a few hours later.

Experts at the Treasury expressed the opinion that the surplus June 30, 1930, would amount to about $300,000,000 and that the surplus one year later would be about the same. Nevertheless, doubt as to the actual losses in revenue to result from the stock market crash led the Treasury to be conservative in its tax cut proposal.

This year was expected to set up some new industrial and business records. Something over half of the tax on 1929 incomes will be paid the last half of the 1930 fiscal year and the remainder the first half of the 1932 year. That was held to assure substantial surplus accounts for both years.

MELLON EXPLAINS CUT

Although saying that complete estimates of government needs as compared with prospective government revenues were not yet available, Mr. Mellon, in a statement outlining his program last night, asserted that the study of the situation had progressed to such an extent that a recommendation for tax reduction could be made.

"The indications are that business profits, dividends, interest and wage payments in 1929 will considerably exceed those of the year 1928," he said. "Our estimates indicate that the government should close both the fiscal years of 1930 and 1931 with a surplus. Taking all factors into consideration, the secretary of the treasury, with the approval of the President, will recommend tax reduction to the Congress."

He went on to outline the form that the proposed reduction should take and to show how the 1 per cent cut would operate, pointing out that "on the first $4,000 of taxable income the rate will be reduced from 1½ per cent to one-half of 1 per cent; on the second $4,000, from 3 per cent to 2 per cent, and on the balance, the present 5 per cent rate will be reduced to 4 per cent."

CORPORATION CUT

The corporation tax rate, he said, would be reduced from 12 to 11 per cent. He estimated the total reduction of income taxes to be collected during the calendar year of 1930 at approximately $160,000,000. No mention was made of any contemplated revision of the surtax rate structure.

Since the reduction is effective on incomes of this year and taxes to be collected in the next, with returns to be filed by March 15, 1930, it is hoped that Congress will avoid all possible delay in approving the necessary legislation. Mr. Mellon suggested that legislation take the form of a joint congressional resolution, rather than of a tax bill, as the latter would throw the federal tax structure open to a general revision.

Finally, the Treasury secretary said that the proposal had been "discussed with Republican and Democratic leaders of both houses of Congress, who have tentatively approved the proposed recommendation."

to him. Nobody is half as much puzzled as that poor exchange at this moment.

THE Senator also says "if the tariff fight shakes the Stock Exchange, let the Exchange go."

Senator Borah may not have given his usual careful thought to what the Stock Exchange means. At this particular moment it means bitter disappointment and poverty for many.

For instance, one woman, after teaching school for thirty-three years had saved $25,000. Every dollar of it she put in an industrial stock, which bought by other women like herself, ignorant of values, and all frightened at once, dropped in value $100 a share.

This teacher has lost her $25,000, and more, and must work as much longer as she possibly can to pay what she owes.

THERE are millions like her, unfortunately. Every big business in the United States, is "on the Stock Exchange." It cannot be brushed aside so lightly.

CONVICTED REDS TO BE 'RETRIED'

A labor jury will rehear and leading Communists of Pittsburgh will retry the three Woodlawn Communists who will begin serving five-year terms in the penitentiary November 25.

The mock trial will be the outstanding feature of a banquet by "Militant Woodlawn Communists" in Labor Lyceum, 35 Miller street, Saturday evening.

The U. S. Supreme Court recently upheld the sentences of M. Reseter, P. Muselin and T. Zima, in whose honor the dinner will be given. Max Salzman, secretary of the local International Labor defense, will be judge; Pat Toohey, of the Miners' Union, defense counsel, and Pat Devine, Communists organizer, prosecuting attorney. Pat Cush, recent mayoralty candidate, will be foreman of the jury.

The men were sentenced in Beaver County on a charge of sedition, trying to overthrow the government by force of arms and institute instead a Soviet Republic. The men claimed they were Communists in theory but had not agitated for force of arms.

The sentenced was confirmed by the state supreme court.

SENATE VOTES TO CONTINUE ON TARIFF

Reed Among Seven Favoring Postponement, While 74 Oppose Plea to Take Rest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Despite warnings that half of its members were sick and did not know it; that others were tired out and in need of rest, and that it was "cruel" to keep members at work, the Senate today, by a vote of 74 to 7, refused to postpone consideration of the tariff until December 9.

Senator Blease (Dem.), South Carolina, who issued most of the warnings about the senators' health, offered the motion. He, however, found only Bingham, Connecticut; Dale and Greene, Vermont; Phipps, Colorado and Reed, Pennsylvania, Republicans, and Copeland (Dem.), New York, ready to join with him in voting for a rest.

Immediatel yafter this vote, the Senate rejected a motion to adjourn on November 23 until the regular session beginning December 2.

The second motion was made by Senator Simmons (Dem.), North Carolina. It was defeated, 51 to 34.

MRS. HARDINGE WINS CHILDREN

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Franklin Hardinge, wife of a wealthy Chicago manufacturer, today was awarded the custody of her two children by a former marriage, Norman and Toby Weems, Jr., for nine months of each year by Judge H. B. Webster, in Domestic Relations Court.

Judge Webster granted to the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weems, custody of the children for three months of each year, specifying that these be the three months of vacation from school.

Judge Webster held that the father, Sergt. Toby Weems, of Fort Benning, Ga., in his tetsimony, had waived his rights as a parent in favor of the grandparents and had made no effort to provide a home for the boys.

The decision ended litigation of several weeks, during which charges and counter-charges were made. Mrs. Hardinge admitted marrying Hardinge before she had obtained a divorce, but declared that she had not lived with him until after the decree had been granted and a second ceremony was performed.

Girl Auto Blackmail Plot Laid to Officer

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Police Sergeant William Begley, charged with being a member of a state-wide blackmail ring, today is faced with the additional charge of being involved in a racket by which motorists were victimized through the use of women associates.

According to police, the women associates would be stationed at street corners, where they would get lifts from motorists. The following day the motorists would be accused of stealing the girl's purses. Sergt. Begley, the charges state, would be along to "fix" the cases and avoid publicity for reasonable sums.

Traffic Squad Sends S. O. S. to Principal

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Anyone who has ever been bawled out by a traffic cop will find it hard to believe that such an official could possibly admit defeat. The Evanston traffic cops have appealed to the principal of the Evanston High School to curb student motorists.

"They are your high school boys," said Chief Freeman, "and they are too much for me. They drive like mad, and I haven't enough cops to catch them all."

DRIVER KILLED IN LABOR WAR

PAINESVILLE, O., Nov. 14.—(AP).—T. Kmill, of Cleveland, a driver for the Scott Truck Company, was shot and killed as four men in a sedan overhauled his convoy en route from Erie, Pa., to Cleveland, late last night. The Scott Company, which conducts a freight business between Buffalo, N. Y., and Cleveland, has had considerable labor trouble recently.

The gunmen's car bore a Pennsylvania license and was similar to one employed in another attack some time ago, Kmill's companions said. The machine came up from behind a guard's automobile and eight shots were fired as it drew even with the front truck. Kmill was struck between the eyes and died a short time later at a hospital here.

The Scott Company has been operating on an open-shop basis and its drivers have been the victims of several attacks in Buffalo, Erie and Cleveland.

Son Slays Father And Wounds Mother

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—With one bullet from his revolver, John Rozinsky, Jr., shot his father and mother last night. The father was killed, the mother wounded. The police account of the affair said that during a dispute the elder Rozinsky sprang at his wife with a knife. The son snatched the knife from his father, picked up a revolver from a drawer and fired as his father sprang toward him.

The mother, rushing between the men, was wounded in the arm.

MEXICANS RIOT OVER ELECTION

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The second political clash in Mexico City within four days occurred last night. Rival groups met in Avenida Madero and Bolivar street in the center of the city, and attacked each other with clubs and stones.

On Sunday a parade of followers of Jose Vasconcelos, anti-re-election party candidate for the presidency, erded in a riot with supporters of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, the revolutionary party nominee, in which 13 persons were wounded.

A few hours after the clash the police reported that six persons had been injured.

Press dispatches from the city of Oaxaca last night said that two persons were killed there and several wounded before soldiers restored order and began a regular patrol of the streets.

Fog-Blinded Pilot Lands Plane in Park

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Pilot Robert P. Hopkins, flying the night air mail from Chicago to Cleveland, made a forced landing in Edgewater Park early today after circling over the city nearly an hour hunting for the fog-hidden municipal airport. He escaped unharmed and damage to the plane was negligible. Hopkins said he was considering stepping out in his parachute when he decided to attempt a landing guided by the lights of Edgewater drive.

Dog Saved From Drowning in Sewer

Heberton avenue residents hunted two hours yesterday afternoon for a whining dog. It was found under the sewer drop at Grafton street. When Animal Rescue League representatives, Scott Lake and Nicholas Banker, arrived, they found the small animal's nose barely above the water. Dropping a ladder down the sewer opening, they rescued the dog.

Hold Woman in Ball Bat Beating

Marie Smith, 43, of 208 McKean street, was held for investigation in Morals Court today after police testified that Michael Nee, 62, of 205 Carson street, from a bed in South Side Hospital had identified her as the woman who beat him with a baseball bat in her home. Police reported that Nee was in serious condition.

Personal Workers Listed in Account

Twenty-five "personal workers," receiving from $5 to $15 each, are listed in the expense account of John J. Crawford, successful candidate for tax collector in Turtle Creek. Crawford reported no contributions and expenses totaling $287, of which $201 was for the "personal workers."

LABOR RATE UNAFFECTED BY STOCKS

Employment Not Reduced as Result of Collapse in Securities, U. S. Reports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The Department of Labor in its monthly employment bulletin issued today said October reports indicated the "recent financial upheaval" had not disturbed industry, or caused any reduction in employment.

The report said this was held to be "self-evident proof" that industry is fundamentally sound and that "the future may reveal that more money will be available for the further development of industry and the establishment of new industry."

Seasonal decreases in production of automobiles caused a drop in employment in this industry, and a similar decreased employment in the iron and steel mills was attributed to the automobile depression. Conditions in the cotton-textile industry improved somewhat but were said to be "spotty" still, while large forces were employed in the silk goods manufacturing plants.

Increased employment in the shipyards, in the jewelry manufacturing business, in radio and electrical equipment plants and in the boot and shoe factories was noted. Greater employment also was reported in the anthracite and bituminous coal mining districts.

Income	Present Tax	Proposed Tax
$1,000	$ 15 (1½%)	$ 5 (½-1%)
2,000	30	10
3,000	45	15
4,000	60	20
5,000	80*	40†
6,000	120	60
7,000	150	80
8,000	180	100

*3% on next $4,000. †2% on next $4,000.

On all net incomes above $8,000 the present rate of 5 per cent would be reduced to 4 per cent, so that a net income of $10,000, which now pays a tax of $280, would pay only $180.

If the incomes comes within the class of "earned income," a flat reduction of 25 per cent is also allowed.. In the case of the $1,000 earned income the tax would thus be only $3.75 a year, while for the $10,000 earned income it would be $75.

SONG SOCIETY'S SAFE ROBBED

A gang of safe-crackers moved the 500-pound strong box of the Koerner Singing Society, 1207 East street, more than 40 feet to an adjoining room early today, blew it open and escaped with $300 or more in negotiable bonds, police said.

The robbery was discovered shortly before noon by officers of the society.

Home in Munhall Destroyed by Fire

The four-room frame house of Mrs. Mary Duke at 336 Twenty-second avenue, Munhall, was in ruins today, destroyed by flames. Mrs. Duke was alone in the house when an overheated stove caused the fire. She ran to safety. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

Suspect Indicted in Postoffice Robbery

Harry J. Miller, 45, alias Thomas Milton, alias Frank Smith, alias "Baltimore" Whitey, was indicted today by the federal grand jury for robbing the Plateau postoffice, Erie County, near Girard. It was alleged that Miller on October 11 blasted the postoffice safe, escaping with $30 and an overcoat.

Cub Wounds Monaca Man As Bears Give Battle

MONACA, Pa., Nov. 14.—Encountering a black bear cub while hunting deer in Black River district, 150 miles from Hull, Quebec, several days ago, Willard C. Legoullon and Martin M. Meiter, both of Monaca, attempted to capture it alive.

During the struggle they were attacked by the mother bear and before they could escape, Meiter was bitten by the cub. Legoullon fired several shots at the larger bear, tearing one foot to shreds and driving her away. He also shot the cub as it attacked Meiter, wounding it.

The cub escaped to a stone den where it was killed by Legoullon.

With three deer, the cub was brought to Monaca by the party, which also included F. A. Legoullon, Edward C. Legoullon, Earl R. Beringer, John Fenser and William C. Heckman, all of Monaca, who spent two weeks in Northern Quebec.

Two other deer were shot by the party.

'Bobs,' Cosmetics, Simple Pleasures Barred in Will

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—John Quincy Murray, who died October 1 at 69, in a will probated today, dividing his $7,881 estate, outlined these conditions to be fulfilled by the legatees.

The will bequeathed $2,000 to Jean Murray, 22, of San Bernardino, Cal., provided she forswears bobbed hair, cosmetics, jewelry, dances, movies and wears her dresses "long at both ends."

One thousand dollar bequests were made to Malcolm John Murray, 27, San Bernardino, and Alice B. Murray, 25, Wilmington, Cal., providing the man promise never to wear a mustache, go to dances or movies, or join a secret society, and the girl lives up to the regulations placed upon Miss Jean Murray.

The young people are grandchildren of John Quincy Murray.

The rest of the estate was left to the Free Methodist Church of North America to be used for superannuated ministers' pensions, provided none of the ministers aided wears watchchains, or their wives wrist watches.

Jean Murray said she already wore long hair and modest dresses, and never used cosmetics, and would forswear picture shows and dances for the $2,000.

NEW CAMPUS PAPER ASSAILS PITT ADMINISTRATION

PAY ASKED FOR GRID PLAYERS

Barring of Liberal Speaker From Pitt Brings Caustic Story in School Journal

An anonymously published "newspaper" called The Rebel Yell, bristling with sarcastic comment on various policies of the administration of the University of Pittsburgh, appeared on the Pitt campus today.

The Pitt Weekly is attacked in the sheet as censored by the university authorities and not representative of the students.

ASK PAY FOR GRID STARS

A demand is made that the members of the football team be given free tuition, free board, free fraternity fees and a salary of $80 a month in addition.

The question is asked if the Social Science Seminar will be dissolved, as the Liberal Club was, for having Prof. Harry Elmer Barnes as a speaker.

The Rebel Yell consists of two typewritten and mimeographed sheets of two columns each, clamped together. It is described as "a beneficial organ of the students of the University of Pittsburgh, edited by the editor, and issued as necessity arises until there is an official organ representing the students."

RECALLS BARNES' BAN

The leading story is captioned "Noted Scholar Barred Six Months Ago Here Thursday." It revives the episode of last spring when Barnes was "shooed" off the campus when he attempted to address the Liberal Club on the Mooney-Billings case, and says "Remmeber McDowell and Albertson." They were officers of the Liberal Club, expelled for rebelling against the dissolution of the club by the university authorities.

In connection with the demand that football players be paid, the Rebel Yell says a disturbing situation was brought to light by the statements of Don Harrison, manager of athletics, and Dr. J. Steele Gow, executive secretary, in reply to the Carnegie Foundation's charge that Pitt's football players, in common with those of many other colleges, are directly or indirectly subsidized.

"SHOULD PAY PLAYERS"

If the football players are not paid, the sheet says, they should be. Pitt students, it declares, will be glad to see "these hard working men, who draw hundreds of dollars to the Stadium, justly compensated for their efforts to make Pitt the outstanding educational institution of the United States."

"Something must be done," it continues, "to bring material reward to the men who dedicate their best efforts and risk their limbs to bring honor to Pitt, and profits to the group of bankers who own mortgages on the Stadium.

"Above all things we must remember that it is the football team which has brought prestige to the university."

The paper reports that more than 100 students have petitioned James Lindsay, director of a new agency for free discussion, to permit them to invite a group of well-known men to discuss on the campus the question if justice is denied "radicals" in the courts.

"They have asked," it is stated, "that Judge Gray as a liberal, Assistant District Attorney Clunk as a public prosecutor, A. J. Muste as a laborite, Fred Beal as a Communist, and James Francis Burke as a conservative, be invtied to discussed this subject."

The story adds: "It is believed these men, with the possible exception of Burke, will be available."

Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor of the university, declined to comment in any way on the Rebel Yell.

WILKINS' SHIP REACHES BASE

By SIR HUBERT WILKINS,
Commander of the Second Wilkins-Hearst Antarctic Expedition.

DECEPTION ISLAND (Antaarctica), Nov. 14.—(Via S. S. Melville and KUP, San Francisco Examiner Wireless Station)—One lone iceberg greeted us as we arrived through fog and snow squalls at our Antarctic base.

Our two Lockheed planes, the Los Angeles and the San Francisco, were awaiting us in their winter clothing, having safely ridden out storms and sleet-laden winds at 50 degrees below zero.

They were apparently as secure and fit as when we left them eight months ago.

After a fine trip down from Montevideo, we approached Deception Island with caution through heavy seas. After riding out the storm we came into the bay but only just in time.

Two hours after night fell ice blocked the entrance we had traversed. In the half darkness the men are mooring the ship.

29 FIGHT LOSS OF VOTES

Twenty-nine of 117 residents of the Nineteenth Ward appeared before the Registration Commissioners yesterday and were given hearings on whether they should be permitted to vote, even though they were registered on tax receipts which the court has declared illegal. Commissioner Scott Morgan conducted the hearings yesterday.

The commissioners, William A. Means, Thomas Joyce, James Kirk and Mr. Morgan, are taking turns at holding the hearings. Monday 45 of 110 persons summoned appeared and were heard. Mr. Morgan has suggested holding night hearings as some of the persons summoned were unable to appear because of work.

Language Row Splits Cabinet in Belgium

BRUSSELS, Nov. 14. — (INS.)—Disagreement over the use of French or Flemish in Belgian universities today resulted in a Belgian cabinet crisis.

After finding themselves unable to agree upon which language should be standard, the cabinet members decided to offer their resignations to King Albert. It is believed he will reject them and offer a suggestion which will smooth out the controversy.

BISHOPS ELECT CHICAGOAN AS HEAD

Rt. Rev. Anderson, Noted as Foe of Church-State Link, Becomes Episcopal Leader

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A dynamic exponent of the separation of church and state—the Rt. Rev. Charles P. Anderson, of Chicago—today took office as presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church.

For many years a dominant figure in the national organization of the church, the Bishop of the Chicago diocese will serve the two years remaining of the term of Bishop John Gardner Murray, of Maryland, who died before the altar of St. James' Church in Atlantic City, on October 3.

TAKE 16 BALLOTS

Bishop Anderson's election came on the sixteenth ballot of the House of Bishops, and as his first official act, he appointed the Rt. Rev. Hugh L. Burleson, Bishop of South Dakota, as his assistant.

In an address before the forty-ninth triennial convention of the church in Washington during the heat of the presidential campaign last year, Bishop Anderson flayed sectionalism and intolerance, and then declared:

"Whenever the church spends its energies on social and political reforms, or undertakes to fight the world's political and social battles by using the world's weapons, or identifies itself with the world in hope of producing a glorified human society by external pressure, the result will inevitably be a loss of morals.

"It is beginning at the wrong end," he said. "It is patching up the machinery of society which may work today and break down tomorrow, instead of reconstructing the motives of men."

NOTED AS AUTHOR

An extensive reader, Bishop Anderson has studied prominent writers of all ages. A writer of talent himself, he is the author of "Letters to Laymen," "The Religion of Our Lord" and "Religion and Morality," all of which have been widely quoted.

Bishop Anderson, who is 65, was born in Ontario Province, Canada, and was ordained early in his twenties. He was elected Bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Chicago, at a special convention in February, 1900, and in 1905 upon the death of Bishop McLaren, he became Bishop of the diocese.

HAWAIIAN SUGAR LOBBY IN QUIZ

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(INS) Turning its inquiry into the so-called sugar lobby, the Senate's Lobby Investigating Committee today learned the Hawaiian Planters' Association has maintained since 1921 a $26,000-a-year office here to work for "the highest possible protective tariff on sugar."

Royal D. Meade, the association's attorney, testified he received a salary of $20,000 annually and an expense account of $6,000 for his work as head of the Washington office.

His office is financed from a fund supported by "assessments" of members of the organization. He said he came here in 1921 to make arrangements for transporting Philippine and Porto Rico labor to Hawaii and remained as the successor to Judge Ballou, formerly head of the local office.

Meade said he had twice visited Senator Bingham (Rep.), of Connecticut, and a meber of the Senate Finance Committee, in connection with sugar tariff and had not accepted Bingham's advice that his organization support a sliding scale of duty on sugar in the pending tariff bill. Bingham, Meade said, was considered by his people as "the Hawaiian senator."

The Washington office spent a good deal of money in addition to its expenses for Meade's salary and operating funds, the witness testified. He fixed disbursements for this year up to the present at $63,646.62.

OHIO ABANDONS MOONEY CASE

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Belmont County officials today said they had abandoned investigation of the Tom Mooney case because of alleged conflicting stories told by Mrs. Dora Monroe, who last week made an affidavit placing the blame for the San Francisco preparedness day parade bombing, in which 10 lives were lost in 1916, on her brother, Lewis Smith, who died seven years ago at Cleveland.

Prosecuting Attorney George C. McKelvey, who had been directing the inquiry, said today that Mrs. Monroe's story of the bombing was that Mooney was on the same roof with Lewis Smith when the latter hurled the bomb.

Mooney is serving a life term in a California prison for the bombing. McKelvey said that if the latest story of Mrs. Monroe is true, then Mooney would be equally guilty in that he was in the crowd from which the bomb was thrown.

PASTOR'S FAITH QUESTIONED

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Rumors concerning "soundness of the doctrinal faith" of Dr. Hay Watson Smith, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church here, will be investigated by a commission of seven from the Arkansas Presbytery.

The commission was appointed yesterday at the fall session of the presbytery after the day had been devoted to debate on Dr. Smith's theories on evolution. Some action by the presbytery was ordered by the General Assembly of the church at Montreat, N. C., last summer, after charges had been made that Dr. Smith, in a pamphlet discussing evolution, had asserted beliefs contrary to the tenets of the Presbyterian faith.

The investigating commission will report its findings to the meeting of the presbytery at Osceola six months hence.

Dr. Smith figured in the defeat of an anti-evolution bill in the Arkansas Legislature in 1927.

Let Dolly and Alice Flip Coin, Vets Tell Hoover

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Solution of the social difficulties of Dolly Curtis Gann and Mrs. Alice Longworth would be a simple matter if the principals would but accept a suggestion to be made to President Hoover by the Murray Davis Post of the American Legion here.

The Legionnaires last night drafted a letter to the President suggesting:

"Simply have the two ladies flip a coin for place at each dinner. That will be fair to both of them."

OFFICERS' BAIL AT SEWICKLEY

A fund of $1,000 to be used in bailing policemen arrested for anything but homicide was created by Sewickley council last night, the action following a plea of J. C. Chaplin, a councilman, and chairman of the police committee.

While the council was passing the measure Justice of the Peace L. V. Gibbs, in another section of the borough building, held Mr. and Mrs. Creed Smith, Negroes, under $500 bail for obstructing police officers, and fined Smith $10 on a disorderly conduct charge. The Smiths appealed their case.

Smith and his wife last week accused Patrolman Thomas Joyce and Constable Frank Kovachs, the latter from Justice Gibbs' office, of attacking them in the rear of their home, following a raid next door. They were held for court the following day on charges of assault and battery by Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan. The officers then charged the Smiths with obstructing them in their duties.

He also will describe several colorful communities in the Andes.

ALL-NIGHT VIGIL AT CURE GRAVE

MALDEN, Mass., Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Undeterred even by darkness in their search for miraculous cures, scores of persons still milled around the 60-year-old grave of the Rev. Patrick J. Power as dawn broke over the Holy Cross Cemetery here today.

When the gates of the cemetery were shut last night, a total of 20,000 persons remained inside the cemetery, awaiting their turn to supplicate at the grave of the comparatively obscure and unknown priest which has been turned into a shrine by tales of the miracle cures enacted at the mound.

Officials of the cemetery permitted the crowd of 20,000 to remain inside during the night, and it was well toward dawn before the ranks began to thin out as the supplicants passed before the grave.

It was estimated that 50,000 persons visited the grave yesterday, and a similar throng is expected today. Hundreds of the visitors pray in the chapel of the cemetery, where during the last two weeks an ever-growing collection of discarded crutches and canes has been piling up.

ROB COUPLE AS OFFICER LEAVES

"The cop he got up when those two guys came in. 'Hello, he said to them and walked out. Then those two guys turned to me and my friend and said, 'Stick 'em up!'"

Mrs. Frances Ropcczuk, 32, of 1121 Locust street, gave this description of a holdup to Police Inspector James N. Hoey yesterday afternoon. The holdup men got $45 and two rings valued at $200, she said.

Mike Covalino, 38, of the same address, said he and Mrs. Ropcczuk were sitting in the kitchen drinking with the policeman when the holdup men entered. After the officer left, he said, the robbers bound him and Mrs. Ropcczuk and ransacked the house.

He said he thought Mrs. Ropcczuk knew them, as they had been visitors in the house before.

Inspector Hoey last night said that the policeman, off duty, left the place a few minutes before the robbers' arrival. The identity of one of the robbers is known to police and his arrest was expected today, Hoey declared.

DEAD PRINCESS' MATE ARRESTED

BONN, Germany, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The grim, tragic-comic note that enveloped the last days of Princess Victoria Schaumburg-Lippe, sister of the former kaiser, was again sounded today with the arrest of Alexander Subkoff, her youthful husband, whose escapades had caused his exile from Germany.

The young Russian dancer and adventurer who married the princess, 34 years his senior, two years ago, was picked up by the Bonn police en route from Treves to Frankfort in an attempt to attend his wife's funeral. Only 10 days ago a divorce suit the princess had brought against him was filed.

Subkoff was arrested for violating an order forbidding him entrance into Prussia. He also was held on swindle charges brought by many creditors here from whom he was alleged to have obtained money under false pretences by means of the unauthorized use of his wife's name.

EX-R.R. HEAD ACCUSES WOMAN

Financier Prefers Blackmail Charges, Declaring He Paid Her $170,000 in Six Years

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An attractive brunette of 34, cultured, well-educated and modishly dressed, was to appear in court here tomorrow to answer charges that she extorted large sums of money from a wealthy financier by threatening to name him as father of her 6-year-old child.

The woman is Olga N. Edwards, who resides at a fashionable hotel here. Her accuser is Nathan L. Amster, formerly chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, and now head of the protective committee representing a minority of the Manhattan Railway Company.

COUNSEL SKETCHES STORY

He is also director of many other companies, including the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway and the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power Company, Ltd.

According to Max D. Steuer, famous criminal lawyer who is representing Amster, the woman received a total of $170,000 during the last six years from the financier.

This huge sum was paid, Steuer declared, in an effort to "save his family from annoyance."

While Amster has refused to communicate verbally with newspapermen, Steuer today gave an inkling of the dramatic story which is expected to be unfolded when the woman makes her appearance before Magistrate August Dreyer tomorrow. On her arraignment, she was released in $5,000 bail for further hearing.

According to Steuer, the woman violated an agreement made three years ago under which she was to receive $6,000 a year for life with the proviso she was not to annoy or communicate with Amster in any way.

BROKE AGREEMENT

"Not only did she violate this agreement," Steuer charged, "but her demands for money and threats were so frequent that I advised Mr. Amster to turn the matter over to the police.

"Mr. Amster met the woman about seven years ago. She was penniless and he befriended her.

"Soon afterward, she began to annoy him, and three years ago, the agreement was signed. But shortly after that she renewed her annoyances, and from then on it was a case of paying her thousands on thousands of dollars.

"We intend to prosecute this case to the limit."

Little is known of Olga Edwards. Her child, a bright boy just over six, is being cared for by the Children's Aid Society. He told officials of that organization he and his mother came to New York from Los Angeles. He added that his father's name was "Lee Edwards."

In a writen statement, Amster said he met the woman several years ago through friends, and that he gave her some money when she told him a "hard luck story." He said her home was "somewhere in the West."

GAS TANK BLAST LIMIT ENDS

With the time limit for filing suits growing out of the Manchester gas tank explosion expiring today, two suits were filed in Common Pleas Court yesterday. The explosion occurred November 14, 1927, two years ago today.

Mrs. Rose Riley, widow, asked $30,000 damages of the Equitable Gas Company and the Riter-Conley Company, alleging that her house and garage at 708 West North avenue were damaged by the blast and that she was struck on the head and suffered a fractured skull and leg and other injuries.

Rose Austin asked $40,000 damages, averring that she was an employe of Oppenheim-Collins Company, Penn avenue, and that the vibration from the explosion caused windows and frames to fall, striking her and breaking her ribs, injuring her spine and causing other injuries.

Diamond Ring, Coat Stolen From Home

A diamond ring valued at $1,100 and an overcoat worth $50 were stolen from the home of Mrs. W. J. Rosswog, of 1217 Murtland avenue, late yesterday. The robbery was discovered by Mrs. Rosswog upon her return home last night.

Seminar in New England Raps Religious Prejudice

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—After two days of frank exchanges of opinion and belief more than 400 Catholics, Protestants and Jews have closed an experiment in understanding at Harvard University by agreeing to respect each other's beliefs and co-operate fully in community undertakings while combatting religious intolerance throughout America.

Rabbis, priests, Protestant clergymen and merchants and educators of all three sects met together in the first Protestant-Catholic-Jew seminar ever held in New England and one of the first in America under the auspices of the Calvert Foundation of Boston and as the guests of Harvard.

At the end of their sessions they adopted unanimously a declaration reading in part as follows:

"That sincere conviction as to the absolute truth or adequacy of one's own faith, and, as a corollary, the error or inadequacy of all other religions, involves no question of the spiritual sincerity of those who differ and who hold firmly to the tenets of their own faith, their inalienable right to the practice of their religion, or as to their eternal reward.

"That such agreement to disagree as to the fundamentals of their respective faiths in no way interferes with their active cooperation in all undertakings making for the welfare of the community.

"That discrimination—political, social or economic—based solely upon religious prejudices and intolerance, violates the letter and the spirit of the Constitution and is fraught with grave peril to the security of the Republic."

FOUR INDICTED FOR MURDER, FACE TRIAL

Grand Jury Holds Suspects In Killings by Stabbing, Shooting and Kicking

Four murder indictments, in which deaths were caused by a blow, a kick, a shot and a stab wound, respectively, have been returned by the November Grand Jury and the cases will be listed for trial shortly.

Diodaro DiMatteo was indicted for the murder of Alfonse DiAmico, 51 Boundry street, October 16, whose skull he is alleged to have fractured by a blow of his fist.

Peter Marckey is charged with killing John Rabeck, 50, of Marshall Township October 1. Rabeck died in the home of Anna Bernice, at Warrendale, from peritonitis which developed from internal injuries due to a kick.

Martin Eugene faces trial for killing Albert Carter, 30, with a gun in front of 162 Crawford street September 28.

James Berry is charged with stabbing to death James McFarland, 34, Negro, of Large, Pa., September 2.

Beer Sold to Aid Fire Company, 4 Sentenced

NORRISTODN, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Four officials of the Royerford Volunteer Fire Company, each was sentenced to three years in jail and fined $250 and costs by Judge J. Ambler Williams after they had pleaded guilty to illegal possession of 55 cases of beer seized in a raid on their fire house. The court suspended the jail sentences.

The men fined were John V. Newitt, president of the fire company; O. B. Yerk, treasurer; Robert L. Ibach, steward, and Charles Hartman, assistant steward. They testified that they had received $900 annually from the borough for the fire company and that it cost approximately $2,500 to run the organization and keep up equipment. The money derived from beer, they said, was used to buy new fire apparatus.

PERRY SENIORS TO STAGE PLAY

The senior class of Perry High School will present "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" November 21 and 22 in the school auditorium, under the direction of John C. S. Hull.

The cast includes Joseph Branch, Elizabeth Schweiger, Elizabeth Robb, Arthur Blickle, Jane Weitzel, Carl Kleinschmidt, Willard Connelly, Janet Hobson, Jean Thompson, Selma Petty, Annetta Klein, Roger Schwedler.

ALCOHOL TRUCK SEIZED AGAIN

For the second time within two months prohibition agents seized the same truck in which alcohol was being hauled last night.

The agents followed the truck over the Liberty Bridge to a garage in Boyd street and seized it along with 110 gallons of alcohol, they said. The driver fled when the agents approached.

Two months ago, the agents said, the same truck was seized for a similar offense, and two men arrested, but was released after a bond had been posted for it.

Edison's Protege Scarlet Fever Victim

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Wilbur B. Huston, of Seattle, protege of Thomas A. Edison, and winner of the Edison scholarship to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was reported ill with scarlet fever and 21 students living at the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity house here were placed under quarantine.

Huston was to be removed to the Palmer Memorial Hospital in Brighton district.

$500,000 FIRE IN SEMINARY

THREE RIVERS, Quebec, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—This city's most destructive fire in 20 years yesterday destroyed the oldest wing of St. Joseph's Seminary, causing damage estimated at $500,000.

Valuable books and documents in the wing, which was erected in 1870, were lost in the fire. Strenuous efforts by firemen and volunteers saved the more modern parts of the seminary.

JURY CONFUSED IN STRANGLING INQUIRY

Witnesses Unable to Say McPherson Entered Room On Finding Wife Dead

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP.)—Whether her husband, Robert A. McPherson, Jr., entered the room in which Mrs. Virginia Hurley McPherson lay dead at the time he said he discovered the tragedy, became a disputed point before the District of Columbia grand jury investigating the case.

Previous testimony had left the impression that McPherson had entered the room, but Wilmer C. Ruff, manager of the apartment house in which she died, said that when he went to the suite the body had to be pushed away before the door could be opened.

TESTIMONY CONFLICTS

Mrs. Sue Thompson, desk clerk at the apartment house, had said previously that McPherson had said he knew his wife was dead because the body was cold, but yesterday she was uncertain what he had told her.

Significance was attached to the point by those who supported the murder theory in view of the testimony of Ruff that the body lay against the door.

Ruff also at first had gained the impression that McPherson had gone inside the room to lay a dress over the body, but he has indicated that he may have misunderstood the husband.

COVERED BODY

Federal agents were reported to have been satisfied that the husband did not go inside the room, but had reached inside the door and dropped a dress over the body.

A steady stream of witnesses went into the grand jury room, some of them persons who previously had told of incidents in Mrs. McPherson's past life which might have been construed as indicating a suicidal tendency. These included physicians, nurses, employes of the apartment and neighbors.

Mrs. McPherson was found strangled two months ago and a coroner's jury pronounced the death a suicide. A grand jury later indicted her husband for murder, but the charge was dismissed because of a legal technicality.

WARNS OF 'STOP' SIGNS

Motorists must come to a dead stop at all "Through-Traffic-STOP" signs on highways or risk paying a $5 fine and costs in a justice of the peace court, C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, has warned.

It does not matter if a motorist slows down his car almost to a standstill. "At many points in Allegheny County there are constables stationed to watch the wheels of every car coming up to a 'through' highway. If a car merely slows down and crosses without coming to a complete halt, the license number is taken. The driver is then sent a summons to appear for a hearing on a charge of failing to stop for a 'through' highway," Roth reports.

MYERS HEADS PARENTS BODY

J. N. Myers was chosen president of the West View Parent-Teacher Association at its annual election this week. Albert W. Herdt was elected vice president; Mrs. C. A. McClain secretary and Fred F. Brown treasurer.

Final plans were made for installation of a community moving picture machine in the junior high school at an approximate cost of $450. Principal H. N. Hennon announced today would be observed as visiting day for parents at the Oakwood school and tomorrow at the Highland school.

Lacks Son, Leaves Fortune for School

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Contending that disappointment over lack of a son caused her father to bequeath $700,000 to found a school, Mrs. Anne Culbertson Collins, of Camden, is contesting the will. The will stipulated that income be added to the principal until the fund reached $327,000,000 and then there be established a school for physical, moral, intellectual and religious training in keeping with the Quaker faith. The testator, John J. Albertson, once county engineer, left $1,000,000.

Dies Wearing Ring Fiance Gave in '60

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Jennie Van Duyne has been buried in Brooklyn wearing the ring which her fiance, Capt. Seth Griffith, of the United States Cavalry, gave her in 1860. He answered the call to arms in a hurry and never returned. Miss Van Duyne, for years a public school teacher, died in her ninety-second year.

Students Choose Bible Over Novels

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The favorite book among University of Chicago students? The Bible. Forty per cent of the students gave the Bible as their first choice; Shakespeare's works were a close second, with 33 per cent.

95 PIANOS LOANED FREE

Ninety-five Pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments), will be placed in homes of Pittsburgh and vicinity and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. We have discontinued eight of our large branch stores, and are placing these instruments in our "Frederick's Annex," located at 915 Liberty Avenue. Instead of storing and holding these pianos for the regular price, we are going to slaughter the prices and take our loss now. If you have ever thought of buying a piano, now is the time. We do not wish to place our instruments in storage and all Pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a piano in the immediate future, and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these pianos are to be placed.

Positively No Charge For Anything

No cartage, no rent or any expense whatever. You must call at the store to make your selection. There are no strings to this offer, which comes but once in a lifetime.

It's almost fun to get up when breakfast is worth getting up for!

Try an experiment. Early tomorrow morning announce "pancakes for breakfast." It will actually seem easier to get up. Then—serve this modern kind of pancake (made with the new Pillsbury's Pancake Flour). Notice the atmosphere of zest and eagerness at breakfast—how different from those meals that consist of mere nourishment!

Good food alone does not make a breakfast—it must also be interesting food. Breakfast should never be a bore. For the sake of good digestion and good living, we should get fun as well as nourishment at the breakfast table. Keep a package of Pillsbury's Pancake Flour in the house, and use it—regularly!

OFTEN WOKE UP WITH A HEADACHE

Finally Took ALL-BRAN Instead of Drugs and Now "Couldn't Feel Better"

How much suffering constipation brings! Headaches, loss of strength and appetite. Sleeplessness. Often it leads to serious diseases. But here is one of the thousands who have suffered and found relief. Read this letter—

"I am 52 years old and have put in years suffering from constipation. Spent lots of money with doctors, bought all kinds of pills and drugged myself every night with them and woke lots of mornings with a headache.

"Haven't taken one pill since I began on ALL-BRAN years ago. I am now feeling the best I have felt in 20 years. I eat heartily and nothing hurts me."—Albert F. Parker, 237 N. Cary St., Brockton, Mass.

It's never too late to try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is 100% bran and brings sure, natural relief from constipation. Because it is a bulk food it sweeps the intestine clean and stimulates normal action. Results guaranteed. Two tablespoonfuls daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend it.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is ready to eat with milk or cream. Try the recipes on the package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, dining-cars and restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

FACTS SOUGHT IN TUNNEY SUIT

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 14.—(INS.)—Attorneys for John S. Fogarty, former Fort Worth, Tex., plumbing contractor, are expected here next Monday to take depositions to be used in Fogarty's $500,000 alienation of affections suit against Gene Tunney, retired world's heavyweight champion.

Katherine King Fogarty, former wife of the plumbing contractor, also has brought suit for $500,000 against Tunney, charging breach of promise.

Fogarty's lawyers, headed by Charles J. Martin, of Bridgeport, Conn., hope to find evidence here of Tunney's association with Mrs. Fogarty. Several prominent citizens, including Mayor Leo P. McLaughlin and Judge V. S. Ledgerwood, both friends of the former champion, officials of several local hotels, and "one or two women" have been subpenaed to appear in the law offices of Martin, Wooton & Martin, local attorneys representing Fogarty, it was learned.

Special efforts are being made by Fogarty's lawyers to learn of the activities of Mrs. Fogarty and Tunney in October, 1923, the same month in 1924, and in February, March and April of 1925, when, hotel registers show, they were in Hot Springs.

The depositions will be sent to Bridgeport, where the suits were filed, when completed.

TWO ARE HELD AFTER RAID

Two men, charged with keeping disorderly houses were held for court by Magistrate John J. Sweeney in South Side Police Court yesterday.

James Chan, whose home at 2913 Carson street, was raided by Capt. Dennis Hennessy and squad, revealed a quantity of moonshine, it was testified. Thirteen gallons of moonshine was found, police said, in the home of Joseph Long, 1740 South Eighteenth street extension. The latter raid was made by Lieut. James B. Earley and squad of the South Side Police Station. Milton Hein and Walter Butler, arrested in Chan's home on a charge of visiting a disorderly house, were discharged by the magistrate.

Bomb Explodes As Carrier and Cow Collide

HYDERABAD, India, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—A Hindu was in collision with a cow in the streets here and the Hyderabad city editors got a piece of news because the collision was followed by a tremendous explosion.

The Hindu, who was seriously injured, was taken to a hospital where he told the mystified police that he had been carrying a bomb in his pocket.

Though he did not give a reason for carrying it, police believe him to be an agitator. Dispatches fail to tell what happened to the cow.

TRAIL BANDITS HOLDING PRIEST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Local Chinese authorities at Hankow are making every effort to secure the release of the Rev. Mathias Kreutzin, a Franciscan father attached to the Catholic Mission at Wuchang, who was captured by bandits November 8 at Weiyuenkow.

Consul General Frank P. Lockhart, at Hankow, informed the State Department that the authorities are conducting a military expedition against the bandits who are said to be a part of a band of Anwhei troops formerly belonging to Gen. Feng Cheng Wu. They are understood to have proceeded inland from the point where the capture occurred.

Father Kreutzin, according to State Department records, was born at Calumet, Mich., and formerly lived at Cleveland, O.

Weather Conditions.

The low pressure area remained nearly stationary during the last 24 hours. The center is still over middle Tennessee and Alabama. Cloudy weather continues over the entire eastern half of the country, and rain is falling over much the greater portion. The rainfall was light except over the Ohio Valley, where it was moderately heavy. The Northwest low has advanced to Manitoba. It is causing cloudy weather over that section, but no rain. The high pressure area that covers the western states is diminishing in intensity, and the cold weather is moderating slowly.

River Conditions.

Light rains over the river basins have checked the falling rivers and started a slow rise in some places. Stage at Franklin is 1.6 feet; Lock No. 7, 11.5; Pittsburgh, 11.3; Dam No. 2, 7.1; Dam No. 6, 7.7; Dam No. 9, 9.0, and Dam No. 12, 5.9. The dams are up. Rain is expected over the entire district today and tonight, and probably Friday, which will result in rising rivers.

AUTO HITS FIRE PLUG, 3 HURT

Two men and a woman were injured when an automobile crashed into a fire plug at the south end of the Liberty Tubes at 3 a. m. today. They were Albert C. Walsh, 35, and John Crinnons, 33, both of 4615 Fifth avenue, and Helen Hoar, 25, of 234 Forty-third street.

Walsh, who was driving, was treated at South Side Hospital and later released to police, who charged him with reckless driving. Crinnons and the woman were detained at St. Joseph's Hospital, where their injuries were said to be slight.

PROCURES WRIT FOR RECORDS

William M. Brown procured a writ of alternate mandamus from Judge John A. Evans in Common Pleas Court, ordering W. S. Brown, Inc., and Edward A. Brown, president, to allow him free access to the laws, rules and regulations of the corporation. William M. Brown, in his petition, averred that he has been denied access to the by-laws, locked in the safe of the corporation.

He stated that he is the owner of 800 shares of the corporation and desired to dispose of them, but that he was unable to give required notice as he was unable to ascertain the requirements because of his inability to examine the by-laws. A hearing was fixed for tomorrow.

NERVES WERE WRECKED

"My nerves were on edge from the pain in my feet. High heels and ill-fitting shoes were the cause of my trouble. But at last I found shoes that brought relief."

You can't hide foot trouble. It is expressed in every move you make in every step you take.

But why let such torture go on? Here's positive, sure relief from foot suffering!

Ground Gripper shoes will help you . . . just as they have helped thousands of others. They will free delicate tissues from friction and pressure and will permit your foot muscles to function, freely and naturally . . . just as nature intended.

Wear Ground Gripper shoes regularly and you'll banish forever all footaches and pains.

Let us explain the three vital principles.

5,000 DEALERS IN TIRE MERGER

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Five thousand independent retail automobile tire dealers, by two mergers in their principal trade organizations, plan to enter "big business" through a nation-wide purchasing and distributing corporation.

One merger was that of the Automobile Tire Dealers' Association, purchasing body for the Automobile Tire Dealers' League, with the United Tire Stores Corporation of America. The second merger was that of the Tire Dealers' League with the National Tire Dealers' Association. The mergers were announced at the annual meeting of the National Tire Dealers' Association yesterday.

The new corporation is expected to have purchasing power of at least $50,000,000, according to George J. Burger, of New York, its president. Burger asserted that no par stock would be offered, but that 5,000 subscription shares at $100 each would be offered to members of the Tire Dealers' Association.

Other officers of the corporation include S. B. Harper, of Fort Smth, Ark., and M. J. Barry, of Baltimore, vice presidents; Thomas J. Lane, of Jersey City, N. J., treasurer, and Thomas Barbee, of Louisville, secretary.

Alliance Aircraft Firm Closes Plant

ALLIANCE, O., Nov. 14.—With operations suspended due indirectly to the stock market slump, directors of the Alliance Aircraft Corporation are planning the sale of $200,000 preferred stock to finance the concern.

The closing down of the plant affected about 60 men. Fifteen men, department heads and those forming the nucleus of the organization, have been retained and will devote their time to assembling parts now on hand.

BEAT CHILDREN, GETS 3 YEARS

For whipping his stepchildren, Russell Anthony, 25, of Brackenridge, today was sentenced to serve three to six years in the Western Penitentiary.

"I am sorry the whipping post has been abolished," Judge Harry H. Rowand added after pronouncing sentence. "I would like to whip you myself."

Anthony pleaded guilty to assault and battery on Betty Louis Manross, 3; Thomas Manross, 5, and Robert Manross, 7.

C. C. Brooks, agent for the Humane Society, which prosecuted Anthony, testified the children were marked with welts from the beating.

Anthony's only defense was: "They wouldn't obey me."

Bad Check Passer Given 3½-Year Term

Judge H. H. Rowand, in Criminal Court today, sentenced Foster McElroy, 20, Negro, to serve three and a half years in the workhouse. McElroy pleaded guilty to passing numerous worthless checks on Homestead merchants for a total of $700.

$25 Check Bounces He Goes to Jail Shoeless

Shoeless, David Ford, 29, of Philadelphia, prepared to go to the workhouse today for 60 days.

Ford prevailed upon Jacob Schwartz, Homestead merchant, to cash a bouncing $25 check, out of which Ford bought a pair of shoes. When Ford was sentenced to 60 days today in Homestead Police Court Schwartz demanded and received the shoes.

BURGLAR TAKES OFFICER'S GUN

A grocery and a policeman's home were robbed last night, according to reports to the Detective Bureau.

A thief forced a rear window in the home of Patrolman John Snyder, rear of 1441 Penn avenue, and took Snyder's .38 caliber revolver, which was lying on a table.

Ben Bernstein reported that his store at 64 Van Brahm street was entered and cigarets valued at $40, groceries worth $50 and $30 in cash were taken.

BRITISH-MEXICO PACT IN 1930

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Replying to a question in the House of Commons about the work of the Anglo-Mexican special claims commission, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson said that the negotiations would be completed in the fall of 1930.

The British ambassador at Mexico City had reported that although the work might be finished early next year, it was more probable the commission would adjourn about Easter until autumn.

Henderson explained that no payments had yet been made by the Mexican government for any claims, because the form of such payments will be determined by both governments after the commission has finished work.

Man Shot by Son, 14, While Hunting Dies

William H. Sevin, 46, of Ambridge, Pa., died in the Presbyterian Hospital today from a gunshot wound, accidentally inflicted by his son, Stanford, 14, while hunting November 1, according to the coroner's report. The father called his son to bring him the gun and the latter fell over a fallen tree, causing the gun to be discharged. The accident happened in Economy Township, Beaver County.

Center Avenue Store Held Up, $22 Taken

Search is being made for two Negro bandits who shortly before 9 a. m. today entered the Ideal Radio Store, at 2128 Center avenue, held up Reed Jackson, a clerk, and escaped after robbing him of $22. Jackson was alone in the store at the time, he reported to detectives. Money in the cash register was not touched. The Negroes pointed revolvers at him, Jackson said, and ordered him to keep quiet while they frisked his pockets.

Conneaut Lake Park Appraisers Named

H. H. Denison and Foster J. Hartman were named appraisers of the Conneaut Lake Company, owners of an amusement park at Conneaut Lake, Pa., by Judge Nelson McVicar in Federal Court today on petition of R. J. MacDonald, receiver. An equity suit was filed against the company two months ago by Ralph F. Hirsch, a creditor.

BROAD STREET CHANGE URGED

At a hearing granted by City Council yesterday an East Liberty committee composed of Pat A. Flood, secretary of the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce, Police Magistrate A. D. Brandon and Frank G. Conley urged the widening of Broad street from Highland avenue to Negley avenue, rounding the corner of Wilkins and Fifth avenues and the sale of the abandoned fire engine house at Highland avenue and Broad street.

Conley declared he could organize a company of East Liberty business men who would pay $82,000 for the fire house.

Southern Air-Mail Service Announced

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Completion of an all-rail agreement with the Illionis Central railroad, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and the Continental Air Services, Inc., which will cut five hours and 40 minutes from the fastest all-rail time between Cincinnati, Louisville and New Orleans was announced today.

An overnight trip by rail and continuation of the journey by plane to New Orleans is the plan of the agreement. The trip will be made in 18 hours and 50 minutes from Cincinnati and in 15 hours and 25 minutes from Louisville.

He Wasn't Ghost —Only Resting; $10 Fine

Leon Fisher, Negro, 38, denied in East End Police Court today that he was a ghost.

A crowd, gathered at Penn and Center avenues last night, reported to Patrolman James A. Ryan that a ghost-like figure was flitting about on the second floor of a vacant corner building.

Ryan found Fisher huddled in a clothes closet.

Fisher explained to Magistrate William J. Scost that he had been drinking, that his feet had been bothering him, that all he wanted was a place to rest.

Ten dollars, or 30 days of unrest.

SAFED FIRED ON BY RAIDERS

JERUSALEM, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Heavy rifle fire from an unknown source was trained on Safed, northeast of Haifa, at 7:30 a. m. today and one soldier was wounded. Local troops replied and re-enforcements were hastened from Ross and Pinah.

Amored cars proceeded in the direction of the firing but no raiders were discovered.

ELWYN SEEKS ANNEXATION

Elwyn district taxpayers of Baldwin Township today presented a petition in Quarter Sessions Court for annexation to the City of Pittsburgh. The petition, offered by Attorney John J. McGrath, contained signatures of 5 per cent of the residents of this district adjoining Overbrook Borough.

The petition will be certified to Council. If a consent ordinance is passed by Council, the annexation will be presented to the voters. A previous attempt to join the city on a petition was defeated when objectors showed less than 60 per cent of the taxpayers were signers.

Fur Trader Silent On China Kidnaping

TIENTSIN, China, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Aaron Brenner, representative of an American fur trading company in China, who was recently kidnaped and held for ransom, has been unable or unwilling to reveal the details of the kidnaping. His brothers maintain absolute secrecy.

A blonde Russian woman named Vena Sverkoff, whose husband is a Japanese living in Dairen, was arrested in connection with the case, but she was released today after promising not to leave Tientsin and agreeing to appear when she was sent for.

How a Family Doctor made Millions of Friends

FIFTEEN years after his graduation, Dr. Caldwell became one of the best-known members of his profession. A single prescription made him famous. And for forty years it has continued to make friends.

As fast as people could tell others about the marvelous way this prescription corrects constipation and relieves other troubles caused by sluggish bowels, demand for it spread until Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it filled in quantities; bottled and distributed through drug stores.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. Millions of people would never think of using anything else when they're headachy, bilious, feverish, or weak; when breath is bad, tongue is coated or they are suffering from nausea, from gas, or lack of appetite, etc.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as you buy it from your drug store is made in accordance with the original formula from only herbs and other pure ingredients. It is pleasant tasting; its action is thorough in the most obstinate cases; gently effective for women and children. Above all, it represents a doctor's choice of what is safe for the bowels.

The TENDERNES$ and FLAVOR of A&P MEAT$ indicates their excellent quality....

Quality gives an A&P Steak its juicy tenderness and an A&P Roast its tempting flavor. Our Beef is "top grade," covered and interlined with creamy white suet which means so much to its flavor when prepared. Our Pork comes from tender, young porkers—and A&P Lamb is pink-boned—evidence of its youth.

A&P renders a real service to your community by placing this excellent meat well within reach of any pocketbook. Don't allow the low A&P meat prices to injure your respect for the quality of the meat. Compare an A&P Steak with the most expensive meat in town; only then can you appreciate the high standards of A&P selection.

A&P Meats are available in our large combination stores, where you will also find fresh Fruits and Vegetables and an extraordinary assortment of table delicacies.

★ Like other A&P Perishable foods, A&P Meats are handled by the "Time-Control Plan" which insures rapid scientific handling from the source of initial freshness to your table.

BOGUS CLAIMS CHARGED TO 2

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Charles H. Stark and Guy H. Thomas, both of this city, were arrested by state police, charged with defrauding the state by posing as farmers who claimed money for cattle killed after state-conducted tests had shown them to be tubercular. Although the amount alleged to have been falsely obtained by the two men was not specified, it was indicated the total would run into several thousand dollars.

Stark and Thomas are president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of Charles C. Stark Company, Inc., a local investment firm, and Thomas is a former clerk of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, Department of Agriculture.

The arrests are the first on this charge made in the state.

State police announced that both Stark and Thomas had confessed and that no other persons were involved in the transactions.

Attorney General Cyrus E. Woods, who will prosecute the case, said the men would be given a hearing tonight.

Penna. Supervisor Sent to Pittsburgh

OIL CITY, Pa., Nov. 14.—Effective Saturday, John J. Donegan, movement supervisor of the Pennsylvania Railroad for nearly two years, will be promoted to yardmaster at Island avenue, Pittsburgh. Donegan entered the service as telegraph operator on the Philadelphia Terminal Division in 1906. A. L. McLain, general yardmaster of the Pittsburgh Division, has been advanced to assistant trainmaster at Kittanning, on the Allegheny Division.

Life of Pittsburgh Fume Victim Saved

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14—(AP)—Charles Turner, 35, was found unconscious in a gas-filled apartment here, but a life-saving squad revived him after three hours' work. He was taken to the General Hospital. Other tenants of the building said Turner told them he came from Pittsburgh a short time ago and that he had been unable to find work.

JAPAN'S NAVAL CLAIMS BALKED

TOKIO, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Although official confirmation was unavailable, it was learned authoritatively today that Japan's claims for 70 per cent of American strength in cruisers carrying 8-inch guns have met with a discouraging reception, both in London and in Washington.

Recent diplomatic correspondence from those capitals has been a closely guarded secret at the foreign office, but this afternoon's papers gave prominence to reports of an Anglo-American tendency to reject the Japanese ratio claims, arousing editorial criticism, which also appeared to be cropping out in some official circles.

While it was officially denied that they were meeting in connection with the receipt of unfavorable reports from Washington and London, it was noteworthy that Premier Hamacuchi, Foreign Minister Shidehara, Kyo Takarabe of the admiralty, and other advisers were closeted this afternoon discussing the prospects of the London naval conference.

An unconfirmed report which the afternoon papers published was to the effect that while Great Britain was prepared to agree to Japan's desire for a 70 per cent 8-inch gun cruiser ratio towards Great Britain, Japan would have to be content with a 60 per cent ratio towards the United States.

Peoples Gas Plan To Sink Five Wells

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 14.—Further indications of increased drilling in Greene county gas field was seen here when employes of the Peoples Natural Gas Company, of Pittsburgh, made locations for five new wells. All of the locations are in the eastern section of the county, where recent gas strikes have caused much additional acreage to be taken under lease.

Early Principal Dies at Scranton

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 14.—Dr. H. S. Phillips, 84, one of the early principals of the Connellsville schools, is dead at Scranton, according to word received here. After quitting teaching, Dr. Phillips practiced for many years as a physician. He later organized the Pentecostal Church at Scranton and elsewhere in the East. He was born at Canonsburg, Washington County.

Humorist Speaks To St. David Society

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 14.—Strickland Gillilan was the speaker last evening at the annual banquet of St. David Society, attended by 300. The Rev. J. F. Sittler, of Zanesville, president of the Synod of Ohio, United Lutheran Church, was the principal speaker at a rally of Lutheran brotherhoods, held at St. Luke's Lutheran Church. Dr. W. J. Kratz, pastor of St. Luke's, presided.

Eczema Caused Disfigurement and Loss of Sleep. Cuticura Healed.

"I was troubled with eczema which broke out in pimples and a rash. My skin was very rough and scaly. After a time the scales fell off, leaving a sore surface upon which the scales formed again. It caused disfigurement, also itching, burning and loss of sleep.

"I tried different remedies but instead of getting better it got worse. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I got relief almost immediately. I purchased more and in five weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) George E. Corbett, Jr., 5232 Lytle St., Hazelwood Sta., Pa., March 20, 1929.

STOMACH TROUBLE ?

"DIASTATIC DEFICIENCY" (failure to digest starches), causes more than one-half the cases of stomach trouble. Because of this deficiency, starchy foods remain in a semi-solid condition and refuse to move on as they should. This stoppage causes INDIGESTION, GAS, FERMENTATION, SOURNESS, SICK HEADACHE and other common troubles.

"TOO MUCH ACID" is the cause of almost all the remaining half of our stomach troubles.

ACIDINE is the FIRST COMPLETE REMEDY for STOMACH TROUBLE—an ANTI-ACID, STARCH DIGESTANT, MEAT DIGESTANT. Sold by your druggist under a money-back guarantee to help in YOUR case.

MADE WONDERFUL CHANGE IN HIM

Relates How Ten Herbs, Famous Natural Medicine, Swept Away Ailments.

Thousands of men and women have been astonished at the promptness and thoroughness with which Ten Herbs, the famous new natural medicine, works when taken into the ailing human system. Each of its ten wonderful herbal ingredients acts on one or more organs, going to the source of ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Working together, they cleanse and invigorate the whole human system, and put an end to rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Get a bottle of Ten Herbs today from your druggist and start on the road to health.

"Three bottles of Ten Herbs certainly made a wonderful change in me," said Mr. Martin Joyce, 306 Lamasco Avenue, Beechview, Pa., (near Pittsburgh). "My kidneys caused me the most trouble. There were severe pains across my back, and I had to arise three or four times a night. In the morning I would be so stiff that I could hardly get out of bed. I was always taking something for constipation. Nervousness kept me from sleeping properly at night. I seemed to be bilious, as a drowsy feeling would often come over me.

"After taking Ten Herbs, I felt like a new man. My kidneys began to work as they should. The pains left my back, and I no longer had to get up at night. I could sleep the whole night through, as nervousness was ended. My bowels were regulated, and biliousness disappeared. Food had a better taste. My whole system seemed to undergo a thorough cleansing, and I felt better and stronger in every way. You can always depend on me to give Ten Herbs a strong recommendation."

Ten Herbs is a splendid tonic for every member of the family, and is especially beneficial to men and women advanced in years. Remember, every claim made for Ten Herbs is backed by a mass of evidence on file, including signed statements of people of this city and vicinity.

Ten Herbs is sold at all drug stores in Pittsburgh and by all druggists throughout this entire section.

NUMBER 4 OF A SERIES

Have You $1000?

If not, how would you like to have that amount?

One of our sixteen "Prosperity Handbooks" is entitled "How to Get your first $1000." It not only tells you how, but also shows you how to go on to other, higher goals.

Many of our savers are on their way to their first $1000 goal. We want to help them get there. That is why we offer this Handbook.

If it can help you, or some one in whom you are interested, ask at Window Number 7, in the bank lobby for "Handbook Number 8."

While there, inquire also for folder describing all of our sixteen "Prosperity Handbooks." Boys, girls, fathers, mothers, industrial workers, clerks, stenographers,—there is a "Prosperity Handbook" that fits right into the hopes and aspirations of every individual.

A Bank prospers when its depositors get ahead in the world. It is quite logical, therefore, for this Bank to offer guidance and encouragment to its great family of depositors.

"How can I reach the goal of Independence?" Here is one bank that can give its depositors the answer in a neatly printed pocket guide, which they may study at leisure. Ask at Window Number 7 for a descriptive list of our "Prosperity Handbooks."

If you are not now a depositor with us, we invite you to open an account.

"More Than 500 Money-Saving Stores From Coast to Coast"

couldn't remain stationary at any of them, but I don't know what it was.

For a little while I attended the Newman school in Lakewood, but my education was gleaned chiefly from tutors.

As my interest in mechanics grew, Father permitted me to fix up the playhouse on our Syosset estate as a machine shop and I devoted myself to making and remaking machinery. So far I've done nothing spectacular, but my ambition is that some day I shall invent something worth while.

I did make a tractor that we used on the estate for awhile. But it wasn't perfect. I'm chiefly useful in repairing our machinery.

Simple—Natural

Mother has more than 30 servants, and I know few of them. But when Adelaide Ingebretsen was engaged as chambermaid last February she captured my interest.

She was simple, natural and sweet—quite unlike the average girl. In her I found a wealth of sympathy and understanding. She visited me frequently in my shop and took an active interest in it.

In October she left—but we were engaged.

We did not ask my parents' consent to our marriage because we knew they wouldn't give it. They wouldn't understand that was all. They'd believe Adelaide wanted money. Only I knew that she didn't—and doesn't now.

A week ago yesterday, in the evening, we went to the house of Rev. H. K. Robinson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Oyster Bay, having previously procured a license in Brooklyn. He married us without recognizing my name.

Room Over Store

Then we took a room over a hardware store in Oyster Bay.

Daily, since our marriage, I have gone to my shop and worked, returning to our little room at night.

Once, the evening after our marriage, we called on my parents together. They were kind, but did not sanction the marriage—which didn't surprise us at all.

Now we are going south in the car. We may be gone all winter. We may never return. Neither of us has traveled except Adelaide, of course, when she came to this countrq.

We will eventually live in a simple cottage, like other mechanics' families.

My wife will have no servants, for I do not wish it. She will not enter society. She will not use make-up.

She'll continue to be just Adelaide Ingebretsen, and I'll continue to be just a mechanic. If father cuts us off it may be necessary to earn our living that way.

You'll forget about us.

"And until my dying day I shall always remember the thrill I received when he replied:

"'I ask you, Adelaide, to marry me. I do not ask you to marry my family.'"

Jones, of Pittsburgh, was silent.

Young Willock, who is 22, is beneficiary of a $7,000,000 trust fund, but declares he wants to make his own way, and thinks he will open an automobile repair shop here when he returns from his honeymoon.

GIVES SON $1,000

Willock, Sr., yesterday talk to his son regarding his marriage. Before the son left the father's fashionable Fifth avenue home, the father handed him a check for $1,000—a wedding present, it was explained. Friends wondered if the stern father wouldn't forgive his son and welcome him back home.

But today it appeared that the breach between parents and son was as wide as when announcement of the latter's elopement to Oyster Bay a week ago was made by the son.

Willock Spurns Society For His Housemaid Bride

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Nov. 14.—William W. Willock, Jr., 22, potential heir to an estate of $120,000,000, greeted newspapermen today in his humble $5-a-week room over a vegetable store here.

Next to him stood his blonde Norwegian bride, who, a few weeks ago, as Adelaide Ingebretsen, was dusting furniture and making beds in the palatial Willock mansion at Syosset, near here.

"Adelaide is my ideal," Willock declared. "I knew the moment I laid eyes on her she was meant for me. I am sick of the cigaret-smoking, cocktail-drinking, short-skirted society girl, and I am tired of having a butler standing behind my chair."

"And I married my husband because I love him, not because he is a rich man's son," said the bride.

She revealed that her parents, residents of the fishing village of Stravanger, Norway, had not been informed of her marriage.

"We both love the great outdoors," continued the former Miss Ingebretsen. "We both believe that when a man and a woman fall in love no conventions should keep them apart.

"We have both found happiness and between us we can make a living. And as William goes on in his work we will save and have, for ourselves, everything his people could have give nus.

THRILLED BY PROPOSAL

"In my old home in Norway men of wealth do not marry girls who work as servants. When he told me he loved me, I felt frightened and fought at first against the dictates of my heart.

"I told him that such a thing could never be, that I was just a servant, and that he must follow the wishes of his parents when he chose a wife.

Like a flash pain stops, then Out Comes the Corn

Drop "Freezone" on that aching corn. Instantly it stops hurting; then shortly you lift the corn right off with the fingers. You'll laugh, really! It is so easy and doesn't hurt one bit. Works like a charm, every time.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs only a few cents at any drug store, and is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn and callouses. Try it —today!

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Colds Dont Neglect them

Take the recognized standard remedy—Grove's Laxative BROMO QUININE. Taken by more people than any other remedy for colds—It is reliable and safe.

HAD RHEUMATISM 12 YEARS UNTIL SHE GOT KONJOLA

New and Different Medicine Ended Pittsburgh Lady's Long Search for New Health.

What is the secret of the amazing demand for this new Konjola? Why has this medicine become the most talked-of medicine in the nation, the medicine with more than a million friends?

MRS. JAMES HOWARTH

Again and again these and similar questions are asked by those who have not as yet had personal experience with this new and different medicine. The answer may be expressed in three words—Konjola makes good! This medicine made good for Mrs. James Howarth, 52 McBride Street, Pittsburgh, although she had suffered no less than twelve years with rheumatism and kidney trouble, of which all other medicines she had tried had failed to relieve her. Strange as it may appear, Konjola seems to be at the very peak of its power when pitted against the most stubborn and obstinate cases—troubles that have held on for years, defying everything that was done to relieve them. Get acquainted with Konjola and its record of amazing results by talking with the nearest Konjola Man. There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and another at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh, where they are at the service of all who wish information about this medicine. Now read Mrs. Howarth's story, just as she told it to a Konjola Man a few days ago:

"At last, after twelve years of searching for a medicine that would relieve that dreadful ailment, rheumatism, and kidney trouble, I have found relief in Konjola, and I will always praise this marvelous medicine.

"Rheumatism was so terrible that I could hardly walk and was unable to do any of my housework because of the dreadful pains in my lower limbs and arms. My kidney trouble kept me awake at night, and I would have to get up several times—some nights as many as ten. I was so nervous I could not rest, and my condition kept growing worse. For twelve years I spent dollar after dollar for medicine and treatments, but did not get any lasting results.

"I heard a great deal about Konjola and the marvelous results people were obtaining from it, and finally decided to try it. I certainly am grateful to this medicine that did for me what so many other medicines had failed to do. I now can do all of my housework without any pain or suffering. I no longer have to get up during the night, but enjoy sound, restful sleep. I feel stronger and better in every way. I urge all my friends who need a good medicine to try this wonderful Konjola and feel certain that what it did for me it will do for all, as mine was a severe and stubborn case."

All Konjola asks is a chance to make you well. It welcomes the severest test.

There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and one at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh, where daily they are meeting the public, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

BEAVER ZONING LAW ATTACKED

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 14.—Validity of Beaver's zoning ordinance may be tested as a result of the decision of the Zoning Board of Adjustment in refusing a permit to John T. Taylor to erect a service station at the southwest corner of Third and Beaver streets.

The Zoning Board ruled the plot is in a residence section.

Taylor maintains that since an undertaking establishment was permitted under an order of the court, it is a business district.

Residents of the fashionable Third street section are awaiting the outcome. Taylor, president of the Beaver Valley Water Company, lives within the square and opposed the location of the undertaking parlors.

PITTSBURGHERS OFF TO EUROPE

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Leaving for a brief winter vacation abroad, in order to return home in time for the Christmas holidays, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Binns, and Father John Cullinan, of Pittsburgh, sailed for Europe yesterday in the S. S. Aquitania, bound for Cherbourg and Southampton. Mr. and Mrs. Binns will disembark at the Southampton port, and will then visit the principal countries of the continent. They had a number of notable personages as fellow passengers, including Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State.

Others who sailed in the giant Cunarder were: Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and Capt. George W. Steele, U. S. Naval attache at Paris. This is the last sailing for the Aquitania until January 8, as the ship will be overhauled at Southampton during the next seven weeks.

Only the new VICTOR-MICRO · SYNCHRONOUS RADIO has the superb Victor tone

HERE'S the most amazing tribute ever paid a radio instrument! More than 45,000 of the first Victor owners have voluntarily written to us: "Victor-Radio leads on every count . . . Victor TONE QUALITY defies comparison!"

Only Victor can meet this severest test of all: Turn Victor-Radio on full—and listen! No other radio can give you such tone perfection . . . even at the peak of power! In no way need you make the slightest allowance . . . because Victor micro-synchronous Radio TONE QUALITY is flawless at any volume. Listen, and compare with any radio at any price.

And only Victor-Radio brings you that freedom from distorting noises without the dulling of high and low notes which inevitably results when hum is reduced in defiance of electrical research and experience.

The new Victor-Radio is the crowning triumph of more than 30 years of unquestioned leadership in acoustic science—the science of TONE. With Victor-Radio you take no chances—you are assured of matchless entertainment for years to come.

You can have Victor-Radio separately. Or Victor-Radio with the amazing new Electrola . . . that will give you the music you want when you want it, at the mere turn of a tiny knob.

Now three exquisite Victor cabinets bring you the practical advantages of custom design—at a price you can afford. Radio-Victor Corporation of America, Camden, N. J., U. S. A.

Seth Parker's Understudy On Air Here Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

"SETH PARKER" has an understudy in Dave Olsen, the Knoxville youth who plays the title role in "Seth Parker's Singing School."

Gladys Rice

About 7:30 tonight, when WCAE puts the second episode of this feature on the air the original "Seth Parker," Phillips H. Lord, will tune in at his office in New York to see how his "double" plays the part.

The reason—last week when Lord was here, folks about the studio had difficulty distinguishing the voices of Lord and Olsen and it took a peep into the studio to convince.

If Lord and George Frame Browne, the "Matt Thompkins" of Real Folks, sound alike, where must our prodigy rate in the category of "down east" voices?

Gladys Rice who is to radio what Mary Pickford was to the screen, will visit us for an hour during the Sunshine program through WCAE at 8 p. m. when Rudy Vallee, Marcella Shields, and Graham McNamee will paint for us the picture of New York night club life.

A beautiful, entrancing selection for piano duo has been chosen by Ohman and Arden as part of the Lehn and Fink Serenade, KDKA at 8. It is "Rustle of Spring."

We'll have a little Spanish, KDKA at 8, and hotsy-totsy football songs over WJAS at 10.

The South Hills High School Symphony, playing over KQV at 8, will be announced by Adrian R. Cooper, an honor graduate, who is now program director of that station.

We Now Present

Mildred E. Hixon is the blue-eyed blonde who directs you this way or that at KDKA.

Brian McDonald, who one time managed WJAS and sang solos when the artists failed to show up, has finished a news reel talkie out in Hollywood.

BEAT THIS: Warner Brothers give free tickets for the best criticism of their Monday night revue over WCAE. A week ago no revue was presented but the following morning's mail brought more than 100 letters commenting on the "excellent program given last night."

Asked where she would sit at the Pitt-Tech game, Marian Catlin, radio pianist-singer, replied that she didn't know. Two of the stars hail from her home town of Mars and are on opposing teams, Josh Williams of Pitt and Dutch Eyth of Tech are the gentlemen.

"She'll sit on the fence," chimed in Janet King, young artist at the pioneer station, who is one of local radio's most versatile females. Janet paints, plays the piano, composes and sings. Recently she joined the Art Institute of Pittsburgh.

"Tony" Wakeman has his tickets for the Pitt-Penn State game Thanksgiving morning. "Tony," still recuperating from a broken ankle, would like very much to be in the Freshman game or to handle the "mike" if Pitt authorities decide to have the game broadcast.

A new stenog at KD is Mary Margaret Berry of North Braddock.

TODAY'S TID BIT:
"Dutch treats" have become a regular morning pastime with the boys at the KDKA short wave station. Hardly a day goes by that they don't rebroadcast Holland.

Here's the PICTURE STORY of VIBRA-CONTROL

THE AMAZING FADA ACHIEVEMENT THAT HAS REVOLUTIONIZED RADIO RECEPTION

1 Radio's most baffling problem has been the complete control of vibration to eliminate after-tones, roars and unwanted interference with the true sound waves. Now, thanks to Fada, Vibra-Control is an accomplished fact... and here's how Fada did it.

2 First Fada perfected a super sensitive, super-selective receiving circuit using every important radio advance such as screen grid tubes, 245 power tubes in push-pull amplification, power detection, etc., to cut thru interference and bring in programs clean-cut and clear.

3 Then Fada developed a new dynamic speaker to deliver the full power of the programs without distortion, placed it in cabinets and consoles that were scientifically engineered for tone qualities... and Fada tone became famous.

4 But Vibra-Control was only possible when Fada had co-ordinated these three perfect units by locating each point of vibration, with the aid of the Stroboscope, and gradually eliminating all unwanted vibrations from the receiver, speaker and console.

5 ... and, oh, what a difference ... for now every note, every gradation of tone was reproduced exactly as broadcast... absolutely life-like... for nothing is lost, nothing distorted, nothing added ... true tone realism at last. Overnight Vibra-Control shattered all previous standards of radio reception.

6 Here's the popular Vibra-Control Fada 25. It uses screen grid tubes and the new 245 power tubes in push-pull amplification. Fada full power dynamic speaker in tone tested cabinets.

HIGHBOY $165 LESS TUBES

ONLY Fada has Vibra-Control... the secret of true tone realism. You can hear these remarkable sets at your Fada dealers, where they are displayed in a wide range of models, priced from $99.50 to $675.00. (Slightly higher west of the Rockies and in Canada.)

FADA ON THE AIR
Hear the Fada Orchestra with David Mendoza conducting broadcast every Tuesday night at 10 o'clock, Eastern Standard Time, from Station WJAS—Pittsburgh—232.4 meters.

Pythian Gets Jewel While Sick in Bed

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 14.—Ill at his home and unable to take part in special services at which he was to be honored by the Knights of Pythias lodge, Joe Durbin, of Sharpsville, was presented with a 50-year jewel by the fellow members of the lodge while he was confined to his bed. On December 5, John Lewis and George Dresch, of Sharon, will receive jewels.

Film Tax Adviser Given 2½ Years

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Miss J. Marjorie Berger, Hollywood income tax counsellor, was sentenced by the Federal Court to two years and six months in the Federal penitentiary for women at Aldeson, W. Va. In addition she was fined $5,000, both penalties being the result of her recent conviction for aiding in falsification of the income tax return of Dorothy Mackaill, screen actress.

THE BEST IN RADIO
THE BEST IN RADIO — BOSCH RADIO

and proves it
SCREEN-GRID BOSCH RADIO

It is the engineering efficiency expressed in Screen-Grid Bosch Radio that has made it the startling success of the year. Bosch Radio is engineered to the new screen-grid tubes — it has a balance of reception impossible by any less perfected method of construction. Grandeur of tone is outstanding in Bosch Radio. Its definition, its ease of tuning, its day in and day out performance have established a new standard of quality performance in radio. Bosch Radio employs three screen-grid tubes, a power detector, two audio amplifiers in push-pull and a power rectifier—seven tubes in all. With Screen-Grid Bosch Radio you can penetrate strong locals and tune-in the distant stations you desire. See and hear Screen Grid Bosch Radio — note the desirability of the cabinets. Bosch is quality radio but not high priced—and your Bosch Dealer can prove it.

Bosch Radio Combination Receiver and Speaker Console embodies Screen-Grid quality radio in an inexpensive combination of charming individuality. Chosen woods and veneers combined with rich carving make this console one of beauty. It has electrodynamic operation. Price less tubes $168.50

FRITZ LEIBER WRITES OF HIS CHICAGO CIVIC THEATER SHAKESPEARE PLANS

By GEORGE SEIBEL

FRITZ LEIBER, that fine Shakespearean actor who came to Pittsburgh last season for the first time as a star by his own light, writes me some news about Shakespeare in Chicago. Once upon a time a clergyman author wrote a book entitled "If Christ Came to Chicago." That experiment was never tried, but Shakespeare arrived there last Monday and will remain for at least three months.

George Seibel

Laugh as you like about the Windy City. It has withstood many campaigns of libel. They used to talk about the big feet of the Chicago ladies, and now they jeer at the bullet-proof vests of the men. But where else have they a Civic Shakespeare Society with a program of 12 weeks?

"Hamlet" opened last Monday. It will be followed by a week of "Julius Caesar." Then comes "The Merchant of Venice." Next is "Macbeth." Another week will be devoted to "Othello," and then a week of mixed repertoire from these five plays.

The second six weeks begin with "The Taming of the Shrew," followed by "Twelfth Night." After that comes "Richard III." Next is "As You Like It." The last play will be "King Lear," and another week of mixed repertoire concludes the season.

That is a fine display of culture for a town so far from Stratford. It almost justifies our calling it Chicago-upon-Avon.

LEIBER A NATIVE SON

Fritz Leiber is a native son of Chicago, but that hardly has anything to do with it. They had a new Civic Opera Building, with a fine Civic Theater in the north end—so the Civic Shakespeare Society was a logical outgrowth.

In the list of the directors, or whatever the sponsors may be called, I note the names of Booth Tarkington and Meredith Nicholson. From which it would appear that Chicago has now taken in another ward, and Indianapolis has become a suburb.

And in the list of players I note the name of Tyrone Power. From which it would appear that the company has been built of first-class material, for Power is one of America's best-known actors of the classic school.

This Chicago Civic Shakespeare Society must be taken seriously. Fritz Leiber writes that the new theater building is a gem, and the public interest marvelous.

He also writes that he does not intend to neglect Pittsburgh, which took him to its heart last season in such cordial fashion. He will come this way in February or March.

THE BARD IN GERMANY

At the same time comes news from another center of culture—Weimar in Germany, where Goethe and Schiller used to rule the Rialto for Duke Karl August. The German Shakespeare Society has its headquarters in Weimar, and issues an annual report of 300 pages.

One of the features of this report is the list of Shakespearean plays produced in Germany during the year.

Last year only 26 of the 37 plays were produced, with a total of 1,586 performances. "Twelfth Night" was the most popular of all the plays, followed by "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "The Merchant of Venice."

"Romeo and Juliet" was most popular among the tragedies, followed by "Hamlet."

Even "Love's Labor's Lost" had two performances. One of the apocryphal plays, "The London Prodigal," was given 65 times.

And they are beginning to put Shakespeare on the radio over there. Evidently the Bard is not yet dead either in Chicago or on the Rhine.

GUILD COMES, MARX BOYS TO STAY

Seats go on sale at the box office of the Nixon today for "Wings Over Europe," the Theater Guild's prophetic melodrama by Robert Nichols and Maurice Browne. In this play the authors play upon the possibility that in the near future man will discover how to release the gigantic forces imprisoned in the atom and use them for his own good purposes.

The Four Marx Brothers will open a second week's engagement in the Alvin Monday in "Animal Crackers." Seats are now on sale for all the remaining performances.

"The Humming Bird," next week's presentation of the George Sharp Players in the Pitt, is a story of a notorious Parisian apache. Harland Tucker and Suzanne Cubaye will play the leads.

In Talk Debut

"So Long, Letty," marking the talking screen debut of another stage actor, Charlotte Greenwood, will open as the film attraction in the Stanley tomorrow. On the stage Dick Powell will present "Bubbles."

Charles Ruggles, a featured comedian in many musical comedies and farces on the stage, has an outstanding role in "The Lady Lies," which comes to the Penn Monday. Other principals are Walter Huston and Claudette Colbert.

Billie Dove comes to the Enright Saturday in her latest all-talking production, "The Painted Angel." On the stage Jay Mills' presentation will be "Thanksgiving Jubilee."

New Lloyd Comedy

Harold Lloyd's first talkie, "Welcome Danger," will open in the Aldine Monday. Comedian Lloyd has the role of an amateur sleuth and much of the action takes place in a Chinatown atmosphere.

"The Virginian," starring Gary Cooper, Richard Arlen, Mary Brian and Walter Huston, begins a second week in the Grand today.

Eddie Kane, whose impersonation of Florenz Ziegfeld in "The Broadway Melody," is said to have delighted the famous Follies producer, is cast again as a theatrical magnate in "Street Girl," all-talking Radio picture, which will open a second week in the Sheridan Square Saturday.

Still At It

Claudette Colbert, stage actress, is still at the movie making. Now she is coming to town—to the Penn Monday—in "The Lady Lies."

Song and Dance

"Married in Hollywood," a song, talk and dance picture, will begin an engagement in the Harris Saturday. There will be vaudeville acts, with Victor Graff as master of ceremonies, on the stage.

"Jazztime Revue," with Kitty Madison featured, will open a week's engagement in the Academy Sunday night with a midnight show.

"Married Love," the stage presentation of Dr. M. Sayle Taylor, will go into its third week in the Gayety on Monday. Next week's performances will be for women only.

Church Circles Will Hold Joint Session

The United Circles of Avalon Presbyterian Church will meet tomorrow night in the church social rooms with Group 2 in charge.

Additional Stage and Screen News Will Be Found on Page 24.

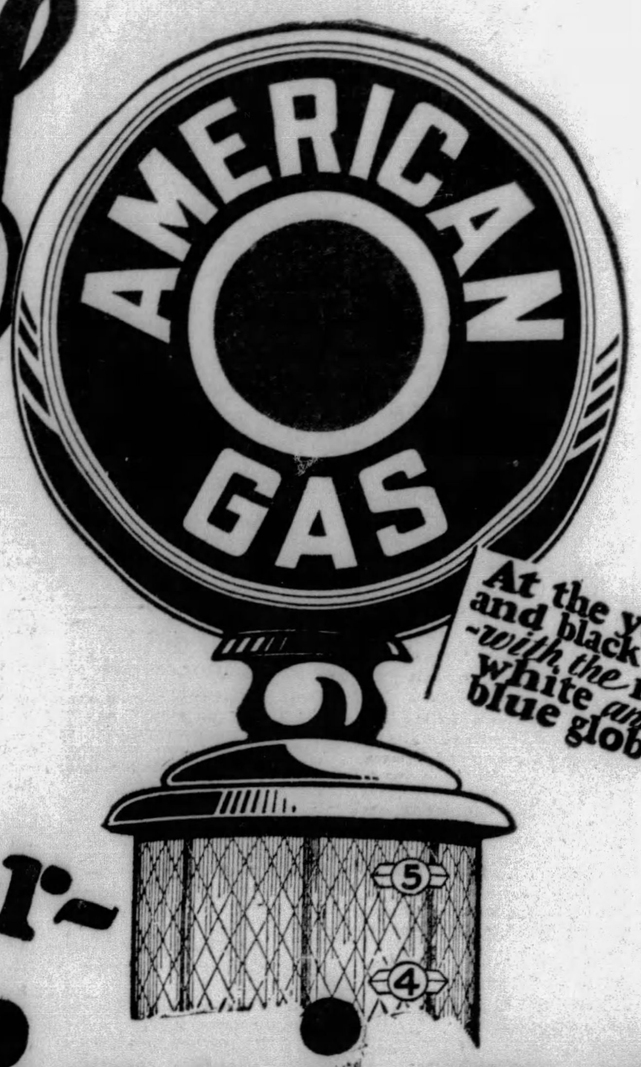
Great stuff for your motor- this "orange juice"



At the yellow and black pump -with the red white and blue globe

OLD cars, new cars, middle-aged cars -- they all get a new liveliness, a new sprightliness, a new get-up-and-go spirit on the very first trial of ORANGE AMERICAN GAS. And while it's great stuff for your motor, it's "bad medicine" for knocks! For this gas has an exceptionally high anti-knock rating--proven on a recognized laboratory-testing machine and by thousands of cars on the road. And it now costs no more than ordinary gasoline You can spot it by its orange color--but even if you bought it in the dark, you'd know it by the way your motor would snap into the job. Great stuff for your motor--and great stuff for your pocketbook, too. A super regular gas if there ever was one--this new ORANGE AMERICAN GAS! Five gallons from the nearest pump will be the clinching proof on that.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Washington Girls Guests At Lunch

WHAT with events of yesterday to talk over, and events of today to attend, society folks are busier than the proverbial bee. Yesterday there was Mary Moody Stevenson's tea, and today there's a wedding, that of Anna Margaret Snow, daughter of the George Snows and John Nusser Harper, son of the Alfred Mills Harpers, of Thornburg, and a luncheon.

FIRST of all I want to tell you about the delightful luncheon that Mrs. James West Arrott, III, and her sister, Priscilla Brown, are giving today in the Allegheny Country Club in honor of Caroline Gilbert Johnson, daughter of Capt. Alfred W. Johnson, of the United States Navy, and Mrs. Johnson, of Washington, and her sister, Elvira Johnson, who are visiting the James Elwyn Browns. Their son, James Elwyn Brown, Jr., is to marry Caroline, you know.

Priscilla Brown has just returned from a visit in the East, where she was the guest of Mrs. Frederick Thatcher, of Englewood, N. J.

I happen to know that autumn flowers are being used in the clubhouse, placed in vases here and there in the room and on the tables.

SELDOM have I seen the ballroom of the University Club decorated as attractively as it was yesterday for the debut tea of Mary Moody Stevenson, daughter of the Alan Cooper Stevensons, of St. James street. The lofty walls of the room were hung with southern smilax and autumn foliage with scarlet oak leaves and smilax shading all the lights.

The debutante's gift bouquets displayed against a background of southern smilax, sprays of silver leaves and here and there of cibotium ferns and bamboo, added vivid coloring to the scene. A box hedge of ferns and pompon chrysanthemums in yellow and bronze shades separated the orchestra from the room and an embankment of ferns and chrysanthemums enclosed the tea room. Large urns of yellow chrysanthemums were placed at the entrance, and the tea table was centered by a profusion of Scott Key roses and lighted by apple green tapers in silver candelabra.

The debutante, who received with her mother and her grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Wallace Smith, wore a quaint gown of tilleul yellow satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, and a full skirt, which swept the floor in the back. Tulle appliqued with an interesting design in the same shade of satin as the gown banded the skirt, and tulle bows tied at the elbows accentuated the uniqueness of the gown. She carried a nosegay of flowers in pastel shades, bordered and tied with yellow tulle.

Mrs. Stevenson was in Kelly green crepe, made with a high waistline, and long, tiered skirt with ecru lace at the neckline, forming a deep V in the back. Her hat was of green felt and her flowers were gardenias. Mrs. Smith was in deep purple velvet with a hat to match and with orchids for her flowers, and Peggy Lynn Stevenson, the bud's sister, who made her bow last year, in maured red crepe, fashioned very long with a circular band of the same material reaching from the shoulder to the waistline in back, and with circular flares of the same material placed on the long skirt. Her hat was of felt in the same shade.

I noticed Mrs. J. Daniel Berg there in a tea gown of English green chiffon with a felt hat in rust shade.

Margaret Berger, attractive debutante daughter of Mrs. William Arthur Berger, wore a striking gown of green transparent velvet, in keeping with the princess mode, made quite long with the drapery at either side reaching her ankles, and with an Eton jacket. Her hat was of green velour. And did you notice that her slippers were green, too?

Another bud aiding her sister debutante was Frances Reed, who chose a blue crepe de chine gown, featuring the new high waistline, and a long, circular skirt. Her hat was of felt in the same shade.

A severely smart dress of brown satin, moulded to the figure with a circular flare below the knees reaching to the instep, was worn by Frances Johnston. Her hat was a snug model in brown felt.

I saw Mrs. John Lloyd Uhler, in a black transparent velvet dress and black felt hat, talking to Mrs. Stevenson, and Mrs. Horace Forbes Baker, who was in black chiffon velvet with a hat to match.

Mrs. Stevenson named as her aids Mrs. W. Harry Williams, Mrs. Jeanette M. Stewart, Miss Alice Biggert, Mrs. Oliver Ledlie Smith, Miss Velma Wilson, Mrs. Andrew E. Sloan, Mrs. Horace Forbes Baker, Mrs. J. Daniel Berg, and Mrs. John Lloyd Uhler.

The debutante asked her sister, Peggy Stevenson, who came out last winter to aid her and Frances Johnston, Laura Evans, Virginia Wright, Frances Reed, Betty McCance, Margaret Rolfe Berger, Ruth Drake, Emily Frew, Jane Sloan, and Elizabeth Thomas.

THE Yale-Harvard game is attracting many of our buds. Ruth Drake, debutante daughter of the J. Frank Drakes, is in the East for a fortnight. And she'll visit in Wilmington, Del., and New York as well as attend the game.

Another one of our debutantes, Jane Sloan, daughter of the Andrew E. Sloans, who's at the Westover School, has been in New York with her mother.

AND I've just one more thing to talk over this morning. Mrs. Walter Cockrill Carroll will entertain with a buffet luncheon in her home on December 3 for Ruth Drake, debutante daughter of the J. Frank Drakes, of Pembroke place.

LAST evening in the Pittsburgh Club the William F. Morelands entertained with a dinner following the rehearsal for the Snow-Harper wedding today. Mrs. Moreland is the former Helen Snow, sister of today's bride.

THE CLINGING VINE INSPIRES THE MODE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The clinging vine is so sophisticated this season. Our reference is to those softly clinging frocks which by their clever draperies contrive to both conceal and reveal the figure. These dresses confer an extremely wordly appearance, and the woman who chooses one should not be misled by its deliberate simplicity. The remainder of her outfit should be most carefully chosen and her make-up should be natural rather than theatrical or else she might easily pose as a model for the vamp 1930 edition. And she who is a subtle siren never says so with clothes. And so the best way to wear these oh, so worldly, clothes is to be supremely unconscious of them or the effect that they create.

FOR your interest, we are sending a sketch of a very sophisticated evening dress chosen from the collection of the very clever Jenny. It is of clinging black crepe satin and is of course princess in silhouette. There are two shirred bows placed at each side low down on the skirt, the long ends of the two further back trailing for some length on the floor. The decolletage, as you will readily see, is very deep at the back, a feature found in the majority of these dresses that breathe sophistication.

REMINISCENT of the tang of the sea, or a brisk walk over the moors is the smart coat shown here from the ateliers of Bernard et Cie. It is of black and beige tweed with appliqued bands of beige at the collar and with a beige leather belt. Buttoned tabs trim the pockets and cuffs. This coat, so suitable for travel or sports wear, is a typical example of the tailored mode from a house that has long been famous for such models which win interest by correct fabrics and tailoring and an absence of all but essential details. What ever the mode, such coats season after season are purchased by women known for the suitability as much as the wealth of their wardrobe; women who know that to be correctly dressed is to be beautifully dressed.

Russ Handicraft Exhibit Like Old Fairy Tale

By PENELOPE REDD

JAMES MACKENZIE, responsible for the exhibition of handicrafts from the Russian Soviet government at Horne's, avers that there are 78,000 objects in his collection. He commenced his Odyssey about two years ago when he made the first exhibition at Berlin.

The exhibition is like an old fairy tale where the tsar talked with peasants, only that the tsar's part is but a ghostly whisper while the peasants clamor. The tsar's whisper is found in a tureen, a bonbon dish, and other ornate bijouterie of silver, gold, and enamel encrusted with semi-precious jewels — all confiscated treasure from the old palaces. The aristocratic souvenirs, however, are few and the peasant products are myriad.

Penelope Redd.

The lacquer work known as "palekh," made on a base of wood pulp, molded into box form by peasants, then taken to artists to paint, is the most sophisticated work included. The artists, influenced by both the Byzantine style of the ikon painting and the oriental mode of the Persion minatures, are only six in number; consequently, their product is limited.

A MORE common type of lacquer is the durable lacquer on wood called "knokfomsky." The lacquer is applied to all manner of utilitarian objects—bowls, cups, salters, and boxes are decorated in conventionalized floral design.

The great mass of the work included in the exhibition at Horne's represents the millions of peasants who now carve the same toys for the world that they have always carved for their own children dur-inging the long winter's night. The Russians seem to be instinctly workers in wood. Moreover, the government gives wood free to the peasants and buys the finest toys as well.

The toys are characterized by the quaintly grotesque as in the dolls from various provinces and by the fact that the majority of them are designed to move ingeniously.

JAMES MACKENZIE says that practically all of the wooden toys come from the district about Nizhni-Novgorod. Incidentally, he plans to reorganize the famous fair at that town for the Russians next season.

There are many textiles convertible to innumerable uses. The "Kylym" fabrics, for example, are woven in the Carpathian mountains in accordance with the customary desire to secure rugs from high places presumably free from insect pests. Many of the designs are oriental, while others strongly suggest the patterns used by Alaskan Indians.

Mr. Mackenzie had a group of merry shoes in brightly-decorated leather. He has just sent an American family of leather workers to teach the peasants American preferences. He was enthusiastic about directing the peasant to channels of production away from his native style to types suitable for American distribution. This may seem money for the moujik, but probably less amusement for the American.

IS YOURS A "WORKING" DENTIFRICE?

It's one thing to say "How I wish I had such charming teeth," and another thing to have your wish come true. It's a long, hard road—if you stick to the sweet, old-fashioned dentifrices. What your teeth need is a working tooth paste like PEBECO. Pebeco cleans as it whitens and checks "acid-mouth." You know by its distinctive taste that it is giving your teeth the help they need. Test it a week and you'll be a user for life.

New Face Powder Makes A Big Hit

Wouldn't you, too, like a face powder that will keep shine away—stay on longer—spread smoothly—not clog the pores—and always be so pure and fine? It is made by a new French Process and is called MELLO-GLO. It is surely a wonderful Face Powder. Just try MELLO-GLO.

Look Lovely Tonight

Sallow, Dingy Skin made Lovely —Coarse Pores become Fine— Stops oily skin, removes blackheads

Cremed Magnesia clears the skin in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach

The newest discovery in beauty culture is that cremed magnesia beautifies the skin instantly, in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of magnesia. And now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in banishing complexion faults with cremed magnesia. All you do is anoint your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face.

It reduces enlarged pores to the finest, smoothest texture. Being astringent, it drives away the telltale signs of age. It rejuvenates the skin so quickly that any woman can look lovely tonight, years younger.

And because it is so mild, it certainly is a blessing for fine, sensitive skins that soap so easily irritates and coarsens. It removes make-up and extracts impurities deep-set in the pores better than soap or cold cream. It changes dull, sallow skin to radiant clearness and fades out freckles better than a bushel of lemons.

Test it on those clogged nose pores that stand out so boldly. Let it whiten your neck. It will also keep your hands soft and white. To get genuine cremed magnesia, ask your druggist for Denton's Facial magnesia. Remember, five minutes works wonders. So get your magnesia today and look lovely tonight.

GUARANTEE

It's impossible for Denton's Facial Magnesia not to improve your complexion. But, should it fail to delight you, even after the very first application, your dealer is requested to refund your money at once without question.

DENTON'S CREMED Facial Magnesia

NOTE: Do not hesitate to try this marvelous skin treatment at once. Thousands of delighted women have written they could not believe anything so simple could be so wonderful. But they were convinced when they saw so many friends suddenly get lovely complexions.

MERCY FUND AT $196,206 FIRST DAY

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

A FEW glances at Pittsburgh: The North Side, once Allegheny, is laid out better than any other section of the city . . . Parts of it were once swell residential sections, containing the homes of steel barons, but practically all have moved away . . . Federal street still has the air of a midway, the flavor of a carnival . . . There you will still find the clothing salesman to drag you in if you dare stop and look at the window display . . . And in one spot a colored man, in uniform, passes out cards, on which are printed the likeness of upper and lower teeth, topped by the words: "Dr. Whooziz, one flight up." The ripples of the muddy Allegheny slap against a desolate shore . . . Abandoned or semi-ruined skiffs on the wharf, in the shadow of the bridges' piers, add somewhat to the lugubrious scene . . . A man with shabby clothes leans over a bridge rail and watches the flow of the water.

East Liberty: A riot of store fronts in a blaze of lights . . . For three squares it will match any similar stretch downtown . . . Commerce takes on a de luxe air . . . Even a window showing automobile tires happily misses the complete loss, usual in such displays . . . Artistic window trimmers must turn gray when they are told to dress up a tire window . . . East Liberty has lost little of its old liveliness . . . Young bloods, it is true, don't promenade so often as once they did, stopping at two or three famous and high class drinking bars, but other enterprises have filled the gap . . . Boys with money used to loaf around East Liberty, snubbing the downtown . . .

THE South Side: Still the heart of the local melting pot . . . There is a European air about the South Side than you find in any section . . . Here the Saturday night rush is something to conjure with . . . Former European peasants dress in great style . . . Boudoir caps on middle-aged women are common . . . They shop with basket on arm, boudoir cap on head . . . Heavy chains, carrying a cross or minature icons, stretch from the coat lapel to the top coat pocket of mustached Polishmen . . . In one section Mexicans, trying to learn the ways of the giant steel, mix with colored labor . . . Back alleys, loaded with two-story frames, gas-lighted, dim . . . A working girl on the steps entertaining a boy she wouldn't trade for a Rockefeller . . . A fat woman fills the second story window of one of the second-story windows, and while there's nothing in sight she watches and listens . . . Here and there amidst such surroundings there is still a fine house, occupied by old and well-to-do residenters who refuse to be crowded out by a strange influx . . .

The Downtown: A crazy-quilt of lighted signs . . . De luxe theaters ablaze . . . Cheaper theaters, stowed away in small places, still flash great sheets featuring the exploits in a western movie thriller . . . Blase ticket sellers looking bored . . . Young gentlemen standing on curbs, watching the passing parade . . . Giggling girls who laugh louder as they pass the boys . . . A Water street bum venturing as far north as Fifth avenue looks at the pancake maker in a restaurant window . . . One of the few horse drawn baggage trucks backs against a stage door entrance . . . In the lighted sections there is the suggestion of Broadway, but the faces of the crowd seem more settled, not so haunting.

LAWYERS SPLIT WITH POLICE, HOEY SAYS

Cell Sergeant Suspended As Police Board Takes Up Alleged Tip-Fee Practice

One cell sergeant was under suspension today as police inspectors met and discussed plans to stamp out the alleged practice of attorneys splitting fees with policemen and other city employes.

At a special meeting of the Police Trial Board, Inspector James Hoey, of the downtown district, told his fellow officers he has suspended Cell Sergt. William Flaccus, of Central Station, on charges made by Tony Mazza, 30, of McKeesport.

ATTORNEY SPECIFIED

Mazza was arrested two weeks ago on a morality charge, and was lodged in Central Station pending a hearing. He asked Flaccus for permission to use the telephone to call his attorney, Hoey said, but was refused the right unless the attorney called was one suggested by Flaccus.

Mazza did as directed and was held for court on serious charges, preferred by Rose Patti, 21, of 923 Bedford avenue.

PRISONER TELLS HOEY

"Mazza came to me," Hoey continued, "after he paid between $300 and $400 to the attorney as a fee for the Morals Court case only. For some time we have suspected policemen and police station employes of forcing prisoners to accept their friends as their attorney.

"The practice has been for the policeman and the attorney to split the fee. I have appealed to the Allegheny County Bar Association to help me stop this thing. They haven't co-operated yet.

"Last week," Hoey said, "several detectives became embroiled in a squabble because they couldn't agree on an attorney to call to defend a man arrested for robbery. And they're still not on speaking terms."

TWO AUTOS HIT, BREAK WINDOW

One man escaped serious injury, two automobiles were badly damaged and a large plate glass show window was shattered in an odd accident on West Liberty avenue, Dormont, yesterday.

According to the borough police, an automobile driven city bound by A. E. Stewart, of 1500 Grandwin avenue, Dormont, in order to avoid striking an automobile which was pulling out from the curb, struck the parked machine of J. P. Cotter, of 912 Parkside avenue, Dormont, then, swerving from the machine, drove into the showroom of the Davison & Wendell Motor Co., 3105 West Liberty avenue, breaking the 20x15 feet heavy plate glass window.

Mr. Cotter, a salesman of that motor company, working on the engine of his car when it was struck, was thrown to the store's brick wall and received slight injuries to his head.

Stewart and Walter K. Bulford, of Crane and Tropical avenues, Beechview, the latter the driver of the other car, were given tags, charged with reckless driving, for a hearing tomorrow before Burgess William S. Haddock.

Former Ohio Mission Head Dies Here

Miss Martha Shotwell, 76, of Cadiz, O., former president of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, of the Ohio Synod, Presbyterian Church, died early today at the home of her niece, Mrs. S. Parks McLaughlin, 74 North Bryant avenue, Bellevue. She suffered a cold while returning from New York, and pneumonia developed. Her body will be removed to Cadiz.

16 TRUE BILLS RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Negro Woman Must Face Trial on Forging Pension Checks; Counterfeit Charge

The first returns made by the Federal grand jury, sitting for the November term of court, consisted of 16 true bills charging 23 men and women with various offenses.

Mrs. Bessie Hays, Negro, rear of 2935 Bedford avenue, was charged in an indictment with forging and passing 23 government pension checks for $30 each, made payable to her aunt, Mrs. Mary E. Smith, widow of a Civil War veteran, who died two years ago. After the death of Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Hays received the checks and cashed them, according to government secret service operatives.

A true bill against Samuel H. Winer, a Frankstown avenue shoe merchant, charged him with misuse of the mails in sending false and fraudulent financial statements to firms for the purpose of acquiring credit and extension of credit. The offense occurred, according to the indictment, on August 17, 1927.

BOQUS QUARTERS

Cecil Paphalayil, a Costa Rican, in an indictment, was charged with possessing and passing counterfeit 25-cent pieces. At the time of his arrest by secret service operative He said he "won" them in a crap game in Wilkinsburg.

A true bill against John Leidwanger charges him with misuse of the mails by placing in the postoffice at Arnold, lottery tickets of the Great Canadian Loan Association, on May 16.

Two indictments were returned against Peter Skillpa. One charged him with transporting a stolen automobile in interestate commerce and the other with fraudulently representing himself to be an employe of the Monessen postoffice, under which representation he was accused of collecting money on the pretense of having C. O. D. packages.

MANN ACT CHARGE

W. R. Smythe, accused of unlawfully transporting Lillian Starnes, 17, from Fort Mills, S. C., to Pittsburgh, was indicted under the Mann act.

An indictment against Janie Easley and Robert Baggett, alias "Pie," were indicted under the Harrison narcotic act, in which they are charged with making three sales of morphine totally 605 grains. J. W. Baxter was indicted for placing nonmailable matter in the postoffice at Pittsburgh.

AUTO THEFTS CHARGED

James Hartford, James Falasco, Mike Pandolfo, Frank Palmeri, James Tolerico, Kenneth Beach, Roy Sterms, Alfred Hewison, Virgil Reynolds and Smiley J. Collins, were indicted on complaints charging them with violating the national motor theft act by transporting stolen automobiles in interestate commerce.

Salvatore Di Domenico, former teller in the foreign department of the Mellon National Bank, was indicted for alleged embezzlement and abstraction of funds and credits of the bank.

Fails to Appear, Forfeits $200 Bond

George Kachman, 40, of 401 Carson street, is out $200 due to his failure to appear before Magistrate John J. Sweeney in South Side Police Court yesterday. Kachman was charged with keeping a disorderly house when his home was raided by Lieut. James B. Earley and squad, Tuesday. Police said a small quantity of moonshine was confiscated. The $200 was placed as a forfeit for his appearance.

Hurt on Elevator, Sues for $20,000

Carolyn L. Biggs filed suit against Harry Davis in Common Pleas Court, asking $20,000 damages for personal injuries. Davis was lessee of the Fifth Avenue Arcade, 230 Fifth avenue, in which, she alleged, on August 5 last, she was seriously injured when an elevator started suddenly and threw her between the elevator and the floor.

P.R.R. Is Defendant In Suit for $50,000

James L. Carroll asked $50,000 damages from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court. He alleges that he suffered a fractured skull and other injuries when his foot caught in a hole at the top of steps leading from the Pennsylvania Station to Liberty avenue, January 26, last, and threw him down the steps.

ROWAND LEAVES FOR PARLEY

Judge Harry H. Rowand, who has been presiding in Criminal Court, leaves tonight for Philadelphia to attend a meeting of a committee appointed by Supreme Court Justice Robert Von Moschzisker at the Judicial conference held last June at Bedford Springs. The committee will pass upon two resolutions, recommending new laws governing murder cases.

One of the laws would make it discretionary with the trial judge as to whether separate trials should be given men indicted for the same murder. Under the present law severance must be granted upon application by the defendant.

The other resolution favors a law providing that prospective jurors in a murder trial shall be questioned b; the trial judge instead of by the attorneys.

The .im of this is to save time, as in rural counties several days is often taken up selecting a jury because of the great number of questions asked. In Allegheny County murder juries are often picked in from two to four hours because relatively few questions are asked.

County Must Pay $35,300 for Land

Heirs of Mrs. Margaret Notz were awarded $35,300 by a jury in Common Pleas Court yesterday for 22 acres taken by the county for the city-county airport along the Lebanon Church road, Mifflin township. The heirs had asked $75,000. The county board of viewers had fixed the price at $20,775 but the owners took an appeal.

Women's Flying School Opens Here Nov. 29

A woman's flying school will start November 29 at the Pittsburgh-Butler airport of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, it was announced yesterday. This, it is believed, will be the first woman's flying school in the state. Mrs. Louise Thaden, winner of the women's air derby, is working out the plan for the school.

While Mrs. Thaden will not give flying instructions, she will have charge of the students. Lieut. W. S. Rosenberger, A. E. Wilson and J. H. Neale will give the flying lessons.

Mrs. Thaden plans to give talks before girls' clubs and schools and to stir up interest among young women of this district. The ground course will start December 2 in the University of Pittsburgh's rooms in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

Tuberculosis Body Warns of Colds

Warning against seemingly minor colds, the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh today pointed out that health is contagious and can be "caught" a easily as one "catches" a disease. The league's warning was issued in conjuncti with its educational campaign supported by Christmas sea' sales. Sufficient rest was ad ised with enough sleep at night with windows open. It was further urged to walk in fresh air, eat simple foods, and drink plenty of water.

GOOD START MADE IN DRIVE

Sewickley Takes Lead With $53,450 Pledged; 1,000 Workers Meet Today

With $196,206 pledged in the first day of its canvass to carry on 31 of the leading philanthropies of Pittsburgh, the Welfare Fund of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County today sets about maintaining its quota in raising $1,168,000 before November 22.

A luncheon in the William Penn Hotel ballroom at noon today bringing together nearly 1,000 leaders in the campaign marks the visible side of the effort which is being carried on to establish community financing of social service work in the Pittsburgh district. At the same time several thousand others workers in the drive, many of them not stopping for luncheon, are making a thorough canvass of every office, store, business house and industrial plant in Greater Pittsburgh.

TEAMWORK COUNTS

"Organization counts," declared Joseph Dilworth, general chairman of the campaign. "The result of our work last summer in building up our teams is shown in the flateringly successful teamwork which is now being done. The Welfare Fund has gained momentum for this drive in having acted faithfully with the public in its stewardship of the funds subscribed last year. Pride in our past record is an invaluable asset in our present undertaking."

The Employe division under F. J. Chesterman, which carries on a canvass among the industrial plants, mercantile establishments and public service corporations, made a return of $17,760. The workers in this section of the canvass are largely recruited from employes who are handling their own collections and this work regarded as not fully under way.

SEWICKLEY SCORES

Mrs. Alexander Laughlin reported $53,450 for the Sewickley team. This is the largest single day's per capita return recorded in the history of philanthropy support in Pittsburgh, it was declared by many persons who had participated in the wartime drives.

Mrs. William Frew, associate general chairman in charge of women's early teams, today received reports from all the sectional chairmen in charge of the 35 women's teams, and without exceptions, she said, the solicitors were meeting encouragement in generous donations. More people are giving this year, it was stated. The aggregate is expected to far exceed the returns last year.

Traffic Manager To Dine Railroaders

Celebrating his birthday in the usual manner, Joseph M. Belleville, general traffic manager of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will give a dinner to railroad friends Saturday in the Duquesne Club. This celebration will mark his eightieth birthday. Mr. Belleville has celebrated in this manner for 17 years.

McKibben Speaks at Mt. Lebanon Church

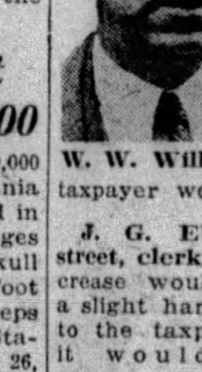
Dr. F. M. McKibben, of the religious education department of the University of Pittsburgh, will address the school officers and teachers of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church of Dormont at a dinner session, Thursday evening, November 21.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Will the proposed 3½ mills tax increase by the school system, and the city and county next year be a hardship to taxpayers.

W. W. WILLIAMS, 1501 Chamber of Commerce Building, manufacturers representative: "The expenditure is justifiable. It will be for civic improvement and development. If we are to keep pace with other cities we must spend money or go backwards. True, the proposed tax increase is rather high, and there will be a lot of objectors. I'm sure the average taxpayer won't object, though."



W. W. Williams

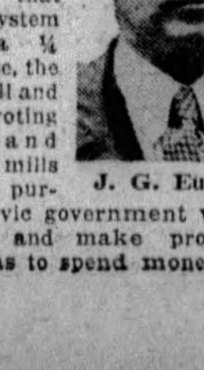
J. G. EUSTON, 3925 Hoosac street, clerk: "Although a tax increase would be a slight hardship to the taxpayers it would be money well spent if improvements are made with the fund. I understand that the school system will ask a ¼ mill increase, the county a mill and a half for voting machines, and the city 1½ mills for civic purposes. If civic government wants to improve and make progress somebody has to spend money."



J. G. Euston

CARL R. FREEHAFER, Seventh avenue, commercial manager: "With the meager amount of detailed information at present, it is pretty hard to venture an opinion. But I am in favor of anything that is for civic good. Taxes are high but taxpayers should take into consideration the benefit which will result when the projected plans are completed. With that thought in mind, my opinion is that the whole thing is O. K., even though 3½ mills is a high increase."

C. R. Freehafer

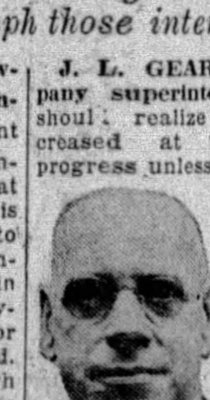
D. L. CRAWFORD, 1724 Oliver Building, salesman: "It will be pretty hard to get the taxpayer interested in an increase now or in the near future. Everything else is coming down. Possibly the recent crash on the stock market might have had something to do with it. If the men and women who pay the bills, the taxpayers, can be convinced the expenditures are O. K., then I say go ahead with it. It should benefit everyone a lot."

D. L. Crawford

J. L. GEARY, Knoxville, company superintendent: "People should realize taxes must be increased at times. We can't progress unless money is spent, but the money must be spent wisely. I think the projects outlined are highly legitimate. The stock market condition might, and probably will, cause a howl by some property owners, but that is a matter subject to change in the future. It costs a lot of money to run government these days. Taxpayers are beginning to realize it."



J. L. Geary

* * *

A. KNAKE, Sixth avenue, salesman: "I take it that the improvements mean a lot to the various districts involved. The city will pay its fire and police officers a decent salary, the county will buy voting machines and the educational system will be benefited. I really think taxes are high enough now, but if the money is spent right it will be money well spent. When you talk about raising taxes you can't make very many taxpayers believe that any good is coming out of it, although there is."

Fish Put in Park Lakes Starving, Council Told

Fish in Panther Hollow Lake, Schenley Park, and Carnegie Lake, Highland Park, are starving, Council has been told by Pat A. Flood, secretary of the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the Izaak Walton League stocked the park ponds with thousands of specimens of the finny tribe recently, and, according to Flood, no one is feeding them and the fish are suffering from malnutrition.

But it is not quite so bad as that, Dr. Arthur W. Henn, curator of ichthyology at the Carnegie Museum and secretary of Pittsburgh Chapter of the Izaac Walton League, said today. At the same time, he suggested council would be doing a commendable thing if it would make some provision for feeding the fish.

"City employes should give some nourishment to the fish or else pass the job along to the Izaak Walton League. If the latter do not act the fish will die," Flood revealed.

"What should we feed them?" President of Council James F. Malone inquired.

"Littler fish," Councilman Charles Anderson suggested.

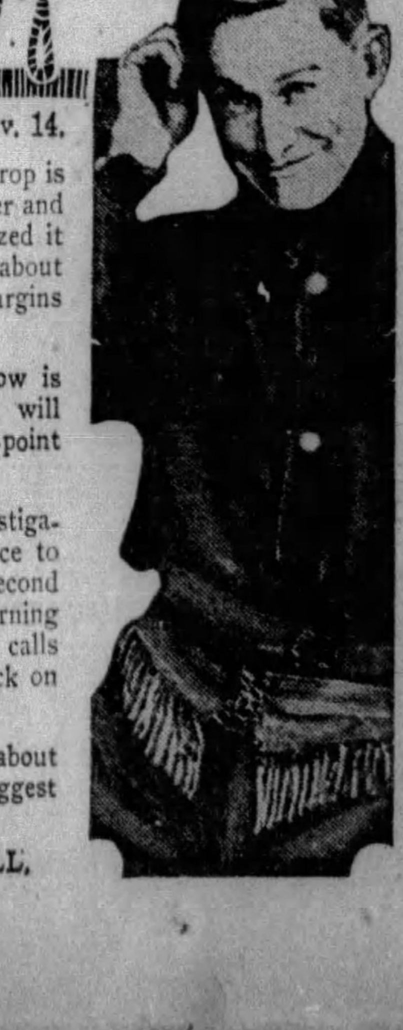
"Stale rye bread would be O. K.," Flood declared.

The problem was referred to Councilman Harry A. Little, worker of the Izaak Walton League.

"The fish are in no danger of starving," said Dr. Henn.

"But it would be a good idea for the City Council to direct the superintendent of parks to feed the fish. It wouldn't cost more than $10 a year."

Will Rogers Says



BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 14.

I guess this stock market drop is due to the fact that Rockefeller and all those big men who stabilized it a couple of weeks ago, have about reached the limit of their margins and are being sold out.

What the market needs now is another bunch of men that will stabilize it during its next 100-point drop.

When the senatorial investigations in Washington commence to sorter drift over onto the second and third page of the morning papers, why the committee calls Grundy and he brings 'em back on page one again.

He is so deliciously frank about his dealings that he is the biggest novelty in Washington.

Yours, WILL.

TRADE BOARDS PLEDGE AID IN HIGH BUS FARE FIGHT

MEMBERS GIVE $1 EACH TO FUND

Appeals to Civic Bodies Prepared to Raise Cost of Proposed Expert Survey

Boards of Trade in all parts of the city are pledging financial support to the fight being made by the Allied Boards of Trade against the 25-cent bus fare, C. V. Shoup, chairman of the transportation committee, declared yesterday.

As a result of an appeal for the funds necessary to pay for expert assistance in the making of a survey of street car and bus conditions, the Twenty-seventh Ward Board of Trade has pledged its members to contribute $1 each.

APPEAL TO BOARDS

George A. Young, in whose name the complaint against the bus fare was filed, is president of the organization.

Similar action has been taken by the Overbrook Chamber of Commerce and the West View Board of Trade.

Action on the question of giving financial assistance to the Allied Boards has also been taken under consideration by the Oakland Board of Trade and the Ross Township Board of Trade.

Appeals will be made to other civic organizations for help in the bus fare fight wthin a short time.

HEARINGS JANUARY 9

The preparation of an expert survey of the bus problem was made necessary whn the Public Service Commission ruled at the haring on the 25-cent fare that testimony on bus operations in other cities would not carry much weight unless a study of local conditions was included.

The completion of hearings has been postponed until January 9, by which time counsel for the Allied Boards of Trade expect to have the necessary information ready.

BYERS' JEWEL LOSS SHRINKS

The loss suffered by Mrs. J. Frederick Byers, wife of the president of the A. M. Byers Company, when she and her husband were held up by bandits near St. Louis last week is less than what police had originally estimated, Mr. Byers said on his return here yesterday. It was first reported that Mrs. Byers had been robbed of $44,000 worth of jewels.

Mr. and Mrs. Byers, with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Johnson, of St. Louis, were robbed by four bandits while returning from the Bridlespur Country Club, near St. Louis. Mrs. Byers returned here with her husband yesterday.

HAMMER RINGING ON SLOT MACHINES

COUNTY DETECTIVE CHIEF GEORGE W. MURREN WIELDING HAMMER

Chief Murren taking some of the first blows as county detectives broke up ninety-four slot machines stored at headquarters as they were seized in various raids.

SLOT MACHINES CONFISCATED

Acting on complaints of the Ministerial Association of Sharpsburg that gambling devices were being operated there, county detectives invaded the borough, made five raids and seized as many slot machines, a punchboard and a small quantity of moonshine late yesterday.

Names of the places were furnished by the Ministerial Association, which charged that school children in many instances played the machines. Informations against five alleged proprietors before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan were ordered by Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren.

Seizures reported by the detectives were A. J. Niesket, 301 South Main street, saloon, small quantity of moonshine; Jacob Kacperski, South Main street, confectionery, two slot machines; Fred Krishman, 604 Main street, two slot machines; Oscar Weinberg, 606 Main street, one punchbord; John Letakis, 1020 Main street, restaurant, one slot machine.

YOUNG CHOSEN EIGHTH TIME

For the eighth successive year Alderman George A. Young will head the Twenty-seventh Ward Board of Trade.

President of the organization since its inception, Young was renominated without opposition at a meeting of the board in the American Citizens Hall, Brighton road.

Others nominated were J. Vincent Sexton, first vice-president; G. A. Pannier, second vice-president; J. D. Vico, secretary and I. M. Davis, treasurer. The election will be held the second Tuesday of November.

Among the speakers were E. C. Neid, president of the East North Side Business Men's Association; Harry Bastow, president, Allied Boards of Trade; W. G. Negley, president, Oakland Board of Trade and C. V. Shoup, president West View Board of Trade.

CLARK EXONERATES CITY OFFICIALS IN TRAFFIC SNARL

COUNCIL DROPS INQUIRY INTO STREET JAM

Director Says 'Beautiful Co-Operation' Prevailed in Turning Lights Off, On

The traffic tieup, caused by the "off again-on again" signal lights prior to the Pitt-Ohio State football game last November 2 has passed into history with receipt by Council of a second explanatory letter from Safety Director James M. Clark.

Council learned of the confusion through a complaint from W. Y. English that he had consumed 30 minutes getting from Union Station to City Hall. "The lights would go off for a while and then come on for a while; in the interims, a corner policeman would bob out and attempt to direct traffic," it was said.

Clark was asked the cause of the tieup and whether a repetition should be expected in the future.

FIRST EXPLANATION

He replied that the causes were:

The usual heavy Saturday traffic in the downtown section.

The unusual and very large crowd from out of town that was brought into the downtown section to get to Pitt Stadium.

A steady downpour of rain that slowed traffic from 25 to 40 per cent.

Regarding the future he stated:

"Whether such tieups are to be expected in the future is something on which a definite opinion would be largely speculative, as no one knows what the future holds in store and this applies to traffic as well as to everything else."

President of Council James F. Malone said the last paragraph should be entered on a scroll, framed and hung for posterity.

But the letter did not satisfy all the councilmen, and Clark was asked again to reply to specific questions as to whether there was any interference by policemen with Burton W. Marsh, engineer of the Traffic Bureau, who supervises the lights, or whether there was any division of authority in regulating the lights.

Clark was also asked again to submit a written report from each individual having anything to do with the vanishing lights on the day in question.

"BEAUTIFUL CO-OPERATION"

Clark replied yesterday that there was no interference by the police with Marsh and there was no division of authority, rather a beautiful co-operation, in the operation of the lights.

He submitted written reports from Marsh and Traffic Inspector Ben Marshall.

Marsh stated he turned the lights off about 11:15 at the request of Marshall. Marsh turned them on again an hour later on orders from Director Clark.

Marshall stated he requested the lights turned off, believing the cornermen could manage the situation better because traffic was unusually heavy and was slowed down one-third by the rain.

President Malone said:

"Gentlemen, you have heard the director's letter. What is your pleasure?"

A chorus of members replied in unison:

VETERAN CAR CREWS ATTENDING NEW "SCHOOL"

W. H. WAGES, PITTSBURGH RAILWAYS INSTRUCTION DEPARTMENT, DEMONSTRATING MODEL CAR TO TROLLEY CREWS

CAR MEN GO TO SCHOOL

Street car motormen and conductors in the Pittsburgh district feel they are never too old to learn.

Despite their apparent simplicity, street cars are intricate pieces of mechanism and the average motorman believes he can learn something new about them every day.

SPECIAL CAR

With this end in view, the traction men take impromptu courses in theory and mechanical operation of the trolleys from time to time. A special instruction car has been provided by the Pittsburgh Railways Company for this purpose.

Besides training rookie motormen and conductors in the efficient operation of the cars, veterans are permitted to study and ask questions about any problem of operation that might confront them.

The training car is equipped with motor boxes, air brake systems and motors in full view of "students." Question are asked freely and are answered by a competent instructor as he explains the operation of the various devices.

TRIPS ARE MADE

Periodic trips are made by the car to various car barns of the railways company in the Pittsburgh district. This week it was at Homewood car barn where many took advantage of the opportunity to profit by its appearance.

Placards stressing safety, hints on courtesy and ideas for greater efficiency take the place of advertising cards seen in the ordinary cars by the lay passenger.

SAFETY MEET AT MONESSEN

The second of a series of safety meetings in the Monessen district, under the sponsorship of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, will be held at 7:45 o'clock tonight in Monessen High School auditorium.

K. A. Calahan, of the American Mutual Insurance Company, Philadelphia, will speak. C. N. Johns, of the Page Steel and Wire Company, will preside. Music will be furnished by artists from his company.

The next meeting will be held a week from tonight with others on succeeding Thursday nights until December 12 when a banquet will be held. The course is being attended by workers in practically all industrial plants in the Monessen district.

Policemen Freed For Killing Waiter

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Two Miami policemen, W. D. Halloway and V. D. Hant, were acquitted by a jury in Criminal Court here of second degree murder charges for the killing of Barnard A. Davis, Hialeah waiter last September.

Davis was shot through the head after an automobile chase during which the policemen sought to arrest him on a charge of reckless driving. The policemen said they followed him when they saw him come out of a suspected speakeasy.

Arbitration Offer Accepted by Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Nov. 14.—(AP).—The Bolivian government has accepted the offer of five neutral powers represented at the recent Washington conference to aid in settling the boundary dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay.

The text of the Bolivian answer was not made public, but it was learned that one formal reservation had been made to the acceptance.

Lions Club Holds Ladies' Day Program

A ladies' day program was the Lions Club of Pittsburgh feature today at the weekly luncheon in the Fort Pitt Hotel. Special entertainment, favors and prizes were planned. A delegation from the local club will assist in a charter night program for the new Lions Club of Clymer next Wednesday night. The affair will be staged at Twin Gables, near Indiana, Pa.

CAB MEN FIGHT, ONE INJURED, ONE HELD

Victim, Taken to Hospital, Threatened Him With Gun, Victor in Battle Says

A fight between two cab drivers at Montgomery avenue and Federal street sent one to the hospital and the other to North Side Police Station on a suspicious person charge last night.

A. P. Suber, 34, of 724 Fulton street, suffered a probable skull fracture in the fight and was taken to Allegheny General Hospital. His alleged antagonist, Louis Nathanson, 26, of 2562 Center avenue, told police, they said, that Suber threatened him with a gun.

Police reported Suber suffered the injury when he was knocked down.

Judge Denies Plea Made to Aid Wife

FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 14.—Motion of defense counsel to discharge J. E. Pangallo, Franklin merchant, from necessity of defending himself against a charge of possessing liquor, was denied by Judge Frank Harvey, of Clarion, sitting in Venango County Court. Pangallo's plea that he was "guilty" came during his wife's trial on the liquor charge, and resulted in her acquittal. Since then Pangallo sought to escape the charge.

Perjury to Save Reputation O. K., Judge Decrees

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—A woman may commit perjury on the witness stand to save her reputation, it was shown following a ruling by Judge Marcus Kavanaugh in which he dismissed a contempt petition filed against Mrs. Leontine Foley.

"No woman will be punished in this court for perjury if she lies to protect her reputation," said the judge.

The petition alleged that perjury was committed when Mrs. Foley obtained an annullment of her marriage to Joseph Gilbert last August. The assertion was made that Mrs. Foley had told a falsehood in her testimony when she swore that she had never lived with Gilbert as his wife.

MILITARY RITES FOR BANNON

Military funeral services were held this morning for Edwin Bannon, Elliott war veteran, who on Armistice Day shot himself after holding police at bay outside his home for several hours. Bannon lived at 7 Bond street.

Members of Albert G. Baker Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, conducted the services in the A. Staab undertaking establishment, South Main street, West End, at 9 o'clock this morning. Burial will be in St. Martin's Cemetery, Elliott.

Bannon became mentally unbalanced and barricaded himself in his residence, where for hours he held off friends and police who were endeavoring to persuade him to come out of the place. When police threatened to break into his fort, he shot himself. He was removed to the South Side Hospital, where he died a short time later.

GUNS IN AUTO, SIX BRUSHTON YOUTHS HELD

Arrested After Sleuths Stop Car Downtown and Find Revolvers After Search

Six Brushton youths were held for questioning today following their arrest in an automobile at Eighth street and Duquesne way in which detectives reported finding two revolvers last night.

The automobile was stopped by Detectives Harry Foster and William Egan who arrested the occupants on suspicious persor charges after finding the guns.

The prisoners were docketed as John Spinelo, of 18 Orphan street; Paul Ionadi, 21, of 629 Larimer avenue; Charles Marfi, 25, of 9 Orphan street; Tony Berganasio, 19, of 6221 Joseph street; Anthony Ciorra, 17, of 20 Orphan street, and Alfred Norzolello, 17, of 633 Whittier street.

Second Fire in Week Discovered in Church

For the second time in a week firemen were called to extinguish a fire in a rubbish heap in the cellar of the St. Emmanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Suismon and James streets, North Side, early today. Damage was estimated at $10.

Christian Endeavor Concert Tomorrow

The Christia Endeavor Society of the Beulah Presbyterian Church, on the William Penn Highway, will hold a concert in the church tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The program will be featured by several well-known Pittsburgh artists.

Carrick High Will Hold Open Session

With appropriate demonstrations, the students will enact the progress of today as compared to 50 years ago. Tonight's sessions will consist of three periods. W. H. Strenkle, principal of the school, and all teachers will take active parts.

Former Butler Co. Commissioner Dies

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP).—Frederick J. Winters, 74, former Butler County commissioner, dropped dead in his home here. A physician said death was due to heart disease. A daughter, Mrs. Pearl Boyle, of Butler, was undergoing an operation in a Pittsburgh hospital at the time.

Poison Swallowed In Error Costs Life

Poison swallowed by mistake in her home November 7 caused the death last night in Allegheny General Hospital of Mrs. Doris Verner, 20, of 712 Cedar avenue, according to a morgue report. Mrs. Verner was said to have mistaken the poison for headache tablets.

Danger Signals of High Blood Pressure

"Dizzy spells, hot flashes, pains in the head, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and nervousness usually indicate high blood pressure," warns physician who found treatment to reduce it.

These are symptoms which show an accumulation of poisonous waste matter in the system or that one or more of your organs has weakened and caused the heart to be overtaxed. Check it at once for it is known high blood pressure brings on hardening of the arteries, and other serious conditions.

Norma, a physician's prescription, reduces blood pressure so surely it is regarded as a great medical success. Often one bottle brings prompt relief. Ask for Norma at Dow Drug Company, or any drug store.

Needless Pain!

Some folks take pain for granted.

They let a cold "run its course."

They wait for their headaches to "wear off."

If suffering from neuralgia or from neuritis, they rely on feeling better in the morning.

Meantime, they suffer unnecessary pain. Unnecessary, because there is an antidote. Bayer Aspirin always offers immediate relief from various aches and pains we once had to endure. If pain persists, consult your doctor as to its cause.

Save yourself a lot of pain and discomfort through the many uses of Bayer Aspirin. Protect yourself by buying the genuine. Bayer is safe. Always the same. All drugstores.

ROGERS SHIES AT MATRIMONY AND KAY FRANCIS LOSES DOG

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14.

LOST: A wee bit of a Scotty. Owned by Kay Francis. Dog named Snifter. Named by William Powell after a snifter of Scotch. Snifter went A.W.O.L. the other eve, whilst taking his usual nightly stroll in the yard. Miss Francis wants him back. Bad. She offers a reward. Generous. If you find the purp, address her: 8401 Fountain ave., Hollywood.

Credit this to Jimmy Gleason. Jimmy tells it on Rob Wagner, W. K. Scribe. When Wagner first came to Hollywood, he bought a second-hand typewriter from a shop on Hollywood boulevard. Said typewriter had formerly been the property of a movie star. Wagner tried out the machine at home and discovered the capital "I" was completely worn out!

Kay Francis

(Note: He didn't get his money back!)

They tell this one on Arthur Caesar, the casual wit of the colony. When Arthur's Warner Bros. contract expired, he betook himself from the lot. Jack Warner asked him why he didn't stay on.

"I need more money," explained the Caesar. "I got a family to support—wife, nephews, nieces, aunts, etc. and you know Jack, blood is thicker than Warner!"

Bachelor Life Suits Mr. Rogers

CHARLES (BUDDY) ROGERS ups to say 'twill be many a year ere he takes the big plunge. Buddy figgers it's pretty tough to punch a matrimonial time clock. He wants to come and go when he wants to come and go. And from what he's seen it isn't being done with the happy dueters.

Charles Rogers

Looks at this penning as though he'll traipse pronto to Manhattan and baton his jazz act through a few stellar weeks on the Publix theater program. Which will please him no end, as Buddy doesn't take kindly to "between pictures" rest. He doesn't begin his next outloud, "Young Eagles," for several weeks. Billy Wellman will megaphone and Jean Arthur is slated to heroine.

Viola Brothers Shore, W. K. scribester, is en route to New York. A week from tomorrow she sails for Europe aboard the good ship Olympic. For a 12 weeks' holiday. Hither and yon. Vi finally managed to get an "expression" from Famous Players. An "expression" is consent to vacate. She just completed the adaptation and dialogue for Harry Green's next number, "Papa," based on the play of that name. Vera Gordon, 'tis said, is slated to mommer in the flick.

Actor-Pugilist Gotham Bound

GEORGES CARPENTIER, former big time heavyweight, is also en route to New York. Georges may remain in Manhattan until the premier the end of this month of "Show of Shows," the Warner Revue of many stars. If he is there for the opening, he'll personal appearance. Then, to Paris. It has been many a long day since he saw his wife. Carpentier expects to return to Hollywood. When, is problematical. He didn't do so worse in the flicks whilst here.

It happened at the Darmour studio, where a Larry Darmour comedy with Alberta Vaughn is being made. There were 150 extras on the set. They were supposed to be giving Miss Vaughn a surprise party.

Director Phil Whitman rehearsed the action. The extras shouted: "Surprise," at the right moment. "Fine," said Whitman. "We'll take it."

"Wait a minute," a voice cried from the rear, and a Tuxedoed extra showed himself. "I can't feel that line, Mr. Whitman."

Five minutes later, the director was revived. By that time, every one was feeling the line . . . An old fisherman trick . . .

And—That's all.

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE assures the freedom of the press—Public opinion has been freed from the tyranny which denied it the right to pass judgment on public questions.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Miss Pat by Elenore Meherin

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Mary Patricia Dawn, pert, young, demi-brunette, sees her little brother, Dickie, fail to rise after a dive in the lake. Pat brings up the apparently lifeless body. All hope seems gone when suddenly an airplane sweeps down out of the sky. Pat's father arrives with Guy Elliott, a tall, handsome youth as pilot. Quick action follows and Dickie recovers. Later Elliott kisses and takes Pat for an air ride. Happy days follow, with Pat and Guy in love. Then comes Barbara Bryce with the seductive lure of shadowy eyes. She is the widow of young William Bryce, whose father owns the airplane factory where Guy works. While trying out her new plane, Barbara has an accident but is saved. In the excitement, Guy forgets an appointment with Pat. Later, while airplaining with Guy, Pat has a glimpse of Barbara in another plane. Pat marvels at Barbara's beauty and wonders if Guy is moved by it. Later Guy receives a visit from Barbara and her young son, upon whom old Bryce squanders a fortune. Tom Burns, a workman, rages about the unfairness of wealth. His invalid son is dying for want of necessities. When Bryce refuses a loan, Burns leaves swearing revenge.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VIII.

A DOOR at the end of the dark passage closed on Tom Burns. William Bryce brushed his hands. A little pink rose in his button hole dropped downward. He straightened it. With a backward jerk of his head, he mentioned Guy to the inner office.

It was in wild disorder. Two chairs were overturned. Pictures on the wall were crooked.

On the table, papers were scattered. The inkstand toppled on its side. A stream of ink trickled over the polished walnut.

From the confusion Bryce reached over and picked out a photograph. He set it carefully on the top of the filing cabinet, first wiping off a smudge of black.

It was a picture of a young man in a pilot's costume. There was a long panel of the same young aviator on the wall. Pictures of William Bryce, Jr., at whose passionate insistence this factory had been opened. And who was now dead.

Bryce stood there regarding the photograph. He gave a grim shrug: "Who kept my son from death? That fellow's dangerous."

"Yes," said Guy, feeling his way, "it might be wiser—"

"What! Buy him off? Let him come in here and scream orders to me—"

William Bryce was a powerfully built man, quick, energetic. From his stubby, businesslike mustache to his square, nervous hands he was alive and bristling.

He now stood at a big, flat-topped desk and rapped with his knuckles.

"Do you know that he came in here and calmly demanded $1,500? Actually expected me to hand it over without a word? Wanted the check then and there. As though I'm responsible for his kid's health! How am I involved?"

"Did he want the money as a loan?"

"Loan! He's drawn $750 beyond his wages right now. Loan! See that he takes all his stuff and clears out—today! Give orders that he's not to be allowed near the plant."

Guy returned to the workroom. The emptiness gave him a tense, strained feeling—a sense of uneasy apprehension.

Two weeks passed. Toward closing time one Thursday, William Bryce rang.

"Where are the Miller specifications?"

"Miller specifications?"

"Yes—yes! That's what I said. I gave them to Burns that afternoon. He was to have delivered them."

"I never saw them. He didn't leave them around."

Bryce banged with his knuckles. He looked quizzically across to Guy.

"Wonder if you could get them? They're no good to Burns."

A row of small, gray cottages, each with five wooden steps leading to the door and each with a dusty six-foot patch of front garden.

In one of these lived Tom Burns. His garden was a yellow marguerite bush.

Guy rang. Footsteps clattered on bare boards. A woman with wispy yellow hair and a frightened look in the eyes answered.

"Oh—you're Mr. Elliott from the factory, are you?" The words scarcely were spoken when Tom Burns stepped from the small back room. He looked darker and thinner. The lines about his mouth were like bitter scars.

"What brings you? I thought you'd be dropping around!"

"I wondered if you'd taken the Miller specifications with you the day you left?"

"Left—ha!" he motioned down the hall to the little room from which he had come. "All I took is in there. I don't know what I took. You can look."

Blue prints, papers, T-squares and rules were dumped on a small, dark oak table. At the bottom of the pile were the specifications.

Tom Burns stood at Guy's elbow and watched him with a peculiar expectation.

"How is your boy?"

"He's still alive."

"I remember that you said your kid would go crazy over one of those models. I brought this along. It has a spring in it. You can fly it for him."

Tom Burns didn't say a word as Guy took the tiny airplane from the newspaper wrapping. But he led the way to a small back porch where the wash tubs were and where a child's crib was crowded into one corner.

A boy about six with gray, brilliant eyes and dark, reddish-blue lips, lay there propped with pillows. He was very pinched about the nostrils—very white.

But he gave an excited laugh and reached out eager wasted hands as his father said, "Look, Tommy! Something for you."

Burns stooped and plumped up the pillows. Guy perceived that he was crying.

He called his wife, showed her how to fly the ship and followed Guy to the door.

"I can't get a job. I've only worked three days in the last week. If this keeps on—"

He flung his head back with a jerk. From the back porch came the sound of high, rapid laughter. Burns listened. Then he said in a kind of daze and as if talking to himself:

"He could be cured. Gaynor's child was cured. But it took money. They had relatives. Good God—a child can be left to die because people hold on to money. They think it's none of their business. But it is. I tell you, it's everybody's business!

"You well-fed ones think it's none of your business. You think you can build a wall around yourselves and prevent the evils that you stand for from touching you. You can't!

"Good God! That fellow could save him. And he won't."

His wife came out and laid a soothing hand on his arm. "Tom—be quiet. You worry the child."

He brushed her hand off. His face had become livid, but he said with that peculiar expectant look:

"I thought Bryce was sending me a message. I thought he was sending the money. He's not going to do it. . ."

He opened the door. Without bidding goodby, without any further word, he went ahead of Guy down the steps and down the street.

Guy stuck the specifications in his pocket. He watched Burns flinging down the street and again that uneasy apprehension possessed him.

He was responsible—the whole world was responsible because Tom Burns' child was left to die.

Slowly he started the car. Was there more than mere rant in the words? And every wrong permitted is the fault of all? And all are made to pay?

He shook off the oppressive thought. What concern was Tom Burns to him and to the pretty girl standing now on a hilltop waiting? How could his life affect theirs?

He would be late. Miss Pat would stamp her foot and gaily demand "Why?" He turned his car in the direction of the San Mateo hills and went flying along 40 miles and more. Get swiftly from the ache and the pain . . . get up there in the twilight—in the flowers.

The night after Guy's visit to the home of Tom Burns, he worked late.

It was nearly 10. His drawing was finished. He loitered over it, his hand tangled in his dog's long scruff.

"She likes us, Jim! She's darn sweet!"

He turned suddenly about, hearing, or thinking he heard, a footstep—a stealthy, hurried footstep.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, November 15.

THE planetary configurations for this day are of most propitious significance. All affairs, business and personal, should thrive with splendid stabilizing of all animus of good fortune, mainly in return for diligence and steadfastness in the past. There may be quite unforeseen as well as gratifying culminations, after much congestion and procrastination.

Those whose birthday it is stand at the threshold of a year of excellent reaping for faithful and patient serving. All affairs will flourish and bring happiness, after an era of stubborn frustration.

A child born on this day may be brilliant, capable and accomplished in all activities that make for a successful, prosperous, distinguished and happy life.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge and Dicky Comfort Junior's Heartache

I HAVE had few more trying moments than the one in which I waited to see what Dicky meant to do in response to Junior's wailing regret for the "loving each other lots" which had shaken his childish soul after his flying out at his father. I longed infinitely to dash over to my child and gather him into my arms. Yet I felt instinctively that if Dicky should turn and see me thus rushing to comfort our small son, he would interpret my action as a support of Junior's rudeness to him.

I did not have to wait long, however. Both Dicky and I belong to that type which is a parent first, with every other human relation subordinating itself, and his pace had no sooner slackened at the sound of Junior's wail, then it stopped. Then he wheeled and came back to the boy in a run.

He went down on his knees beside the little figure prone on the grass but he did not at once touch him. His hands were clenched, his lips tightly closed, and I knew that he was fighting some battle with himself. But I did not guess that it concerned me, until he turned his face toward me, and his eyes, no longer resentful, but with a certain contrite appeal in them met mine squarely.

"We ought to be ashamed of ourselves," he said softly, his lips quirking into the old tender smile with which he used to presage a whimsical half-apology. "I know I am. Come over here. We can't leave him this way."

I saw his eyes go involuntarily to the tree from which Junior had fallen, saw his facial muscles quiver, and knew that he was visualizing those awful moments when we thought our boy might be lost to us. The remembrance sent my own resentment scurrying. Whatever of bitterness lay between Dicky and me, we must put away at once—for possible future discord—but we must let no trace of it further torture the spirit of the child who loved us both so loyally. Suppose, before we next saw him—with a little cry of horror, suppressed almost before it was uttered, I rose and dashed across the grass to my boy's side.

Together we raised him, as we had done upon the few occasions when real grief had come to him. Once when his puppy died, again when Jerry Ticer had been compelled to destroy an old horse which Junior had ridden—I caught my breath with a thankfulness for the infrequency of those fits of unhappiness which mingled with a horror at myself and Dicky—for being the cause of the grief which was shaking him now.

"Darling! Look up! It's all right," I whispered, as with Dicky bearing the most of his weight, I went back to my seat by his playhouse and took him closely in my arms, while Dicky knelt by my side, his arms around us both. "Look at us! We're not angry at each other any more, and we both love you so much, our darling boy."

Junior could not control his sobs at first, but gradually they ceased, and he looked from one of us to the other with the blessed resilient smile so comfortingly characteristic of childhood.

"That's bully," he said, adding shrewdly after a little pause. "But I knew that all the time. What I want to know is: Do we all love each other the way we used to?"

I caught my upper lip between my teeth at the dilemma which his question forced upon me. I must answer him in some fashion which would satisfy him. Yet how to speak even a half truth with the consciousness that not only his eyes, but his father's as well, were steadily fixed upon me!

But Dicky unexpectedly and chivalrously came to the rescue.

"What do you think yourself, Junior?" he asked. "You're a big boy, and can judge for yourself. Doesn't this look as if this was just the same as old times?"

With our boy's eyes upon him, he bent his head and put his lips upon mine. It was the merest trifle of a caress, given I knew, only to satisfy the boy, and spare us from uttering a deliberate untruth to him. But as he drew back with a reassuring smile at Junior, I saw that he had suddenly gone white.

It was but a fleeting glance I gave him, however, and I was glad that he had averted his eyes. For I was trying valiantly to hide the consternation which that quick, unexpected caress had brought me—a consternation rising chiefly from the consciousness that I had been compelled to use all my willpower to keep from throwing my arms around my husband's neck and giving him back a kiss anything but perfunctory.

The next second. Life had swung back to a mechanical jog-trot, as it so often does. Junior sat up and wriggled away from us, his emotion forgotten.

"Now that everything's all right," he said happily, "let's go for a walk."

I looked at Dicky in dismay. Under the bizarre circumstances surrounding us, would we dare to grant his request?

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A SIMPLE FROCK FOR THE GROWING GIRL.

Printed chiffon was selected for this pleasing style. It comprises long waist portions, that are finished with scallops, and to which the gathered skirt portions are joined. A neat scalloped collar, a comfortable "bishop" sleeve, and a sash that may be of material or ribbon, complete this effective model.

The patern is cut in four sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. To make a 12-year size will require 2¼ yards of material 35 inches wide or wider. For collar and band cuffs of contrasting material as pictured in the large view, ¼ yard 35 inches wide is required, cut crosswise. To finish the scalloped edges and the cuffs with bias binding will require 3¼ yards 1½ inches wide. For the sash of ribbon 2¼ yards will be required.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

What Women Don't Tell

FEW men's hearts are so air-tight that they cannot be worked loose with a little soft-soap.

HELEN ROWLAND

You are probably getting toward the sere-and-yellow if you can remember when every girl had a "best beau" who called on Sunday evening; but you are not actually an "antique" unless you can remember when everybody exclaimed "How fortunate!" when a girl got married and "How shocking!" when she got a divorce.

* * *

Before marriage, a girl wraps herself around a man's neck with a strangle-hold: but, after marriage, she is sometimes lucky if she can retain even a remote control of his FEET.

The modern woman seldom falls head-over-heels in love. "Head-over-heart—and keep your equilibrium!" is her slogan.

A woman may forgive a man for raving over another woman, who is a brilliant genius or a professional beauty; but nothing so insults her vanity, as to have him fall for some commonplace little thing, who is no younger nor prettier that SHE is.

There's something about a beribboned church aisle that looks painfully "straight and narrow" to a carefree bachelor.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Regarding the Opening of Doors.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. I would like to have an explanation on the following: A few weeks ago a young man in his twenties visited my father on business. As father was in bed, ill, he asked me to go downstairs and bring the young man up to his room. As I had several doors to pass through, I am wondering who should have opened the doors, and who should have walked through first? I am 17, and I think the girl should walk through first, but my girl friends think the young man should have walked through first, but that the girl should have opened the doors. Please answer this all-important question for me.

2—I would appreciate criticism of my paper and writing, as well as my letter in general.

GEORGIA.

THE young man should have opened the doors, and then should have stood aside to allow you to pass through first. Not only would this be the polite thing for him to do, but also, in this case, since you knew the ways of the house and he did not, it would have been the sensible thing to do.

2—Your letter paper is, to my taste, a bit too yellow. Paper more on a cream shade would be better. Your letter form is excellent—it would be entirely so if you did not abbreviate in your heading, and if you did not crowd too much the first page, unnecessarily so, for you left two other pages blank.

The Lady's Privilege

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

If a girl sees a boy friend on the street, is it proper for her to speak first or for him to speak first?

CLAIRE.

THE lady is given the privilege of acknowledging first an acquaintance.

The Uusual Expression of Appreciation

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Just how should a nurse thank a doctor when he thanks her for the care of his patient?

NURSE.

AS in acknowledging any expression of appreciation, the nurse should first thank the doctor for his expression of appreciation. In addition, she may add something concerning that particular case—that is—if she can honestly say something about it. She may, for instance, say: "Thank you very much, Doctor Brown. I appreciate so much your telling me of your approval. It has been a great privilege to work with you, and both you and (the patient) have been most kind," or "it is very kind of you to tell me that you are satisfied with my work, and it makes me very happy. It is always a pleasure to work with you on a case, Doctor Brown. Both you and Mrs. (patient) have been so friendly, and I appreciate it."

Etiquette for Banquet

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Will you kindly tell me what to wear to an informal banquet?

2. In entering the dining room, should the lady hold the gentleman's arm?

3. When ready to leave the house, who should suggest leaving, the lady or the gentleman?

4. When ready to leave the hall, who should suggest going?

B. J.

A SEMI-DRESS frock, say one appropriate for the late afternoon.

2. No, except at the most formal of dinners, and often not then.

3. The lady.

4. The lady. Always the woman is given this kind of prerogative.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Disease—Now and a Generation Ago

IN every sense this is a wonderful age. We think about the aeroplane, the radio, the telephone and the automobile and marvel over what they mean to us. But the increased safety against disease is of greater personal interest than all the rest put together.

DR COPELAND

We could get along without the modern inventions. We don't want to and I am glad we needn't forego the advantages they give us. But it would be far more dreadful to have to bear the health conditions of a generation ago.

In 1871 in New York City there were 7,000 deaths from smallpox. At the same rate, with our present population, that would be 30,000 deaths per year. Just think of what that would mean, not only in fatalities, but in the mutilated and scarred faces of the tens of thousands who would have the disease and recover from it.

But now, thanks to vaccination and increased sanitation, New York rarely has a case of smallpox. There hasn't been a death from that disease in New York for nearly 20 years.

It is not alone from smallpox that we have been delivered. Typhoid fever was a familiar scourge a generation ago. As late as 1910 it killed 12 out of every 100,000 of the population of New York City. Today it is only one person out of 100,000 who will die from the preventable disease.

I am very proud of what Health Commissioner Wynne, of New York, is doing to wipe out diphtheria. I told you about his campaign against this disease. As a result of the Board of Health efforts to popularize inoculation against diphtheria it has been materially reduced. It will be wiped out if these measures are pressed.

Of course, health officials wouldn't get far except for the co-operation of the public. Each of us has a part to play in this good campaign against disease.

It requires faith and bravery, too, to submit to the treatments necessary to guard against these ailments. But after all they are rather simple. There may be some reaction, but in general it may be said there is not a great deal of discomfort. Certainly not as compared with the comfortable feeling that you are safe from infection.

We should be thankful that the public health officials and laboratory workers are seeking all the time to wipe out disease. We should applaud and encourage them.

Answers to Health Queries

L. M. Sm. Q.—What will bleach freckles?

A.—Equal parts of lemon juice and peroxide will act as a bleach. Apply a good cold cream after using the preparation which may prove drying to the skin.

M. D. T. Q.—What should a woman of 41, 5 feet 3 inches tall weigh?

2—What treatment is necessary where the patient has had a stroke?

A.—She should weigh about 140 pounds.

2—Careful diet, plenty of rest, avoidance of excitement and regular elimination should all be helpful under the circumstances. It is most important to keep the blood pressure normal.

A. L. Q.—What can be done for enlarged pores?

A.—Try application of hot and cold water, using alternately in the form of a compress for 5 or 10 minutes, twice daily. Also correct the diet and keep the intestinal tract clear.

ANXIOUS. Q.—What causes psycho-neurosis? Is it a form of insanity? Would a deficiency of iodine in the system cause this condition? Will bad tonsils or piles be apt to cause the trouble?

A.—May be due to a number of different conditions. Not necessarily. I doubt that this would cause the trouble. You should have a thorough examination and follow your doctor's advice regarding treatment.

The Doctor Approves of Cascara

When you're out of sorts because liver and bowels are not functioning properly, don't take a violent purgative that will upset your whole system and make you feel all the worse. A candy Cascaret will soon have you feeling fine again—and there'll be no unpleasant after effects.

Cascarets are as pleasing to the palate as candy. Their action is gentle, but thorough. They work while you sleep; cleanse the entire thirty feet of bowels in one comfortable, thorough action that leaves the system clean and sweet. They help restore normal bowel action and are not habit-forming.

Cascarets are made of cascara, long recognized by the medical profession as one of the most beneficial laxatives, and one that actually strengthens the bowel muscles. Cascarets are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice. That's why children love them—and grown folks find them so easy to take.

Physicians say by far the great majority of human ills are caused by constipation. If a coated tongue, dull headaches, disordered stomach or general listless feeling warn you of faulty elimination, don't take a chance on real sickness. Take a Cascaret every day or two until your system seems normal. You'll be amazed at the effectiveness of this simple measure. The use of 20 million packages of Cascarets a year proves their worth.

PITT FACES REAL BATTLE

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Toporcer's Suspension. Suppressing Rowdyism. Pirate Trade Revived.

Ens Here on Saturday. Booth Yale Mainspring. Hockey Curtain Rises.

LONGEST SENTENCE FOR UMPIRE ATTACK

IN BEING suspended from organized baseball for an entire year by the National Association (an organization embodying all of the minor leagues) for an alleged assault upon Umpire Larry Goetz in the final game of the little world series between the Kansas City and Rochester clubs last month, George Toporcer, bespectacled infielder, receives the severest sentence ever meted out for such an offense in the diamond sport.

George Toporcer

Probably the decree was intended as a warning and a deterrent, more than as a punishment for that particular violation of the rules, and from that angle it may seem justified in the eyes of the powers. It is unfortunate that a player with the previous good record of Toporcer should be singled out as the example and dealt with so harshly, when many others guilty of similar misconduct on the field have escaped with far milder sentences. For that reason the player is not without sympathizers.

HOWEVER, no one can be blind to the fact that rowdyism on the field, sometimes carried almost to the point of inciting near-riots, has got to be stamped out if baseball is to continue in public favor. The authority of the umpires must be maintained and the arbiters must be protected. Otherwise the game cannot be expected to retain its respectable patronage.

Players have been duly warned that they must refrain from such outbreaks as that charged against Toporcer. More than two years ago, or on June 11, 1927, following the attack made upon Umpire Mal Eason by Player Brazil in the Pacific Coast League, Commissioner Landis sent the following notice to all major and minor league clubs, umpires, managers, coaches and players: "In case of any physical attack or other violence upon an umpire, or by an umpire, the offender or offenders will be placed upon the suspended list for not less than 90 days nor more than one year, as in the judgment of the league president (or National Association board of arbitration, as in the Toporcer case) the facts may warrant."

PREVIOUSLY, the longest sentences imposed for attacks upon umpires were 90 days, to Clarence (Heinie) Mueller by Commissioner Landis for an offense on the spring trip before the Giants sent the player to Toledo in 1928, and 60 days to the late Sherwood Magee for a run-in with Umpire Pfirman during a National League game.

Watty Holm

Earl Smith was set down for 30 days by League President Heydler for punching Dave Bancroft, an opposing player, at Forbes Field in 1927. Umpire Cy Rigler and Buck Herzog figured in a clash at Philadelphia during which Rigler struck Herzog with his mask, but neither man was suspended. In their efforts to stop attacks upon umpires, the bosses of some of the leagues, the National in particular, could well go a step further and try to find more competent officials than a few of those now employed, men whose decisions would be less likely to cause protests.

THAT the St. Louis National League club had reason to believe that Toporcer, recalled from Rochester, would not be available for service next season, is indicated not only by the belated announcement that the player recently was transferred back to Rochester, but by the fact that the Cardinal management recently renewed its efforts to get one of Pittsburgh's extra infielders. The first attempt to make a trade for this Pirate infielder dates back to the close of the regular season. At that time it was understood that St. Louis was willing to give Watty Holm in exchange, but since the Pirates acquired Shortstop Engle by draft it is doubtful if the local club could see its way clear to use Holm.

WHETHER the Cardinals have any different offer to make now has not developed, but it is known that they still desire the Pirate infielder first sought, and some sort of trade may yet take shape. Manager Jewel Ens, of the Pirates, will arrive in Pittsburgh Saturday to witness the Pitt-Carnegie Tech football game and to talk over Buccaneer affairs with the other club officials, and the matter of making a swap with the Cardinals may be discussed at that time.

Ens, by the way, will meet at Saturday's football game the man whom he succeeded as manager of the Bucs, Ex-Pilot Donie Bush, now leader of the White Sox, also will be on hand from Indianapolis to see the battle for the city grid championship. Donie is due to arrive tomorrow, and will be the guest of Dr. W. L. Marks, of Carnegie Tech.

VETERAN football fans find it difficult to recall an instance in which one new football player meant so much to a team as Albie Booth means to Yale this year. His individual ability as a player would count for much in itself, but in addition to that Booth appears to be the spark plug and the spirit of the team.

Albie Booth

Albie is the teeth of the Bulldog. He inspires and co-ordinates the team. When he is in the game the line and the remainder of the backfield function; when he is out they fail to do so. When he is taken out of the lineup the team wilts, and when he comes in there is a brace all around. Yale's chances of beating Princeton Saturday, though they look favorable in advance, will depend largely upon the extent to which Booth figures in the going.

JOHN C. STERZINGER, of the North Side, writes: "For many years Eastern sports writers have had an inclination to detract from the playing ability of great and super-powerful University of Pittsburgh football teams. Though beaten, 15 to 0, by Georgia and tied, 13 to 13, by Maryland, Yale, because of its victories over Brown, Army and Dartmouth, is held to be at the 'very top Right' for Eastern sectional honors. They say that Pitt's outstanding victories have been of the intersectional variety. However that may be, isn't it a fact that the Panthers have beaten every intersectional opponent? On the other hand, Yale has been defeated in one intersectional game and tied in another. How any sports writer can assemble enough courage to place a team with a record of four victories, one defeat and a tie ahead of an eleven with a record of seven victories and no defeats, requires exhaustive explanation.

"IT IS TRUE that Yale defeated the Army and Dartmouth, but can those victories remove the blemishes? Also these writers say that Pitt is 'disputing the claims of Yale to the championship of the East.' This is ridiculous, to say the least. Why should Pitt dispute the 'claims' of a team that has no grounds for any such claims?

"Yale has been defeated and tied. Pitt has not been defeated nor tied. In my opinion, if a team is to be considered a championship contender, it ought to win on its merits and not through misrepresentations of the pen. If Yale would like to compare itself with the Panther, why not arrange for a game in 1930, or whenever possible? Pitt certainly will not hesitate to play any Yale team any time, anywhere. But the Elis ought first to get the lowdown on Panther teams from Pennsylvania, Georgia Tech, Nebraska and Ohio State."

Chicago at Toronto.

HOCKEY RESULTS

Boston ..... 7—Philadelphia 3
Providence ..... 1—Springfield 0

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The winter sports season will be formally ushered in tonight when the National Hockey League's new campaign opens on four battle fronts. Toronto, Montreal, Detroit and Ottawa are to be hosts in the inaugural battles, and Benny Leonard's Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Americans will be the only idle members of ice hockey's major circuit.

And although the Pirates will be idle tonight, they will earn their rest this afternoon when they go through their last hard workout in preparation for the local lid-lifter with the Montreal Maroons, at Duquesne Garden Saturday night. The Americans also will swing into action Saturday, meeting the Senators at Ottawa.

DRILL AGAIN TODAY

Manager Frank Frederickson is determined that his skaters shall get away to a fast start in the new race, and he is "going the limit" to get his men in shape for their battle with the Maroons. A long, hard drill was staged at the Garden yesterday only a few hours after the Bucs' return from their "training camp" at Fort Erie, Ont., and a tapering-off drill tomorrow will follow the stiff session carded for today.

Frederickson is experiencing some difficulty in solving his starting lineup in that two of his stars are handicapped by injuries. Jerry Lowrey, reserve left wingman, is favoring a right ankle that is rather severely sprained, and Harold Darragh, veteran right wing star, has a badly brusied side in addition to being weakened by an attack of flu. Darragh fears that one or more of his ribs is cracked, and he is to be given an examination by a physician today.

STRONG RESERVE TALENT

Frederickson is fortunate, however, in that the Pittsburgh club's reserve material is better than ever before. Bud Jarvis, obtained from the Port Arthur Canadian amateur champions, and Archie Briden, captain of the Philadelphia Arrows last season, showed plenty of class in yesterday's workout, and they will be ready to step into the breach should the occasion demand.

Jarvis is a fast, flashy skater of the Herb Drury type, and he is prepared to sub for Lowrey in the event that the latter is so crippled that he is unable to give his best.

Briden is a big, rangy, rugger performer who can hold down either a forward or defense position, and he will be at right wing if Darragh is forced out. Darragh had his side taped when he took part in yesterday's drill. He is determined to take part in the lid-lifter, and he probably will be "in there."

Roger Smith is nursing a deep gash in his chin, but the veteran Roger is accustomed to bruises and cuts, and regards his injury as "nothing at all."

GET NEW DEFENDER

Additional reserve talent probably will be added today in the person of Slim Halderson, big defense man who performed for Newark last season. Halderson is a sturdy jolt dispenser who played with Frederickson in 1920 when their team, the Winnipeg Falcons, won the world championship. Newark is not backing a team this season, and Halderson is a free agent. He communicated with the pilot of the Bucs and it was agreed that he should come here for a tryout. He is expected to report to Frederickson today.

Norman Pridham, Oliver Redpath and Owen Ahearn, minor leaguers who recently were given a tryout by the Pirates, all have departed for other clubs. Pridham has been sent to Toronto under a "subject to recall" agreement. Redpath, ruled the property of the Victoria Coast League Club, has been returned to that organization, and Ahearn has been sent to the St. Francis team in Montreal.

ANGLING FOR BARTON

Frederickson has not abandoned efforts to get Right Wingman Cliff Barton from the Port Arthur amateur champs. Jarvis, the Pirates' "find," recommends his former teammate highly, and the local pilot expects to have him in the Pittsburgh fold within a few days.

Benny Leonard, owner of the club, will watch his charges in their drill this afternoon. The retired undefeated lightweight boxing champion arrived here from New York this morning, and he and the members of the Pirate squad will be honor guests at a "Benny Leonard Night" celebration at the Y. M. & W. H. A. this evening.

Garry Schmeelk, new secretary of the pirates, gave Benny a load of good cheer today when he told him that the advance ticket sale was brisk and that the opening-night crowd probably would be one of capacity proportions.

Buckeye Back Has Yet to Score Touchdown

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Wesley Fesler, Ohio State's fine end and all-America candidate, has the distinction of being his team's leading scorer, thanks to his sensational 99-yard run for a touchdown last Saturday against Northwestern after recovering a "flying fumble."

Fesler has scored two touchdowns altogether and Dick Larkins, tackle, another to give the line half of the Buckeye total for the season. It is unique that no Ohio back has crossed an opposing goal line or scored a point since the opening game of the season with Wittenberg. Fred Barratt, the big center, does what kicking is possible for the extra points.

SKIBO ELEVEN MAY UPSET DOPE

By JESS CARVER.

For the past two weeks, or ever since it became apparent that Pitt was going to be undefeated by the time it met Tech, and that the Tartans were fixed to enter the game with only one setback and one tie marring their record, I have been swamped with goofy queries relative to the number of points I think Pitt will beat Carnegie.

John Karcis

Giving points on football games between elevens any where near evenly matched is a short cut to sleeping in the streets. It is almost as quick as trying to fill straights in the middle.

In the first place, I wouldn't tell you if I did know, for I'd be out hunting for sucker bets and wouldn't have to pound a typewriter and put up with temperamental football coaches for a living. In the second place no one knows, not even the rival coaches themselves, nor the players, nor the officials—no, not even Joe Dascher, and he knows plenty.

TOO MANY ANGLES

There are so many angles to be considered in doping out a game between such teams as Pitt and Tech, with their rivalry, tradition and all that sort of thing, that a fella'd go nutty (or nuttier) trying to figure 'em all.

At that, I'm not so sure Pitt will beat Carnegie at all. Neither are some of the Pitt folks, and certainly none of the Tartans. To gain a victory Saturday, Pitt must overcome the fightingest line it has hit all year—and at the same time, put the effective kibosh on an offense which, if nothing else, will be a spectacular one.

Whatever you do about betting on this ball game, don't go giving a lot of points, but if anyone offers you any, grab 'em up and grab 'em quick.

PITT LINEUP SET

Pitt's starting lineup for this game is just about set, provided, of course, that Dr. Sutherland does not trip over a rug and come up with the idea of starting reserves, a la Notre Dame. Donchess and Colling will be at the ends; Tully and MacMurdo at the tackles; Capt. DiMeolo and Ray Montgomery at the guards and Ralph Daugherty at center.

In the backfield, Baker, Uansa, Williams and Parkinson are likely to be seen hanging around about the time the kickoff occurs.

Tech's starting combination is

PROS, AMATEURS IN RING SHOWS TONIGHT

A professional and an amateur boxing show are scheduled in the Pittsburgh district tonight. The pro battles will be in Jim McGirr's McKeesport arena, while the simon-pures will hold forth at the Y. M. H. A., where Benny Leonard and the members of the Pittsburgh Hockey Club will be the honor guests.

Eddie Brannon, rising young Negro featherweight boxer of the Hill district, will make his first appearance as a main-bouter in the feature battle of the double windup card at McKeesport, meeting Young Corsey, of Canton, O., in the main bout, a return battle. In the other 10-rounder, George Panka, Homestead heavyweight, who knocked out Eddie O'Neill in three rounds at Motor Square Garden Monday night, makes his second start of the week, against Ray Fay, of Charleroi.

Sammy Paris, of the Hill, and Bus Hardy, of Beaver Falls, will box the six-round second bout and Allen Beatty, Negro star, of McKeesport, former main-bouter, makes his return to the ring after a layoff of several months against Luther McCarthy, of Butler, in the opener.

118-pound class—Mose Butch, Willow Club, vs. Jimmy Loiges, Duke O'Hara Club.

135-pound class—Marty Gornick, Duke O'Hara Club, vs. Eddie Hebner, Clairton A. C.

147 pound class—Max Elling, Willow Club, vs. Denver Gravely, West Newton A. C.

175-pound class—John Belasco, West Newton A. C., vs. Bearcat Ferguson, East Pittsburgh.

Heavyweight class—Sparky Ewalt, Charvis Club, McKees Rocks, vs. Tiger Griffith, Clairtoon A. C.

York Club Signs Pitcher Schessler

YORK, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—President J. H. Schmuck, of the York Club of the New York-Pennsylvania League, announced last night that he has signed Dutch Schessler, former Harrisburg right hand pitcher, to a White Rose contract for the 1930 season. Schessler won 18 and lost 10 games last season. Harisburg had released the pitcher last week and other clubs of the league had made overtures for his contract.

Irish and Trojan Field Generals In Spotlight

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The battle of quarterbacks in the Notre Dame-Southern California game at Soldier Field figures to be one of the high spots of the season. Frank Carideo is Notre Dame's cleverest pilot and best passer since Harry Stuhldreher was master-minding on the field for the Four Horsemen. The Trojans have two good men for the job in Marshall Duffield and Russell Saunders.

Duffield was second-string quarterback until the Stanford game, but promoted himself by leading the Trojans to victory over the Cardinals. He was manhandled by California, but so were most of the other Trojan ball-toters in that upset. Saunders has more drive but is not quite so elusive or resourceful as Duffield, in the opinion of Coast experts.

MASON HANDED SUSPENSION

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—James (Red) Mason, manager of a group of Pittsburgh fighters, yesterday was suspended for 30 days by State Athletic Commission for coaching during a bout. The commission announced the following suspensions for violation of the rules:

Romeo Pacelli, boxer, New Castle, Pa., until he honors a contract with the Jolley A. C., New Castle.

James Mason, manager, Pittsburgh, 30 days for coaching during a fight.

Paris Cangey boxer, New Castle, until he turns over weight forfeit to Boxer "Phillips."

Eddie Reed, boxer, Philadelphia, indefinite, for unsatisfactory services at the Arena, Philadelphia, November 11.

Pete Rivers, boxer, Florida, indefinite, for failure to appear at the Philadelphia Arena, November 11.

Benny Tressito, boxer, Newark, N. J., indefinite, for failure to appear at the Philadelphia Arena, November 11.

Major League Flag Races Open April 15

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—The major league pennant races in 1930 will get under way on April 15 with the closing date still to be selected, according to announcement served the clubowners. Definite action will be taken at the joint meeting of the major league owners in New York December 13.

ANOTHER ZIVIC, FRITZIE, IN RING

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Another Zivic is about to make his debut in the boxing game.

First there were Pete and Jack, both of whom became main-bout stars, and then Joe, who sparred around with his brothers, but did not enter seriously into the game.

Jack Zivic

Now comes a new Zivic—little Fritzie, who is the image of his famous fighting brothers and will make his public bow as a member of the Willow Club team in the amateur show with Al Sand's Uniontown aggregation of stars at the Keystone Athletic Club Friday night of next week. Fritzie has been working out under the tutelage of Jack Metz, of the Willow Club, who also started out Brothers Pete and Jack and believes the youngster will go far in the game. Jack Zivic also foresees a bright future for Fritzie.

"Right now, he has a better left hook than I had when I knocked out Lew Tendler," is Jack's boost for the "kid brother." And that, incidentally, was some left hook.

Jack, by the way, is far from through as a ring contestant. He has been training daily and is in fine condition again. He saw Farmer Joe Cooper grab that decision over Buck McTiernan at Motor Square Garden last Monday night and came down to the ringside and said he'd like to take on the Farmer.

"He's a tough baby, and a rough one," Jack said. "Well, so am I. Put us in there together and it will be a fight worth seeing. You'll find out just how rough and tough Cooper is before I'm through with him."

GARDEN PRELIMS BOOKED

Matchmaker Jules Beck last night closed for the two preliminaries of his show in Motor Square Garden next Monday night, signing Frank Monroe, of Fair Haven, to box Fortune Evans, Coast Negro middleweight, who is here as a sparring partner of Young Jack Thompson, who meets Billy White, of Jersey City, in the 10-round main bout, and also Anthony Andrucci, of the East End, to oppose Homer Reese, of the East End, as a light-

Toporcer Banned For Year For Inciting Riot

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—George Toporcer, star second baseman of the Rochester club, of the International League, and a former St. Louis Cardinal, stands suspended from organized baseball for one year, under an order issued by Mike H. Sexton, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, made public here yesterday.

The order suspends Toporcer and fines Manager Billy Southworth, of the Rochester club, $500 for "creating a mob scene" in the final contests of the Little World Series between Rochester and Kansas City, of the American Association, at Rochester, October 13.

The suspension, dating from December 1, 1929, comes under a regulation adopted by the National Association, June 11, 1927, and sent by Commissioner Landis to all major and minor league clubs, umpires, managers, coaches and players.

OWNER BACKS TOPORCER

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Warren C. Giles, president of the Rochester Red Wings, International League champions, will fight the National Association in its decision to suspend Second Baseman George Toporcer for one year and to fine Manager Billy Southworth $500 for trouble created during the ninth and final game of the Junior world series played here October 13 between the Red Wings and Kansas City Blues of the American Association.

Giles, over the long distance telephone from Columbus, where he is visiting Manager Southworth, said "if what I have read in the newspapers is true I believe it the most absurd and unjust penalty I've ever heard of since I've been in baseball. Toporcer's suspension and Southworth's fine are entirely out of proportion. I intend to back both to the limit."

He also announced that Toporcer is the property of Rochester and not of the St. Louis Cardinals.

ACCOUNTING DEMANDED OF GIANT AFFAIRS

STOCKHOLDER SUES BONDY, STONEHAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Leo J. Bondy, treasurer of the National Exhibition Company which owns and operates the New York Giants, admitted last night that he and Charles A. Stoneham, president of the club had been served with summonses demanding a court accounting of $410,000 disbursed by the club, mainly to the president, over a period of years from about 1919 to about 1926. The summonses were drawn in behalf of William F. Kenny, Brooklyn contractor, who some months ago purchased the one-tenth interest in the Giants held by Arthur E. Soden and William H. Conant of Boston, and 13 other minority stockholders.

Bondy asserted that there was no secret about the disbursement of the $410,000 to Stoneham, but that every loan to the president had been approved not only by the board of directors but also by the stockholders. A firm of certified public accountants, he said, had gone thoroughly over the club books at the time. Kenny purchased his stock and had "found everything in order."

Francis X. McQuade, a New York city magistrate, was treasurer of the club during the period covered by the disputed disbursements. Judge McQuade was not a party to the suit and did not vote his stock yesterday when all of the officers and the directorate were re-elected, but Bondy said he and Stoneham would ask the court to make the former treasurer a co-defendant.

Officials of the national exhibition company refused to comment on reports heard along the baseball rialto that Judge McQuade, who as treasurer of the club 18 months ago, had a prominent part in bringing the suit.

CUP TIES TOP SOCCER CARD

By TOM BIRKS

West Penn cup tie replays will interest soccer fans in this district on Saturday. Two games will be replayed. One will find the Gallatin Club meeting the Pierpoint Motors at the Homewood Playgrounds and the other brings a newcomer here in Crucible Steel, of Midland, which will meet the McKeesport National Tube at McKeesport.

Now that Clan Douglas got itself bumped off after appearing to be the best team in the district anything can happen, but the fans are certainly pulling for the Motors to show something in cup ties. Now that the powers-that-be have decided, fans in the district are vainly looking around for another club to fill the place of the Green and Gold. Where it will come from remains to be seen, but Pierpoints look to be the most promising team. Soccer is in a bad way locally with the passing of the Miners' League, and few clubs have any chance against the cream of Ohio and Michigan when the national ties start.

STATEMENT IS FARCE

Fans in the district certainly got a kick out of the statement why the Heidelberg club was suspended, and why the players can play any place with the exception of the Chartiers Valley League. The minutes of the last meeting at Burdine of the Chartiers Valley League would make interesting reading for the fans.

It was a most unusual way in which the matter was brought up to bar the Heidelberg players from the Chartiers Valley League games. When the new business came up, none of the managers had anything to say, until some one questioned the Cecil manager. It looks very much like as if the matter had been talked over before, but that would be something new in Western Pennsylvania soccer circles.

Now that the Douglas team is out of the cup ties it can devote its efforts toward winning the District League title. Douglas will meet the Lewis club at Swissvale, and the Union Switch and Signal outfit will meet the Pittsburgh Rovers at Leslie Park.

Only one game will be played in the American League, this will find the Harwick club traveling to the German Sport club. The passing of Heidelberg has taken all the kick out of the American League.

REFEREES TO MEET

We have received a communication from Secretary Frank Hulet, of the West Penn Valley Referees' Association asking that announcement be given to a special meeting of the referees on Saturday evening.

While the card does not give any special news it would appear that the arbiters are going to clear up a few matters that are giving them some trouble. A recent article written regarding a decision by a referee at Leslie Park was certainly ill-timed, especially when the official in question conformed to the rules of the game. But he had the courage of his convictions, and that is more than can be said of other decisions that have been made and overlooked this fall.

Paddock Wants Old Record Recognized

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Recognition of a record of almost nine years ago will be asked by Charley Paddock, erstwhile sprinter, when officials of the American Athletic Union gather at St. Louis Sunday for their annual convention.

The runner whose flying feet earned for him the name "fastest human," was enroute east today with the avowed intention of appearing before the St. Louis meeting to request his mark of 10.2 seconds for 110 yards also be accepted as the 100-meter record.

N. Y. Whist Players Win Vanderbilt Cup

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP).—A team of four players representing the New York Bridge Whist Club last night won the contract bridge tournament for the Harold S. Vanderbilt Trophy.

The team was composed of Harry Raffel, Jean Matheys, Michael Gottlieb and Lee Langdon. The Cavendish Club placed second and the Knickerbocker Whist Club third. Thirty-two of the world's best players took part in the tournament.

JOPLIN PILOT QUITS

JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Roy Corgan, manager of the Joplin Club of the Western Association, will not manage the club next season. William Fleischaker, owner, said when he announced Corgan's resignation that a successor probably will be named at the annual winter meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues next month at Chattanooga.

Gus Sonnenberg Retains Mat Title

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Gus Sonnenberg retained his heavyweight wrestling championship here last night by winning two out of three falls from Ed (Strangler) Lewis in a return match.

The champion's flying tackle was working better than in the meeting between the two here recently in which Lewis claimed Sonnenberg tackled him while his back was turned after he thought the champion had been disqualified.

Both the champion's falls last night were recorded by way of the flying tackle route. Sonnenberg missed one tackle near the end of the match and fell into the press box. He returned to the ring in 15 seconds.

weight protege of Johnny Ray, in the opening bout. Ray has had Reese under his wing for several months and promises to surprise the fans with the punching of the youngster. Tom Malco, rugged welterweight, of Soho, will be one of the principals in the eight-round semi-final.

Promoter Francis Flynn, of the Moose Temple Club, has rounded out the program for his show tomorrow night with the signing of Georgie Bretsch, of the North Side, to oppose Tommy Ward, of the South Side, in the six-round second bout, and Paul Balint, of the North Side, to meet Al Alfano, of McKees Rocks, in the opener. He has Gene Reed, of Charleroi, in with Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, in the 10-round windup and Jackie Rodgers, of the North Side, boxing Pete Mazzeo, Cleveland's Olympic Games star, in the semi-final.

Flynn puts in a good word for Billy White, who is training in his gym for his battle with Young Jack Thompson, at the Garden Monday night.

"While little is known of White's ability around here," Francis said after yesterday's workout, "he certainly looks good to me. He is nobody's setup and cracks a mean right hand. If he doesn't give Thompson all the fight Jack wants I miss my guess."

THOMPSON'S FATHER HERE

Young Jack Thompson's father, Scipio Thompson, is here with him, helping the Coast sensation, who Knocked out Joe Dundee when the latter was welterweight champion, to get in shape for his meeting with White. Also here with Thompson are Tiger Roy Williams, Negro middleweight star, formerly a sparring partner of Jack Dempsey, and Fortune Evans. The trio work out daily at Johnny Ray's gym in the East End. Thompson is stopping at Frank Sutton's hotel in Wylie avenue beginning today.

Steve Smith boxes Eddie Anderson, Eddie Shea meets Herman Silverberg and Big Sid Terris opposes Al Friedman in bouts at Kansas City tonight. Young Saylor, of Charleroi, boxes Frankie Palmo, of Cincinnati, in a 10-rounder at Clarksburg, W. Va. Frankie Moran, of Homewood, is in with Tiger Dick Clark, of Cincinnati, in the semi-final. Young Jack Gallagher and Paulie Walker box in Philadelphia.

Homer Robertson, former local Negro middleweight, has outgrown that division and now is fighting as a light-heavyweight out of Boston. His manager, Solly Snyder, would like to bring him back here for battles.

U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, and Louis Severo, of Meadville, have been matched to box the eight-round main bout at Meadville next Monday night. Nick Severo is in with Timmy Copples in the semi-final and Young Scotty Berry in one of the preliminaries.

ARRANGE TOURNEY BOUTS

Eugene Huat and Black Bill will clash in the first semi-final of the New York Athletic Commission's flyweight tournament in Madison Square Garden, Friday night of next week, in the semi-final to the Rene DeVos-Harry Ebbets battle. Midget Wolgast and Dark Cloud Bradley will meet in the other semi-final on the Ruby Goldstein-Jimmy McLarnin card in the Garden, December 13.

LOMSKI TO BOX BELANGER

DETROIT, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Charley Belanger, of Vancouver, light-heavyweight champion of Canada, will meet Lomski, of Aberdeen, Wash., here tomorrow night in a 10-round elimination bout for the title recently vacated by Tommy Loughran. Dick Dunn, manager of Olympia Arena, announced last night.

Belanger replaces George Courtney, of Oklahoma City, who was forced out of the fight with an infected toe.

Yale Okun, New York light-heavyweight, has been signed to meet the winner.

Fight Results

At Franklin—Marty Gold and Frankie (Kid) Anslem drew, 10 rounds; Herman Folins and Marshall Coquette drew, 6 rounds; Henry O'Tell and Tom McCafferty drew, 6 rounds; Elmo the Mighty and Tom Farrow drew, 6 rounds.

At Cincinnati—Tug Phillips defeated Billy Rose, 10 rounds.

At Oakland, Cal.—Del Kennedy defeated Wilson Yarbo, 10 rounds.

At Sioux City, Ia.—George Schaefer defeated Ray Hiatt, 6 rounds.

At Benton Harbor—Johnny Hoekstra defeated Lee Meredith, 10 rounds; Jack Kellar defeated Johnny McCoy, 8 rounds.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Mike McTigue knocked out Emmet Curtice, 5 rounds.

OPEN TENNIS TOURNEYS NOW POSSIBILITY

AMERICAN BODY FAVORS MIXED COMPETITION

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(A.P.)—Tennis produced an off-season sensation yesterday in the shape of definite action by the United States Lawn Tennis Association favor of open competition between amateurs and professionals.

If the unprecedented proposal tabled to the International Lawn Tennis Federation in Paris by the U. S. L. T. A. is accepted, the way will be open no later than next year for such epic matches, now impossible, as Helen Wills vs. Suzanne Lenglen, Karel Kozeluh vs. Bill Tilden and Henri Cochet or Rene LaCoste vs. Vincent Richards. The barriers that have so long existed between the paid and unpaid performers will be leveled at a blow and all-star open tournaments like those in golf will be in order.

In perhaps the most significant development in tennis since the game expanded and spread from the private lawns of the wealthy into the public parks and the international arena, the United States has unhesitatingly taken the lead.

IMMEDIATE CHANGE

If accepted by a two-thirds vote at the annual meeting of the Federation in Paris on or about March 15, 1930, the proposed change will become effective immediately.

Simply worded, the amendment recommended by the executive committee of the U. S. L. T. A., would change the amateur code of the game to permit each national association to sanction competition between amateurs and pros by giving written permission.

Under the present constitution of the Federation, an amateur tennis player is specifically and unqualifiedly prohibited from "knowingly playing for a prize with or against any person other than an amateur."

The proposed amendment calls for elimination of this sentence and the substitution of a clause providing that the amateur shall be prohibited from "playing a match or demonstrating the game or competing in a tournament either for a prize or otherwise, with or against any person other than an amateur, without the written permission of the governing body of his national association."

LOCAL OPTION

This would make possible a kind of "local option" under which various member nations might permit or prevent open competition within their borders, whichever they might see fit.

In announcing its action, the U. S. L. T. A., pointed out that there has been "increasing agitation for the holding of an open championship" since the formation of the Professional Lawn Tennis Association of the United States in which Vincent Richards, George Agutter and other famous players and teachers are enrolled.

As to when and where such a tournament would be held in this country, the association did not commit itself, but in an editorial in its official publication "Tennis" which announced the action, it was predicted on behalf of the U. S. L. T. A., that the "time is not far off when amateur and professional will be able to meet in competitive play in the United States in a well-organized and efficiently-run open tournament."

SETS DATE

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—A joint meeting of the major leagues and their constituent clubs will be held Thursday, Dec. 12, in New York, it was announced here by Commissioner K. M. Landis.

PHILLIPS WINS

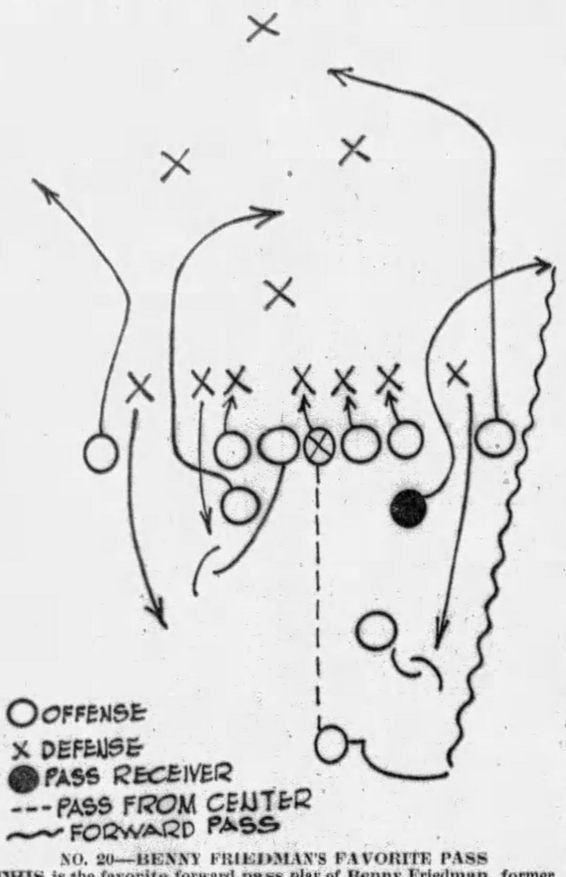
CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Tug Phillips, Erie, Pa., won the decision over Billy Rose, Cincinnati junior welterweight, in a 10-round match here last night. Jack Dempsey refereed.

Football Strategy

By Howard Harpster

All-America Quarterback, 1928
Now Coach at Shady Side Academy

(Note.—Harpster, as the quarterback of the Carnegie Tech eleven last fall, gained national recognition as one of the most brilliant leaders of all time in the football realm. Experts hailed him as "the player with the mind of a coach." He captained the All-East team that defeated the All-West team in California at the end of the season and was generally picked as captain of the mythical all-America selections.)



NO. 20—BENNY FRIEDMAN'S FAVORITE PASS

THIS is the favorite forward pass play of Benny Friedman, former Michigan quarterback star, now a professional football satellite. Friedman is one of the greatest passers the game has produced and when he says this is one of the best forward passes in the book it must be, for he speaks with authority on the subject. He was an all-America performer.

M'GRAW REPAYS STARS OF '21 FLAG RACE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Sentiment may have been deep in John McGraw's decision to bring Dave Bancroft and Irish Meusel back to the Giants. The New York chieftain has a marked appreciation of the fact that the little shortstop and big outfielder gave the Giants of 1921 an impetus that climaxed with the winning of four consecutive flags.

The Pirates of that momentous year will hardly thrill with the same pleasant emotions sensed by McGraw, for the Freebooters were thought to have had the pennant on the ice when one of the biggest upsets in the history of the league occurred.

HUSTLE HELPED BUCS

The Buccos of 1921 were hardly a championship outfit, yet they rode the crest nearly all year. Good teamwork and hustle kept a mediocre club on top. The Giants meantime were playing in-and-out ball, but the crafty McGraw had something up his sleeve.

At that time it was permissible to make trades and deals within the league as late as August 15. Early in August the Pirates went to the Polo Grounds with a lead of seven and one-half games. Moreover, they were given reports to the effect that the runnerup Giants were demoralized.

The Giants were anything but demoralized. McGraw had just succeeded in putting over a deal with the questionable Quaker management. The Philly directors allowed Bancroft and Meusel, the two big stars of the Baker outfit, to move from the lowly Quakers to the Giants. That wasn't cricket—in other words, bad sportsmanship.

Here was a deal which the National League hardly can be proud about even if the existing laws did permit deals up to August 15. Every member of that Pittsburgh club feels that the unfair transaction helped to deprive them of the flag.

Bancroft and Meusel had been with the Giants only a few days before the Pirates reached New York for what is now a historic series. There is one report that McGraw took his revamped team into a huddle before the series opened. He is credited with having made just the right sort of a speech—one of those "nothing-to-lose, everything-to-gain," talks.

WON FIVE IN ROW

Bancroft's wonderful fielding in that series was almost enough to discourage any batter, while Meusel seemed to knock in a run every time he came to the plate. The result was five straight victories for the Giants, and George Gibson had a demoralized club on his hands.

The Giants won the flag and then trounced the Yankees in the world series. They won the double honor again in 1922 and repeated with two more flags although they dropped banner events to the Yankees and Senators.

The powers of baseball took some note of the shady deal which sent Bancroft and Meusel to the Giants in time of stress, but no effort was made to stop it at the time. A few more of these bad transactions and the officials made an apologetic gesture by advancing the deadline on deals to June 15.

Duke Grid Team In Favor of Night Game

A poll of Duquesne University football players to ascertain the reactions of the gridders to night football revealed that the players are unanimously in favor of the night game. The Duke gridders stated that as far as they were concerned it was no different from the day form of the sport.

Capt. Buff Donnelli, ambidextrous kicker and triple threat Duke back, summed up the ideas of his comrades in the following expression:

"After the kick-off I completely forgot that we were not playing a daylight game. When it was first announced that we would play Geneva at night most of us were afraid that the powerful lights might affect our eyes. We soon changed our minds when we trotted out for the first practise under the lights on the night before the game. I was not in uniform at the time and thus found it possible to watch the others better. The next evening when I got in the game myself, I was in favor of night football. There were no shadows and the lights did not bother us at all."

YALE TO START ALBIE BOOTH

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Most eastern elevens face light work and a tapering-off drill for the traditional games which dot Saturday's card. Almost all finished their hard work for the week in yesterday's rain.

Coach Stevens, of Yale, expects to fistart Albie Booth against Princeton, a departure from the season-long policy of withholding the star for a climax effort. Princeton has been trying to develop a defense against Booth.

Cornell is ready to depart for Hanover, N. H., to meet Dartmouth.

Columbia is unable to muster full strength for the visit of Pennsylvania.

A Holy Cross eleven is primed to give Harvard a lot of trouble. Holy Cross can shoot the works, but Harvard must hoard its resources for its game against Yale.

Pittsburgh has been hitting a hard pace in practice this week for a game against a Carnegie Tech team which held Notre Dame to a single touchdown.

Penn State has finished its hardest work yesterday for its homecoming game against Bucknell at State College, Pa.

Georgetown is prepared to entertain West Virginia.

Missouri remains a favorite for the game with New York University.

W. VA. '30 CARD INCLUDES PITT, DUQUESNE

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 14.—West Virginia University will meet Pitt in Morgantown and Duquesne University in Pittsburgh in football next fall, according to a virtually completed schedule, announced by the Mountaineer officials today

The Mountaineers met Pitt in Pittsburgh and the Dukes in Morgantown this season, losing to the Panthers and tying with the Dukes. The games arranged for 1930 follow:

September 20—Duquesne University, at Pittsburgh.
September 27—Wesleyan College, at Morgantown.
October 4—University of Pittsburgh, at Morgantown.
October 11—Washington & Lee, at Charleston.
October 18—Yet to be filled.
October 25—Georgetown University, at Washington.
November 1—Fordham University, at New York.
November 8—Kansas Aggies, at Morgantown.
November 15—Permanently open.
November 22—Wash. & Jeff., at Morgantown.
November 27—Oregon Aggies, at Soldier Field, Chicago.

BALDWIN LAID TO REST

Dr. Mark E. Baldwin, former major league baseball pitcher, who retired from the game in the late 90's, and who died Sunday in Passavant Hospital after a lingering illness, was buried yesterday in Allegheny cemetery.

Missouri Squad Off for Game With N. Y. U.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Headed for New York and their annual intersectional football game with New York University, 33 members of the University of Missouri football team and three coaches, left for the Atlantic Coast last night.

A handful of students and faculty members accompanied the team, which will arrive in New York tomorrow morning.

U. S. G. A. Officials In Parley Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—The moot question of whether associations should be permitted to pay the expenses of Lesley Cup players selected for the annual matches is scheduled to be discussed by the United States Golf Association here today.

Delegates from the three districts under the jurisdiction of the U. S. G. A. are expected to be present to present a petition requesting the association to sanction the payment of traveling expenses of players to the tournament.

Bobby Jones, a member of the executive committee of the U. S. G. A., will be among those hearing the plea.

De Paul, St. Mary's In Sunday Battle

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—De Paul University will play its second Sabbath football game of the season Sunday against St. Mary's College, of San Antonio, Tex. The game will be played at Soldier Field, with the proceeds going to a hospital building fund.

GENEVA HEADS FOR BOSTON TODAY

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 14.—Twenty-four members of the Geneva College varsity football squad in charge of Coaches Flenniken and Davies and Athletic Director A. C. Edgecombe will leave here today at 5:35 p. m. for Boston, where they will meet Boston University Saturday afternoon.

Johnny Knapik, who was taken to the Providence Hospital following Monday's game with Waynesburg, will be able to make the trip, but will not be in uniform. Knapik was hurt about the right side when tackled while carrying back a Waynesburg punt that he caught out of bounds.

Those making the trip to Boston follow:

more in doubt. On the line, Latham Flanagan, Ted Rosenzweig and Johnny English will be available for end duty. Rosenzweig is pretty certain to start. At left tackle will be Tank Highberger and either Len Schnupp or Andy Yerina at the other. Capt. Johnny Dreshar will be in there to make his all-America bid at right guard and young Don Fletcher, in improved physical condition, is a good bet to start on the other side of the line. Ducanis figures to be at center.

Bob Waddell can pick his starting backfield from among the following young men, McCurdy, Eyth, Armentrout, Slats Flanagan, John Karcis, Kerr, Joe Morbito, Carlson, Red Kennedy and Jimmy Tras. Right now, the McCurdy-Eyth-Flanagan-Karcis combination appears to have the call. Karcis has another boil, but is expected to be in there Saturday. . . very much so.

DUKES, TITANS SET

Then we come to the Duke-Westminster game, to be run off at Forbes Field tomorrow evening after the steak and onions. The Titans are here nursing their half of the Tri-State Conference football championship, which they won last year. Strangely enough, the Dukes own the other half, and are correspondingly unconcerned.

Duquesne is a top-heavy favorite for so far the Titans have shown little to indicate that they belong in the same ball park with the locals. There are two or three good football players included in the Titan lineup, but the Dukes have more reserves, a better record to date and apparently a stronger team.

In Captain Boone, center; Dick Fuller, guard, and Joe Dombrowski, tackle, Westminster boasts a crack trio of linemen. With its main strength on the line, it might be said that Westminster will play defensive football here tomorrow.

Westminster has been practicing nights at Ben Franklin Stadium, New Castle, where Phil Brillenbaugh's Ne-Ca-Hi gridders have been packing 'em in for night football this year. Dike Beede's warriors will not be entirely lost then, at Forbes Field, tomorrow.

Foxx Honored By Home Fans At Testimonial

SUDLERSVILLE, Md., Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Jimmy Foxx, Philadelphia Athletics' first baseman, was guest of honor at a banquet given last night by business men of this city, the baseball star's home town.

Illness prevented attendance of Connie Mack, manager of the world champions.

TRIMMED DOWN

Wittenberg College, Wash-Jeff's opponent for Saturday, may give the Presidents a tougher ball game than is generally expected. The Fighting Lutherans, as they are termed out in Ohio, gave Ohio State a merry tussle, and tied Ohio Wesleyan.

It was in the Ohio Wesleyan game that Stan Plummer, the Lutherans' crack halfback, returned the opening kickoff the entire length of the field for what appeared to be a touchdown, only to have the referee rule that he had stepped out of bounds. Photographs later proved the official to be wrong, but it failed to change his verdict.

West Virginia, having finished two tough assignments, with Fordham and Detroit, takes on its third Irish team in a row this week, playing Georgetown at Washington. It looks very much like another setback for the Mountaineers.

And Thiel won't find the afternoon it booked to spend Saturday fighting with Fordham anything resembling a tea party. There will be no tea, and very little party—for Thiel.

Waynesburg and Allegheny should pack 'em in at Meadville. The Allegheny followers will be anxious to get a peek at the team that beat Grove City and Geneva.

Jock Rosenberg, the hefty chap who played guard for two or three Duquesne University basketball teams not so long past and is now coach at Rankin, wishes to announce that Rankin was not defeated by Munhall last Friday, 13-7, but that the two schools tied, 7-7.

IOWA PERFECTS NEW ATTACK

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—What Purdue and Iowa have used to overcome Western Conference opponents this season is not all they have in the way of football trickery, but everything they know will go on display Saturday afternoon at Lafayette when they meet in the vital game of the Big Ten day.

After dropping its first conference game to Ohio State, Iowa speeded up and tied Illinois and conquered Wisconsin and Minnesota. The Hawkeyes, however, did not show a great variety of offensive stuff until they hit Minnesota last week. Even then Coach Burt Ingwersen's eleven did little with forward passing. All during this week, however, Ingwersen has drilled and polished an aerial offensive, held in reserve for just such a test as the Purdue game The Boilermakers, already aware of the power of the Iowa running game led by Capt. Bill Glasson and Oran Pape, probably will find themselves with added worries in the form of forward passes.

Michigan also is expected to break out a new passing game against Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday. Coach Harry Kipke has spent most of the week smoothing his passing game, and will turn it loose in an effort to take the brown jug back to Ann Arbor. Affairs at Minnesota are not so bright. Brockmeyer, halfback star, and Clarence Munn, sophomore tackle, have not recovered from injuries suffered at Iowa last week, and may not be in shape to play against Michigan.

Injuries also are all too plentiful at Illinois and Coach Bob Zuppke has indicated he will send a backfield composed of Doug Mills at quarter, and three sophomore backs against Chicago Saturday.

F. & M. to Battle Muhlenberg Eleven

LANCASTER, Pa., Nov. 14.—Franklin and Marshall meets Muhlenberg at Allentown this Saturday in a crucial Eastern Conference game, the outcome of which will have a direct bearing on the season's final title rating.

The F. & M. Possums are heading the Conference parade in front of Gettysburg by a one game margin. A setback this Saturday would prove disastrous to Coach Miller's eleven, while a victory would give the Possums an advantage that would send them into the game with Gettysburg here on Thanksgiving Day a slight favorite to cop the Eastern Conference title.

Legion to Have Drum Corps at Duke Battle

The Duquesne University-Westminster College game at Forbes Field tomorrow night promises to be a colorful spectacle from many angles.

Announcement was made today that an 82-piece drum corps from Observatory Post 81 of the American Legion will perform between halves as the guests of the university school of music.

The Westminster College band will be ready to perform, and as usual, the Duquesne University military band of 50 pieces will likewise furnish entertainment.

Net Stars Selected For Davis Cup Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(INS.)—The 1930 American Davis Cup squad will include the name of W. Barry Wood, Jr., sophomore quarterback of the Harvard football team, according to announcement today.

William T. Tilden, Francis T. Hunter, George M. Lott, John F. Hennessey, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn were among the 17 chosen tentatively for the Davis Cup squad, while Helen Wills, Helen Jacobs and Edith Cross were among the women chosen to represent America in next year's international tennis play.

Handball League Contest Sunday

The second game of the City Club Handball League tournament is to be played Sunday morning, beginning at 11 o'clock, when the P. A. A. team meets the K. A. C. team on the latter's court. The tournament opened last night with the Y. M. H. A. meeting the Downtown Y. on the latter's court.

The following clubs are entered in the league: Downtown Y., K. A. C., P. A. A. and the Y. M. H. A.

Rodgers May Change Mountaineer Lineup

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 14.—Experimentation with a light, but speedy backfield combination, was the chief feature of the workout of the West Virginia University Mountaineers under the direction of Head Coach Ira Rodgers in the mud last night. The state head improved interference work of the line.

Jack Sebulsky, Johnny Doyle and Bill Lively, along with Eddie Stumpp, the four lightest men on the Mountaineer squad, may be fitted into the backfield with Captain (Little Sleepy) Glenn, with the possibility that Bus Larue and Eddie Bartrug in particular may watch the Georgetown game from the bench.

Several new plays have been worked out this week and the varsity head coach is still seeking the most capable executors.

Hagen on Coast For Winter Golf

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Walter Hagen, British open golf champion, today started his campaign to win back the national professional title which he lost last season to Leo Diegel.

The first of the eastern players to arrive for the winter tournament season, Hagen came here yesterday and immediately set about to start training for the Professional Golf Association tourney to be held over the Hill Crest Country Club course December 2 to 7.

In addition to the P. G. A. event, The Haig announced intentions of competing in the Los Angeles, Berkeley, Agua Caliente, Catalina and possibly the Long Beach open events. He will leave early in February with Joe Kirkwood for an exhibition tour of New Zealand and Australia.

Morgan and Mack To Box Third Time

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Jack Doyle, promoter, has signed Tod Morgan, Los Angeles, junior lightweight champion, for a nontitle bout here November 23, with Eddie Mack, of France.

It will be the third meeting between the champion and the youth from St. Regis College. Mack won the first bout, but the second ended in a draw. Doyle also announced that he had signed K. O. Christner, Akron (O.) heavyweight, to meet Les Kennedy, of Long Beach, Cal., here December 3.

CUBS' STOCK CLIMBS

The Cubs, valued at $5,000,000 000, William Wrigley has more today, were sold to Charles W. Murphy in 1906 for the price of $105,- than $6,000,000 invested in baseball in Chicago and Los Angeles.

Long's Sport Comment

HOCKEY steps in tonight. All of the 10 teams in the National League except Pittsburgh and the New York Americans are scheduled to play their first championship games of the 1929-30 season. The Pirates and Americans will defer their inaugurals until Saturday night.

There has been a wholesale shakeup in the managerial ranks since the close of last season, and exactly half of the 10 clubs will start out under new pilots. Among the old skippers missing is Odie Cleghorn, of the Bucs, who has passed out with Tommy Gorman, of the Americans; Eddie Gerard, of the Montreal Maroons; Herb Gardiner, of Chicago, and Dave Gill, of Ottawa.

Odie Cleghorn

THE five new skippers starting the season are Frankie Frederickson of Pittsburgh; Lionel Conacher, of the Americans; Jerry Laflamme, former referee, of Montreal; Tom Shaughnessy, former Notre Dame football player and hockey coach, of Chicago, and Newsy Lalonde, of Ottawa. Of last winter's unseated leaders, Cleghorn is now a referee, Gardiner is managing the Philadelphia Arrows in the Canadian-American League, Gill is business manager of the Maroons, and Gorman and Gerard have hooked up with some horse-racing interests operating at the winter tracks.

EVENING [New York Produce] SUN-TELEGRAPH [Boston Mining Stocks.] MARKETS

OPPORTUNITIES IN STOCKS FOR COOL HEADED

Prudent Investors Buy For Cash at Bargain Prices and Hold for Rise

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The speculative public, which during the period of financial whoopee followed the counsel of avarice, has turned to the counsel of fear.

Accordingly, the stock ticker has once more been registering emotion, rather than reason. After the boom, stocks began to sell ex-delusions. Then stocks began to reflect an entirely new set of delusions—this time delusions of dire things which are as ridiculous as the fantastic delusions of excessive optimism which before the autumn caused stocks to capitalize earnings at a far more exaggerated rate than past experience had deemed prudent.

Thus, the pendulum of sentiment swings to extremes. But facts will not be permanently ignored. Out of the misfortunes of the many are created golden opportunities for the cool headed few. Prudent investors who have taken the view that some of the high grade stocks are virtually gifts at recent low levels, have been confining their commitments to outright purchase for cash. They have been reluctant to go into debt, and subject themselves to even the theoretical possibility of having to join the procession of necessit us sellers.

FOOLISH TO SELL

An independent financier, who has weathered numerous panics, expressed the opinion privately that any one is foolish to sell meritorious stocks at these levels unless he has to. He further expressed the view that voluntary selling at prevailing levels by those out of debt was evidence of temporary madness. Though unable to predict how far the fear waves would go before exhausting themselves, he expressed the view that it would be unwise to sell stocks short at these levels. Going one step further, he added that the public this time would learn to sell short, and would in all probability incur huge losses on the short side by selling short at or near the climax of pessimism, instead of at the climax of optimism. He described the weakness of speculative price structure to an inadequate short interest in the market some weeks ago. He was under the impression that the short interest this week was substantially larger.

One wealthy individual instructed a sagacious broker to invest a fund of $300,000 in selected stocks and bonds this week. He intends to put the securities in his safe deposit box and hold them possibly for several years. It is his expectation to take them out again and offer them for sale when and if the public has reverted to an optimistic frame of mind.

The objective observer should remember that the street has been through the reverse end of an over-extended bull market. There was an internal speculative collapse. This market is likely to be less a forecaster of, rather a cause of, some recession in business. When and if there is some visibly adverse business news, the market doubtless will be discounting the next period of recovery.

Premier stocks have been slaughtered by necessitous sellers. In some instances, they have been selling at close to the cash in corporate treasuries. In numerous others, they have been selling below a reasonable liquidating value, without making any allowance for earning power, good management or American business genius.

PROFITS LARGE

The anomaly lies in the fact that these very corporations are completing fiscal years of unprecedentedly large profits. As a matter of fact, the interest and dividend disbursements to American investors on January 1 will in all probability reach record breaking proportions, incidentally releasing huge quantities of capital for reinvestment. There will be substantial disbursements tomorrow and on December 15.

The speculative collapse paves the way after the hysteria has died down for a further revival in the bond market. This will lead to a quickening of public improvements all over the world, and such activity should help to offset recesssions ascribable to private speculative losses and diminished confidence.

Numerous American corporations are in superb financial condition to weather any contingencies. They have not only reduced their ratio of indebtedness to bondholders and the banks, but also have unprecedentedly large reserves of cash on hand.

It has been remarked that John D. doubtless shows a paper loss on some of his recent stock purchases. Be that as it may, I feel confident that when he sells he will sell out at a profit.

In these critical times, Wall Street is without a leader comparable in authority and prestige to the late J. Pierpont Morgan.

Further Reductions in Oil Output Expected

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

FURTHER curtailment in the production of crude oil is expected to appear in the next weekly statement of production. This prediction is based on the fact that the drastic pro-ration measures taken in California have pulled the output down to 650,000 barrels a day, which was not fully reflected in the statement for the week ended November 9, when that state brought an average of 706,000 barrels to the surface.

Measures being taken in other districts may also have a further effect on the averages. Last week a reduction of 44,200 barrels was shown in the Oklahoma production.

The net drop of 188,250 barrels in the average daily output of all districts as reported by the American Petroleum Institute has been interpreted as the most favorable news development of the week in financial circles. It was the largest decline as compared to a preceding week aver recorded in the Institute figures. California, with a decrease of 153,000 barrels, accounted for the greater part of the cut.

Stability for Industry

FOR three years the oil industry has had overproduction as either an actual or a potential menace to its price structure. An unprecedented development of new producing areas made far more crude oil available than was warranted by market conditions. Persistent efforts by leaders in the industry accomplished a fair degree of stability a year ago, but back of all considerations in the oil trade has been the possibility that the delicate balance between supply and demand would again be upset. The danger of breaks in prices below current levels has been a constant menace.

Pro-ration has been partially effective in the past, but the results of last week show that really worthwhile progress has been made and that the situation in the oil industry is now in better control than at any time for three years. Not only has California fallen into line, but other districts as well.

California Gas Law

THE new California law prohibiting the wastage of natural gas has been an important influence in bringing the producers into line behind a definite pro-ration movement. In the past the rush to get out the oil before some one on the next lease drained it all away resulted in enormous quantities of gas being utterly lost. The law demands that gas brought to the surface with the oil must be put to use or else pumped back into the ground. The impossibility of finding ready markets for all of the gas is having the expected result of reducing the amount of oil produced.

California is not yet satisfied with the progress made in saving her natural resources. Suits have been brought against operators in several fields, demanding conservation of gas in more strict conformity to the law. The attorney general for the state has estimated that 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas are being wasted daily.

Oil Stocks Watched

THE improvement in the statistical position of the oil industry has resulted in the turning of much attention to the possibilities of the oil stocks when the current condition of fright in the stock market settles down. The oil trade is not going from a period of exceptional prosperity to one of uncertainty as are many other industries. Rather it is emerging from a period beset with dangers into one of greater stability.

The bid of 50 for 1,000,000 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey made by J. H. Holmes & Co. shortly before the close yesterday will undoubtedly be followed by further examination of the prospects for the oils.

No. American Light's Position Improved

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Clement Studebaker, Jr., president of the North American Light and Power Company, has informed the stockholders that the year 1929 promises to set a new high record for the company. Aside from a very substantial growth of electric power and light and artifical gas business, which provides about 80 per cent of net earnings, it is expected that certain other developments will result in marked improvement in the company's strong position.

Southern Railway Plans New Financing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Southern Railway has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to issue $3,690,000 of 4½ per cent equipment trust certificates, series "CC" to partially finance new rolling stock costing $4,640,000.

Equipment to be purchased includes 1,500 coal cars, which Pressed Steel Car Company will build, and 1,000 auto-furniture box cars, to be built by American Car and Foundry Company.

THE THEORY that a well-diversified list of common stocks is a satisfactory medium of investment has at last been tested in a stock market panic. The theory has stood the test. Even at the lowest prices prevailing, most investors, as distinguished from speculators holding stocks on margin, could have liquidated at substantial profits if they had been holding stocks for much over a year.

No investor had his income reduced a penny by the market break. In fact, income is increasing, as instanced by the extra dividend declaration of several representative American companies.

Although market prices have recovered sharply from their recent low levels, there are, nevertheless, still many investment opportunities in sound common stocks giving satisfactory yields. Many of these issues should prove attractive and ultimately profitable to investors who contemplate holding them for an extended period.

Federal Light to Issue Debentures

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—A special meeting of stockholders of the Federal Light and Traction Company has been called to vote on a proposal to issue $5,000,000 of convertible debentures. If the proposal is approved, it is expected that $3,000,000 of the issue will be offered immediately to reimburse the treasury for expenditures made in connection with the company's expansion.

New Construction Increases in Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—New construction contracted for in the 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains from November 1 to November 8 amounted to $99,925,000, compared with $93,644,400 for the previous week and with $133,545,600 in the corresponding period of last year, F. W. Dodge Corporation reports.

ESSO The GIANT POWER FUEL

Like adding 2 more cylinders to your motor

On the steepest hills you get the full effect of ESSO. A swelling flood of power sweeps you upward, smoothly, quietly—without a shift. Where all your motor's power is needed, ESSO is like adding two more cylinders.

ESSO is not an experiment. Not just another one of those "high test" gasolines. It is a special fuel made to eliminate knocks—to give a greater degree of motor flexibility—more power, extra satisfaction. It has proved its mettle. Its popularity is widespread in neighboring states. Now it has come to Pennsylvania. Sold from the silver ESSO pumps with the ESSO globes.

MARKET HOLDS SHARP GAINS TO CLOSE

Tax Cut Announcement, Large Bids and Quiz on Shorts Cause Upturns

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A sharp and sustained rally in stock prices took place in today's stock market.

The sudden reversal in sentiment, after nearly a week of destructive liquidation, was attributed to the announcement of a proposed cut in federal income taxes, the appearance of large bids for leading stocks and the stock exchange questionnaire to determine the source of recent short selling.

BIG BLOCKS SOLD

The market bounded upward from the start, as blocks of 5,000 to 20,000 shares changed hands, and the initial gains were generally extended as the session progressed. A few weak spots cropped out here and there, as belated distress liquidation made its appearance.

Trading started at a terrific pace, but quieted later, although the ticker was running about an hour behind the market at the close.

BRAINARD FIRM ADDS TO PLANT

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 14.—The J. W. Brainard Steel Company, Warren, has announced a program of expansion involving expenditure of $300,000. Two new factory buildings and an office building are to be erected.

The company is now controlled by E. T. Sproull and associates. The former was at one time sales manager of the Trumbull Steel Company, Warren, and later vice president of the National Association of Flat Rolled Steel Manufacturers, Cleveland.

Brainard Steel Company manufactures galvanized strip steel, cold rolled strips barrel hoops, box strapping and car loading apparatus. An annealing department has been added, and will begin operations December 1.

North American Co. Won't Extend Rights

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Officials and directors of North American Company, after carefully considering the question of extending rights to subscribe to common stock offered on September 24, and expiring November 15, 1929, have decided not to make any extension of the rights.

The company offered stockholders right to subscribe at $100 a share for each new common stock in ratio of one share for each 10 shares held on September 24. Closing price of common stock on September 24 was 168, having rights worth slightly over $6 each at that time. Closing price of North American common yesterday was 69.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Higher prices for wheat here went hand in hand early today with stock market gains and with upturns in wheat quotations at Liverpool. Word of fairly good sized export business in North American wheat tended also to lift wheat values. Opening at ½c to 1½c advance, Chicago wheat later held near to the initial figures. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise stronger, with corn starting ½c to 1c up, and continuing firm.

Assisting an upward trend which made itself decidedly manifest at times in the wheat market today were advices that foreigners buying wheat at the Gulf of Mexico were paying seven cents a bushel higher prices relative to future deliveries than was the case three weeks ago. There were also signs that pressure of Argentine wheat offerings abroad was lessening. Uncertainty of Argentine crop prospects and irregularity of growth, together with reports of adverse weather conditions where the Argentine harvest is approaching, were further subjects of attention.

Over and above other factors giving strength to wheat values today, however, was rallying power shown by the stock market. Frequently, would-be purchasers of wheat future deliveries here found comparatively little for sale at the moment. Furthermore, some frien moment. Furthermore, some friends of higher prices for wheat were laying special stress today on statements current that decreases now in the United States visible supply will be difficult to replenish, inasmuch as farmers are carrying the smallest amount of wheat in many years.

LOCAL MARKET MOVEMENTS NARROW

Securities Here Display Steady Tone While N. Y. Stocks Stage Recovery

The long overdue rally in the New York market had but little influence on prices on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange in the early trading today, being reflected merely in a steady opening in some of the stocks which had been under the heaviest pressure.

As a general rule the changes noted during the first hour here were of fractional scope and there did not appear to be much disposition to take on large lines of the active issues.

The rather indifferent market tone locally was porbably due to the fact that buying power has been pretty well thinned out. Reaccumulation of long lines following the break two weeks ago required additional margin strengthening in the intervening period and observers of the market say that many traders have been pressed severely to prevent substantial losses in the stocks then secured at what looked line bargain figures. The subsequent declines, entirely unlooked for, put a new complexion on the general market situation, one result of which was the necessity of supplying additional cash or collateral out of supplies already depleted by the first crash.

Owen D. Young Calls Selling Nonsensical

—By B. C. FORBES—

OWEN D. YOUNG, who has come to be recognized as possessing one of the greatest brains the United States has ever produced, and whose counsel has been assiduously sought by New York's bix six bankers, in a talk last evening with the writer—the first he has given since the panic broke loose—said:

"Those who voluntarily sell stocks at current prices are extremely foolish.

"Our banking position is extraordinarily strong. Our general financial conditions never were sounder. Industry, not burdened by excessive inventories, is in excellent shape physically and financially. General business has been prosperous.

"Of course if the frenzy in the stock market should be carried much further it will inevitably injure business. But there is no reason in the world why it should be carried further. It has already been carried nonsensically far."

Commodore Vanderbilt, when asked his secret for getting rich in the stock market, replied:

"I never try, when either buying or selling, to get the last eighth."

This is a timely reminder to many who are convinced that stocks are bargains at current prices but who are waiting in the hope of being able to buy at the bottom eighth.

Set this down as absolutely certain: Stocks will not always remain available at present panic prices.

THE time has come to call a halt on needless throwing over of good stocks. Obviously, much, if not most of the dumping during the earlier stages of the panic represented forced selling. Far too many refused to listen to words of caution and kept on climbing for shares at higher and still higher prices. They operated on the shallow, amateurish theory that because stocks were going up they would continue to go up and up. They were not buying for investment. They were simply gambling. They bought solely with the idea of reselling at a profit, usually a quick profit.

FORCED selling, however, by such dabblers in the market presumably was largely over before this week. It is very significant that the more recent liquidation has been most violent in the market's leading stocks, notably the highest-price varities.

This clearly suggests that the selling has come, not from Tom, Dick and Harry throughout the country, but from much more influential sources. Bluntly, it has had all the earmarks of institutional selling.

MISGUIDED little speculators had no choice in most instances; they simply were sold out because they could not furnish called-for margins. But banks which tided customers over the hysterical phase of the panic are open to condemnation when they avoidably throw high-grade investment stocks on the market at sacrifice prices during the conditions which have ruled marketwise this week. Selling from important sources has been so insistent that "new lows" have been registered by innumerable issues.

By the exercise of businesslike prudence much of this latest disastrous decline surely could have been avoided. To jettison choice investment stocks today is to sacrifice the best interests of their owners. Such action, where calmness and commonsense could have averted it, is deserving of the severest censure.

QUEER notions widely prevail concerning securities. When a housewife goes out to buy food or clothes or furniture or anything else, she tries to obtain the lowest possible prices consistent with quality. When you or I want to buy, say, a home, we take the price into consideration and are influenced to make the deal if the price be lowered.

But the lower stock prices become the less attractive they are in the eyes of most people. They tumble over themselves to buy stocks when they are dear, but run away when stocks—even the same stocks—become cheap. There were eager buyers galore of General Electric when it cost between $300 and $400 a share, equally eager buyers of American Telephone above $250 a share, of U. S. Steel above $200 a share, of Westinghouse above $200, of General Motors above $60, of Radio above $75, of Consolidated Gas above $150.

But, now that these and other stocks have dropped to half price or less in most cases, and in all cases to levels far below their maximum, the whole feverish impetus is not to buy at these distinctly more attractive prices, but to sell.

COULD anything be more foolish?

DO YOU imagine for a moment that George F. Baker or Secretary Mellon or J. P. Morgan or John D. Rockefeller or the Fisher Brothers or other men of great wealth are unloading their investment stock at these panicky quotations? You can safely assume that they are buying, not selling.

Why, even Jesse L. Livermore, noted for the fortunes he has reaped on the bear side of the market, is out with a statement that the decline has gone ridiculously far and that the profits now will be found on the buying side. He declares:

"Leading stocks, with good dividend records and a certain future, are on the bargain counter right now. Many of them have been driven down too far. People throughout the country have become panic-stricken and have thrown their sound securities over without regard to values. To my mind this situation should go no further . . . . many good stocks will be found on the exchange list which yield 8 to 10 per cent. Yet we have seen within the last few days large blocks of these securities thrown on the open market by sellers, many of whom had no other reason than that they had been gripped by fear."

FEAR never yet made any man rich.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—The entire bond list steadied today as the pressure for funds caused by stock liquidation relaxed, and investment buying gave support to high grade issues. United States government liberty bonds and treasury certificates, which yielded with other gilt edge securities in yesterday's session, turned upward and were accompanied by numerous high grade industrials, rails and utilities. Advances, however, were small.

Convertibles and other share privilege bonds made a broad recovery from the lows of Wednesday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

STEEL ORDERS HOLDING BACK

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 14.—Stock market disturbances are being reflected in the steel industry. Some important tonnage overhanging the market is being held in abeyance, say executives. The primary industry is operating at the lowest level of the year, and unless improvement sets in from the automobile industry, November production and shipments will likely be less than figures for October, which to date represent the year's low month.

Indications are current depression in the industry will likely extend well into first quarter. Some lines, however, now suffering from a seasonal reaction, will improve. Chief among these is tinplate. It is also expected sheet and strip requirements will broaden after first of the year.

Improved schedules by motor car builders will likewise be reflected in better operations of primary producers.

Underwood Cancels Block of Preferred

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Underwood-Elliott-Fisher Company on November 13 had $6,400,000 cash on hand, and has cancelled 1,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock, which it has bought in the market.

German Employment Decrease Is Noted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A steady increase in unemployment with the cessation of agricultural activities and building operations in Germany was reported to the Commerce Department today by D. P. Miller, attache at Berlin.

Miller said foreign trade had been making a favorable showing in recent months. In September, with increasing exports and decreasing imports, there was a favorable balance of trade of 166,000,000 marks.

Some slackening has become noticeable in the iron and steel industry; but the textile industry shows moderate imporvement.

Lone Star Too Low, Company Head Says

L. B. Denning, president of Lone Star Gas Corporation, in response to inquiry wired Shirley P. Austin, of C. D. Hasley & Co., as follows:

"In our judgment quoted prices on Lone Star Gas shares unjustified. The company never was in better shape in its history. The section of the U. S served by Lone Star is as prosperous as any part of the country and in better condition than other sections. The company's earning are good and recent rate adjustments insure increased earnings in the future. We see no reason why any stockholder should unnecessarily sacrifice any holdings."

Yen of the Week

I'VE developed a passion for Mulligan Stew,
An exceedingly nutritive dish that
Invades every nook, every cranny of you
And makes you summarily wish that
For breakfast, for luncheon, for afternoon tea,
For dinner, the piece de resistance
Would, purely for personal purposes, be
This marvelous boon to existence.

I gobble each morsel in insolent haste,
With the social aplomb of a peon,
Nor is there a single iota of waste
On the part of this epicurean,
Begone with your highly inferior foods!
The new and supportable view is
You cannot appreciate life and its moods
'Til you know what a Mulligan Stew is.

—Robert Newcomb.

AND THEY HANG PICTURES!

HEARD via the radio: "When the gong rings it will be one-half minute before five minutes past seven o'clock."

THE SQUELCH TERRIBLE

Eddie Cantor was at another testimonial dinner again the other evening and during the proceedings he was presented with a bust of himself. The sculptor of it, who was not invited to speak, jumped up and went into a long and monotonous discussion about himself.

After he sat down (without a hand) a wit who was bored sick yelled: "That makes two busts!"

HEHEHEH

The Girl In The Office Next Door offers this as a revue blackout or a gag for the Messrs. Clayton, Jackson and Durante:

"Do you still see that pretty chorus girl you went with last summer?"

"Aw, she's married now!"

"ANSWER MY QUESTION!!!"

BY CHANCE

COMING, I hear your voice, and go;
Going, I hear no sound, and stay;
Tracing a thought of you by night;
Losing the touch by careless day.
No words I write you ever see;
Songs that you sing me bring me fear.
How is it that in love we met,
My dear—my dear?

—Noel Pierce.

CAPSULE CRITICISM

Added to our Crisp Cracks from Critical Cusses department is the famous one by John Anderson of the N. Y. Journal, who summed up "Fallen Angels" in this manner: "It was so quiet you could have heard a play drop."

GOOD!

In the old days, and in these days, perhaps, some of the dramatic critics were bossed by the business department. If a play review affected an advertising contract the critic was handcuffed. Today, however, several of the rags never interfere with the drama defenders and remind them that they are never to be influenced by anything, except their own opinion, which is as it should be.

But what we started out to report was that a recently arrived actress was backed by several influential men about town, some of whom wrote the business departments of the papers to be sure that their critics were as nice as possible to the lady.

The lass needed no support from her influential friends. She was clever and fascinating and she enticed legitimate notices, all of them being very nice to put into a scrapbook. But the critics couldn't help her much, it appears.

The show closed Saturday.

OOP!

THOSE of us who sang at the Imperial Theater in Harlem 19 years ago with him (and Eddie Cantor) appreciate the magazine life story of George Jessel, which says in part: ". . . the nickelodeon on 116th St. displayed a billboard, which read: 'It is worth a nickel to hear Georgie Jessel sing!'"

And it still is for that matter.

IN FEWER WORDS

The only thing pre-war in the Broadway night clubs is the White Rock.

HOW EMBARRASSING!

A boy and girl appearing in "Great Day," a current musical, were That Way about each other for a spell. The gel then transferred her affections elsewhere and he took to crying jags, as who hasn't? About a month ago he noticed a huge basket of posies in front of her dressing room. He hurriedly replaced the sender's card with his own.

The closing notice for the show went up the other night, and the couple met on the stairway. She decided to mention the incident to him. "Do you know," she said, cruelly enough, "I never could understand how your card got into that basket of flowers which I sent to myself."

QUITESO, QUITESO

AND Larry Kerney argues that George Jean Nathan should be reminded that Napoleon's palindrome (a sentence that reads the same backward as forward to you), is not the oldest at all. The oldest palindrome was used by Adam, who, when he first saw Eve, delivered himself in this manner:

"Madam, I'm Adam!"

THE RETORT DANDY

Alexander Woollcott, who refers to Hannen Swaffer as the Britisher "who looks like a critic," was discussing the recent Hannen Swaffer-Lillian Foster face-slapping incident in London. Woollcott recalled the time when Noel Coward, who often acts in his shows, barred Swaffer from his premieres because the reviewer "made him nervous."

Coward, however, always invited his critic friend to the second nights. After one of these performances Swaffer came back stage to see him.

"Ah, Noel, my lad," said Hannen, sarcastically, "I've always said that you acted better than you wrote."

"Now, isn't that a coincidence," tittered Noel, "for that's just what I've always said about you."

DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

PENN. Mother's Experience shows what can be done with children

HARSH corrective measures are seldom necessary with a child! Most modern parents recognize this. That's the reason so many agree on this gentler means of putting a child in order when bad breath, coated tongue, headaches, biliousness or upsets tell of a clogged digestive tract.

When used at the first sign of bad breath or feverishness, a spoonful of California Fig Syrup often does the work! Sometimes several doses are necessary. Always you can depend on its use to clear the system harmlessly and in a hurry; to give the child a new start by regulating and strengthening the stomach and bowels.

Mothers by thousands praise the gentle effectiveness of this rich, fruity product which all children love. Mrs. Florence Rhodes, 5454 Irving St., Philadelphia, says: "Nothing I know can take the place of California Fig Syrup in my home. It has been a blessing to my little girl during colds and upset spells. It always has her right in a jiffy."

Word's like these and sales of four million bottles a year show how mothers depend on California Fig Syrup. One caution. The name "California" on the carton marks the genuine, famous for 50 years.

ITCHING ENDS WHEN ZEMO TOUCHES SKIN

—thousands say. It's wonderful the way soothing, cooling Zemo brings relief to skin which itches and burns. Even in most severe cases, itching disappears almost as soon as Zemo touches the tender and inflamed surface. To draw out local infection and help to clear away unsightly blemishes, we know of nothing better than invisible Zemo. Always keep this family antiseptic on hand. Use it freely. It's safe as can be. 35c, 60c and $1.00. All dealers.

COLONEL MAPLE DESCRIBES WILD PARTY

The Party Gets Rough

NOTE—We continue the book review of "Palaces of Sin," with Reformer Maple's description of his first glimpse of wicked society at the party of a Mrs. Middle, in Washington D. C.

"As more wine and champagne 'gurgles' down the throats of Society 'Pirates,'" observes Colonel Maple, "the more boisterous become their actions, and the greater the desire of females to display their 'socks' and the more anxious the male contingent to behold same.

"I acknowledge that I drank considerable wine and champagne; however, I did not propose to make a 'mess' of myself, therefore I took care to observe the 'Hoboes' and 'Hobosses.' About three o'clock both men and women began to waltz and continued this crazy whirl with such rapidity that the ladies' dresses would swing out so that the calves of their limbs were exposed. And yet Washington calls this 'elegant society'! At the close of each idiotic scene each would clap hands in approval. This function was not brought to a close until half-past four o'clock.

" Now, reader, this is the class that presume to set the pace for your family and mine to pattern after. The hostess reminded me of a mule's 'Grandma' as she bid me good-bye and endeavored to impress me with the idea that the party would have been a failure had I not—"

In a message read at the National Recreational Congress, President Hoover states that we need a national programme of recreation.

Some of which recreation could, no doubt, be furnished by a committee appointed to investigate it.

But considering the conditions of most people, what we really need is a programme of recreation-relief.

All in all, it seems to be not so much a problem of recreation as one of recuperation.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Head Noises, Catarrh

ROARING and hissing sounds, discharge, pains, sensitive and tender ears, and catarrh trouble. You will be surprised how quickly Aurine will help you. You may be a chronic long-time sufferer, you may have tried many things without relief, but do not give up hope before you know what Aurine can do for you. Dr. Edward Kolar, M. D., said, "Aurine helped cases I had given up as hopeless. A truly remarkable scientific remedy."

John Meredith of Canada says, "I have suffered from ear trouble for over 50 years. At times I would be stone deaf. I have only used half of your bottle of Aurine and I find it a great relief. All the head noises have gone and I can hear people talking clear. I heard the choir in our church and the organ play for the first time in 2 years. I also heard the minister read the Scripture."

Stop paying high prices for earphones, stop buying expensive treatment and enjoy the glorious relief that more than a half-million others have found in Aurine. A few drops in each ear and relief comes instantly. Mr. R. P. Maxwell, a well-known Deputy Sheriff, says, "Just started using my second bottle and am glad to state that I can now hear my watch tick. Today was the first time, this summer, I heard the church bell ring." No matter how stubborn or what your trouble is, you must try Aurine. No risk, no chance, no doubt, Aurine must do the work or cost you nothing. Our Book "How to Take Care of the Ears" sent free. Address AURINE COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

Council, Avoid Tax Boost Unless It's Imperative!

Intimation that an increase in taxation for city purposes will be one of the vexations of Council's budget-making problems was made in Council during discussion concerning a proposed street improvement involved in the Pennsylvania Railroad program. A member of Council let slip the remark that city taxes would have to be increased regardless of the outcome of the point under discussion, and another remarked "Not more than a mill and a half."

No more was said—but the cat was out of the bag. Sufficiently to indicate that there is a general understanding in Council that the millage will have to be increased. The basis for this understanding is not known, since Mayor Kline has not yet submitted department estimates to Council. It must be "in the air" that increased taxation appears unavoidable.

Nevertheless the public will look to Council to see that there is no increase—not even "a mill and a half"—unless it is absolutely compulsory. While Pittsburgh has been prosperous there has been nothing like a "boom." Our income has been ample, but not so excessive that we light our cigars with paper money. We have been doing considerable home and other building and obligations do not leave a great safety margin between income and outgo. Our fat pay envelopes face fat living expense bills even with reasonable economy.

So Council should go slowly, and no doubt will go slowly, in the matter of tax increase. The rate is pretty high as it is. In fact, many citizens have been hoping each year that Council would find a way to decrease taxes instead of increasing them. They realize, of course, that we must have police and fire protection and clean streets and other things provision of which is centralized in the city government. But they also realize that government to a large extent is politics and that political jobs take many dollars of tax money for which no adequate return is made.

If strict economy and a policy of dollar's service for a dollar in tax will not permit the maintenance of the city without an increase, of course, a raise will be necessary. But before it is granted by Council that body should be very penetrating in its scrutiny of what it is asked for.

Watch Strange Growths

Cancer Not Dangerous—At First.

The New York Life Insurance Company reports cancer deaths increasing.

Don't neglect any strange growth, however slight. And don't be afraid to see your doctor for fear that he will say you have a cancer.

If you go early enough he will take it out or kill it with radium bombardment, and you will stop worrying.

Remember that cancer CAN be cured in its early stages.

And cancer CANNOT be cured in its later stages.

Man's most dangerous enemies are invisible even through the microscope, infra-microscopic germs of disease a million times more dangerous than all the venomous reptiles and savage animals.

But man can conquer them. In Germany, for instance, an old church, lined with most beautiful carved wood, including a magnificent wooden staircase, was threatened by destruction. Tiny creatures were destroying the wood.

The church was closed air-tight, filled with a highly poisonous gas. When it is opened, after a week, the wood destroyers will be all dead, the wood safe. Three weeks later human beings will be admitted.

It would be easy with the same gas to kill all the rats on every ship before it unloads, and before the rats with their disease assortments are brought ashore. Such destruction of ship rats should be compulsory.

They Work

But It's Different Work.

Men deceive themselves easily.

King Alfonso of Spain, cheerful young monarch, left his gold cigaret box at the mouth of a coal mine in Great Britain, put on overalls, went down and said to the men, sweating at the bottom of a deep mine: "I was born a monarch not because I chose to be, but because it had to be. It is as necessary for me to work as it is for any other man. Your Prince of Wales and I are workers."

All true. The king could not help being born a king and the prince could not help being born a prince.

But there is a good deal of difference between the work that the King and the Prince do and the work done by men that go down into a mine, not once in a while, but every day when they can get work.

Many money kings and princes in America talk the "I also work hard" nonsense. They do work, but they get all they produce, and that makes a difference.

Needless Suffering

Faults in the Theater.

Bad plays and bad acting and—as Shaw contends—bad criticism comprise three things that are the matter with the theater.

There is another fault to consider. The audiences aren't as good as they ought to be.

Perhaps the most annoying pest in the audience is the person who keeps up a running comment in an undertone, thus ruining the evening for everyone within the radius of his voice.

And, of course, there is the person who defies the mood of the piece and insists on making a wise crack when it would be better manners to suffer in silence.

There is no need of an extensive tabulation of bad examples.

Let us hasten to make a constructive suggestion for 1929. Why not have audiences report for rehearsal before each performance? And then weed out the incompetents!

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Autographed Insults

DINNERS in diplomatic Washington seem to be a series of New England boiled snubs.

No diplomat is welcome unless accompanied by a gentleman.

"Bugs" Baer

The series of autographed insults is now in its second and more deadly stage.

The Van Snubbingers gave a delightful fracas in the sunken gardens of the Smithsonian Institute.

The only reason the guest of honor lasted the entire dinner was because his chair was equipped with a gyroscopic stabilizer.

The invitations sent out for the Van Snubbinger delicatessen skirmish read:

"You are cordially invited to dunk your bread in the International Consomme this evening. Bring along a ventriloquist's dummy so that you will have some one to talk to."

"We are seating you between a certified lobbyist and his sister-in-law by a previous divorce."

"This will be a dry dinner. Especially the courtesy."

"We trust that a pleasant time will be had by nobody."

"Answer this telegram. And, if possible, make it a cablegram."

We attended the delightful contest. The ladies wearing eyebrows made of the fur of Kilkenny cats.

There was no hand shaking. It's dangerous to lead with your right at a Washington dinner.

Mrs. Van Snubbinger was so delighted to see us that her bridgework blew a golden fuse, her shoulderblades opened and closed like Japanese fans and her asthma came back.

The Van Snubbinger butler contested my seat just to make me feel like one of the mob.

A very charming affair. A platter of bi-carb tablets were served with the appetizers.

The guest list read like the title page of who's hooted.

While the dinner cost the Van Snubbingers heavily they made it up on the hat-checking privilege.

A smile would have been a filibuster at this affair.

THE UNPAID DEBT

By Herbert Kaufman

IN 1919, the Interior Department conducted an inquiry with respect to the relation of turnover to illiteracy.

In response to its questionnaire, the United States Aluminum Company estimated the percentage at one-fifth of the corporation's working force; the Goodyear Rubber Company, at 30 per cent; the Fleischmann Malting Company, at 50 per cent; the Nineveh Coal and Coke Company, at 80 per cent; the Pfeister-Vogel Leather Company, at 100 per cent; the Standard Roller Bearing Company, at 200 per cent; the Baltimore Copper Smelting and Rolling Company, at 300 to 400 per cent; and the Graselli Chemical Company, at 390 per cent.

Strike an average and appreciate how CLOSELY ignorance and incompetence are related.

THE investigation disclosed 58 firms which would not employ illiterates in any department and 42 prominent concerns which refused to place unnaturalized citizens on the payroll.

And yet, in face of such figures, Congress has steadfastly neglected to deal with a situation which challenges the tradition that America symbolizes opportunity and that there is NO discrimination here.

Sheer selfishness urges us to remove the disability under which so many of our people fumble.

We the same as reduce the supply of labor when we suffer the continuance of conditions which restrict its adaptability, and SO severely limit is general service.

Even if we proceed on the basis of the inaccurate 1910 census; even if there ARE, as it claims, ONLY eight millions of this class, THAT number approaches Canada's entire population, is MORE than the whole citizenry of the South during the Rebellion, is GREATER than the combined population of Nevada, Wyoming, Delaware, Arizona, Idaho, Mississippi, Oregon and Connecticut.

THE South leads in illiteracy, but the East leads in non-English speaking.

The nation's veins are chocked with unassimilated foreign clots, which only education can dissolve and digest into America's blood stream.

The revenue loss rising out of this multitude is incalculable. The productive capacity of an illiterate is easily five dollars per week less than that of a man who can follow printed directions, express himself and maintain touch with progress through verbal contact and the informative press.

IF THESE eight million inchoate drudges are merely taught to read and write—if they simply received sufficient schooling to raise their earning power a dollar per diem, we would thereby create two billion dollars of wealth annually in excess of the PRESENT yield from such groups.

Which amount should not only take care of all Treasury interest, but support the necessary schools besides.

The federal government and the several states expend enormous sums every year to help farmers improve their crops and homes, yet 10 per cent of rural folk can't puzzle through an agricultural bulletin or farm journal, the Constitution of the United States or a prayer book, make out a tax statement or post accurate accounts.

All of which represents economic stupidity and fiscal folly, not to mention ingratitude to both mountaineer and immigrant, soldiers and sailors, whose French graves commit us to instruct and cherish their brothers in breed—and need.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THIS is about a small matter . . . putting up tomatoes.

And about the biggest matter of all. . .Life, itself.

Eda Barlupi has just taught me how to put up tomatoes, perfectly. Like all Italians, she has much wisdom about vegetables. Vegetables do not thrill Americans. We eat them because the doctor says to, or because it's the fad, but we've made no craft of their cooking. To the Italians, however, vegetables are the main diet and they have made a great art of their cooking. They study the nature of each root, pod and leaf . . .consider the different savours and textures. . .and, through generations of experiment, have determined which combination of oil and cheese, olives, garlic and herbs will best supplement the particular flavor.

And this knowledge has been handed down by the Italians as the treasured secrets of art and science are handed down in other nations. It gives tang and distinction to even the simplest table. Poor Tony Monteverde, the section hand, eats the same polenta that once delighted Julius Caesar.

All of which brings us back to Eda Barlupi, putting up tomatoes as carefully and cannily as though she were distilling some rare cordial. No hasty, slap-dash heating for her. For hours she boils them with slices of peppers until they are reduced to a thick, scarlet puree. When she is done, she sits down beaming and looks to her glowing jars. She is proud and satisfied. She has accomplished something. Sh has not just canned tomatoes. She has preserved a concentrate of the richness of deep, black, loam, hot, golden sunshine, white mountain water. She has sealed the savour and perfume and vital essence of the summer within that glass.

A small thing—but perfectly done. What richness such perfection gives to life—how it embroiders even the commonest hour!

We're apt to overlook that in our American scheme. We want to do things on the grand scale. We scramble madly for quick results, dramatic effects, large, noisy gestures. And we push aside the small opportunities contemptuously. Yet, for most of us, those small opportunities hold our hope of happiness and pride.

It is given to so few to be a Napoleon, a Rockefeller, a Bernhardt, a Barrymore.

IT IS GIVEN TO ANYONE TO PUT UP TOMATOES PERFECTLY.

And I doubt if Rockefeller ever got a bigger kick out of his first million than Eda Barlupi gets out of her rows of bright red jars.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

A WAITER has got to be good at explaining things. Why, he could lose all the reputation the house has been building up for years, just by not having an excuse handy. There was a waiter in a good hotel that got this from a customer:

"See here, what kind of a joint is this? Here's a hair in the butter, and at an expensive joint like this, where they charge a quarter for bread and butter whether you order it or not!"

"A hair, sir?" says the waiter. "Oh, I see! I beg your pardon, sir, but that is the reason we are able to charge the quarter. That's a genuine Jersey's hair, you see. No oleo in this house, sir!"

Isn't It So?

When a woman begins to notice every act of a man she has begun either to love or hate him.

The stock exchange is a place where lots of men exchange their money for experience.

The brain is like the dollar; it isn't worth much until it's put to work.

He who laughs last laughs alone.

The average man is miserable because about two-thirds of his time is spent in imagination to that end.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

IN OUR digestive tubes the food is attacked and modified by a chain of chemical workmen—substances known to the physiological chemist as enzymes—each of which makes its own adjustment, and leaves its own mark on the food.

Consider the digestion of starch. Starch molecules, as we have seen, are complexes which have to be broken up into the simpler unit called glucose. As a mouthful of bread is chewed, it is mixed with saliva and the saliva contains the first chemical operator, an enzyme known as ptyalin.

H. G. Wells.

The ptyalin begins to act on the bread at once, and, being swallowed at the same time, continues its work in the stomach. Ptyalin does not completely digest the starch molecule; it breaks it into parts which are simpler than the original molecule, but nevertheless more complicated than the final product.

On leaving the stomach, the bread is handed over to two more enzymes, amylopsin and maltase. The former works on the pieces that the ptyalin left, and breaks them into simpler structures disaccharides, each of which is the equivalent of two glucose molecules stuck together. The latter completes the process by splitting these dual structures into glucose. Thus the starch molecule is not suddenly blasted; it is pulled to pieces with precision and method in a series of graded stages. So with fat, and so with protein.

The enzymes are preeminently specialists; maltase, which specializes in the handling of disaccharides, can do nothing to intact starch molecules, and ptyalin, which performs the earlier stages, cannot carry the dissection beyond a certain point. The two have to co-operate.

The story of Mr. Everyman's breakfast may now be summarized very briefly; it is handed from enzyme to enzyme, and stage by stage it is broken up.

The first workshop, in which the dismantling is begun, is the mouth. In the mouth food is chewed, that is to say, it is broken up into smaller pieces and thoroughly mixed with saliva. The teeth reduce food to a sort of shredded pulp which is readily penetrated by the chemical substances responsible for digestion.

The purpose of mastication is two-fold. First and most important, saliva is a lubricant and its sliminess facilitates swallowing and the passage of food to the stomach. After it is swallowed, a well-chewed and therefore slippery mouthful takes about six seconds to glide from the mouth to the stomach; a hard dry object (such as a cachet of bismuth carbonate) takes about 15 minutes.

The second function of saliva is to begin the digestion of starch, which is done, as we have seen, by the ptyalin which it contains. Ideally, when mastication is finished and the bolus is swallowed, the food should be reduced to a finely grained pulp and thoroughly mixed with saliva.

Saliva is made by the salivary glands, of which there are three on each side of the face. Each gland consists of a branching tree of tubes of which the end twigs terminate blindly while the main trunk, or salivary duct, carries the saliva away from the gland to the mouth.

The end tubes are lined by thick cubical cells and it is these cells that actually make the saliva. The saliva contains a little salt, a little protein, some ptyalin and a little mucin (the substance which makes it slimy).

In manufacturing this juice the cells make special substances ptyalin and mucin, and as they separate from the blood a fluid in which the proportion of dissolved substances to water is abnormally low, therefore they do work and use up energy just as the tubule-cells of the kidney do. The salivary glands of a man may turn out as much as ten times their own weight of saliva a day.

When the food has been masticated it is swallowed by the gullet (oesophagus), a muscular tube about an inch across and 10 inches long which leads down the neck and through the thorax into the stomach.

At the back of the throat there are two other openings besides the oesophagus — the opening of the nose-passage, floored by the soft palate, and the opening of the windpipe. Swallowing is a complex act involving among other things the closure of these openings so that food cannot "go the wrong way."

During the mastication, the food is kept at the front and sides of the mouth; when about to be swallowed, it is collected in a lump on the back of the tongue.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Manhattan megaphone is rarely lifted for the army of obscure workers who somehow make the riffle. One hears only of the big shots or the failures. The little fish, swimming valiantly against the tide, are entirely forgotten.

Nowhere is the struggle to live decently and comfortably so difficult for those on small salaries. Yet they buy homes, rear families and represent the best in civic consciousness. And, more than any other class, they have made the city the populous, prosperous community it is.

There are the dwellers in little cottages on suburban fringes—store and shop clerks, bookkeepers and others of the so-called white-collar class. They average at the highest $50 a week and the showing they make is a marvelous manifestation of self-sacrifice.

The men are those whose grip on their jobs depends largely on personal appearance. Their clothes must be neat and well pressed, their linen clean and fresh and their shoes in constant shine. How they manage so well is a study in thrift.

Nearly all pay dues in some benefit lodge or insurance society. They are making small payments on homes, dress their families in good taste and often have a boy or girl at college. There are few who are not paying for an automobile or player piano.

Most of them manage to have a pleasant two weeks' outing yearly. They visit the theaters, occupying modest balcony seats, or attend the big movie productions once a week. They are seldom in debt and are chief supporters of big savings institutions.

The tinseled side of Broadway is unknown. They have never seen the glitter of a night club or so-called smart cafe. Theirs is the most regular of all attendance at church. They are the biggest part of The Great Herd and the real New Yorkers. Also the happiest.

Three of the shadiest hotels in New York are named for illustrious figures in history.

There are not many places in New York where one may buy salt rising bread, but across the bridge in Brooklyn it is on sale daily. If I know anything about food—which isn't likely to come up in Parliament—there is nothing that provides a gustatory tang like good old salt rising.

Incidentally, few streets in America have been so publicized in the theater as Brooklyn's Flatbush avenue. It is the butt of the vaudeville quipsters and all the stage Cinderellas in musical comedy come from there.

Questions

QUESTIONS coming at set of sun
When tasks are through!
What share of the good you might have done
Did you find to do?

Can you fall asleep with tranquil mind
And buoyant mood,
Knowing your words were wholly kind,
Your deeds were good?

That lad who smiled when you passed him by,
Did you smile at him?
Did you give to the beggar or did you deny
On a sudden whim?

The friend who came to you, asking aid,
Did he seek in vain?
Did you lead that youth, by the world dismayed,
Back to hope again?

These were the chances that came your way—
Some great, some small—
And a question haunts you at close of day,
Did you grasp them all?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

WHAT would be the result if some person antagonistic to you should make an effort to investigate the sort of life you are living?

Would there be some unsavory things unearthed concerning you?

You never can tell when such a person may appear.

It might surprise you to know how many persons would like to embarrass you, even to the extent of causing you to lose the high position you occupy in the estimation of the majority of those who know you.

Perhaps you think your life is your own.

You know that you have vulnerable points but it has not worried you.

None can afford to engage in doubtful practice.

You think it your own affair.

But is it?

Don't be foolish enough to hide your head in the sand like an ostrich. If you take part in unlawful or otherwise disgraceful business, you may be sure that you cannot cover it for all time.

Sooner or later the worst comes out.

What would be the result if the worst things about you should become known?
